HOOVER LINKS SAVINGS BANK AND RAIL HELP

Next Objective Reported Stabilizing Securities as Investments.

$300,000,000 FUND AS GUARANTY SEEN

Credit Pool Incorporation Today to Make Money Available Soon.

(Associated Press.)

A plan with a double purpose—to strengthen the finances of the railroads and help hundreds of small savings banks—is the next objective of President Hoover.

The President is greatly encouraged over the unity of action that has developed behind his project for improving credit conditions and now is seeking a means of stabilizing railroad bonds.

Mr. Hoover feels that the emergency $500,000,000 credit corporation will go far in restoring the normal processes of credit in those sections of the country where there has been stress.

Moreover, the President regards the demonstration of unity among the senators and representatives who attended the White House conference Tuesday night as remarkable.

It is his view that in the three-hour meeting held between the men whose views normally diverge, there was evolved what amounts to a major legislative program.

Rails and Banks Linked.

The railroad situation and that of the small banks are inextricably related. As demands for commercial loans slackened, many savings banks, particularly in the West, invested their funds in these securities. Life insurance companies followed a similar policy.

But then, railroad earnings fell off to such an extent that unless they improve materially by the end of the year, the bonds of many carriers must be removed from the list of securities which State laws make eligible for saving bank investments.

In addition, the market value of the bonds has depreciated. The banks in many instances can not dispose of them without a loss. However, they are fundamentally interested in retaining them as investments, and the prime concern now is to work out a plan for keeping the securities on the eligible list and assuring divident payments.

As the situation stands, it threatens to deprive the banks of an important avenue of investment and to take away from the roads their principal source of financing.

Freight Rate Decision Due.

Alert to this condition, the roads early in the summer applied to the Interstate Commerce Commission for a blanket increase of 15 per cent in freight rates. Extensive hearings and argument followed. The commission now has the case under advisement and may render its decision before the end of the month.

What the Government can do to improve the situation was a topic of much speculation—and disagreement—yesterday among observers here.

Since the key to the problem seems to be increased earnings, the discussions turned to the possibility of the commission's approving the advance in rates. It was pointed out, however, that, in view of the commission's quasijudicial status, the administration could hardly use its influence to bring about a decision favoring the roads.

The requested increase aroused a storm of opposition from many organizations and individuals, who contend that higher freight rates would divert traffic to motor trucks, pipe lines and waterways, instead of bolstering railroad revenues.

$300,000,000 Fund Suggested.

There was discussion, too, of the possibility of the creation of a railroad revolving fund by the Government which would, in effect, guarantee the redemption in full of railroad bonds upon maturity.

The fund would be used to make loans to roads whose condition is intrinsically sound. Adequate security would be demanded. The sum of $300,000,000 was mentioned as the size of the revolving fund.

Another avenue of approach which Mr. Hoover may be investigating is that of having State banking laws so amended that the rail bonds may remain on the eligible list. Most States now require that a road be earning one and one-half times its fixed charges before the savings banks and insurance companies can buy its bonds.

A fourth method may lie in the liberalization of the Federal Reserve

Body of German Mail Pilot Is Located in Bay

Truro, Nova Scotia, Oct. 9 (U.P.).—The body of Fritz Simon, pilot of the North German Lloyd liner Bremen's mail plane, New York, which was wrecked in Cobequid Bay en route to New York, was found floating in the bay today.

Lieut. Louis Leigh, who sighted the body from a plane, reported that it appeared Simon lived at least two days after his ship crashed, floating about the bay with the aid of a life belt and bits of wreckage. Meanwhile planes and two tugs are continuing the search for the body of Rudolph Wogenkecht, mechanic of the mail plane.

Cramton Is Removed As Boulder City 'Czar'

Former House Member Given Minor Post in Desert.

By EDWARD T. FOLLIARD.

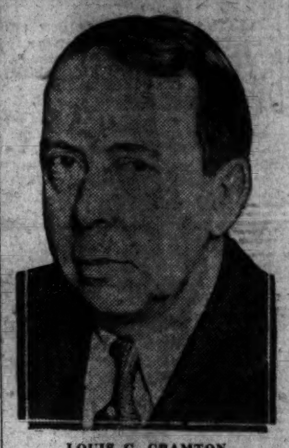

Former Representative Louis C. Cramton, of Michigan, has been removed from his post as "czar" at Boulder City, Nev., The Post learned yesterday.

Mr. Cramton, who, during his eighteen years in the House was known as the "voice" of the Anti-saloon League, was given a lame duck appointment as legal adviser to the Interior Department on Hoover Dam leases after he was defeated in the last election.

Interior Department officials and others closely associated with the work of getting the Government's great power and irrigation project on the Colorado River under way, became so annoyed with Mr. Cramton's assumed dictatorship that they protested to Washington.

As a result of these protests, Mr. Cramton was removed as legal adviser on the Hoover Dam leases and assigned to a minor investigation for the Interior Department. This assignment will take him to one of the smallest and most isolated of all the Indian reservations in the country.

Mr. Cramton left Washington two days ago determined to run for Congress again, and vowing that if he ever did get back on Capitol Hill he would punish those who interfered with him at Boulder City.

LOUIS C. CRAMTON.

He was quoted as saying that if he should come back he would make certain Interior Department officials "dance on the griddle."

Mr. Cramton, as a member of Congress, received $10,000 a year; he now receives $9,000 a year. He will receive the same salary in his new post, which will take him to a point on the

MORATORIUM NOT TO CANCEL DEBTS

Hoover to Repeat to Laval Stand That Nations Must Pay Up to Ability.

President Hoover's position on the fundamental points of intergovernmental debts was officially made known yesterday. In all conversations between him and the French Premier, M. Laval, the preliminary fact will be stressed that cancellation of foreign debts by the United States is out of the question. The attitude of the United States will be then, as it always has been, on the "capacity of the debtor to pay under normal conditions."

Last July Germany was on the brink of internal dissolution, and perhaps anarchy. Emergency measures were necessary. The President called upon the other nations to follow his lead in granting an all-around moratorium on the crushing weight of intergovernmental debts. Even at that moment, however, the underlying principle on which aid to Germany was offered, was ability of the debtor to pay his just debts.

The administration realizes that conditions may not be normal again when time to resume the debt payments comes around next year. The administration has no desire to extract any money from another nation that that nation can not pay, and it was because of the recognition that this particular set of circumstances might exist, that Mr. Hoover laid the subject before the bipartisan congressional meeting which he convened at the White House Tuesday night.

The President is known to be somewhat disturbed that this phase of the conference was the only one in which the discordant note was sounded by a few congressional figures. Mr. Hoover, however, believes that the administration's position has been sufficiently outlined in his statement of June 20, and the paragraph on the debt subject in his announcement of Tuesday night.

The President is known to be extremely well pleased at the general reactions to his proposals as outlined to members of Congress and given to the people immediately thereafter, and he has a desire that the purposes of the emergency financial program with the privately raised $500,000,000 fund for the relief of distressed banks and the proposed legislative program to augment this relief, shall be well un-

Lake Steamer Is Burned After Running Aground

Houghton, Mich., Oct. 9 (A.P.).—The steamer Charles H. Bradley, operated as a lumber carrier by the Blodgett line, of Duluth, burned to the water's edge near the entrance to Portage river after going aground early today.

Capt. August Golombisky, of Saginaw, Mich., and his crew of thirteen, after an ineffectual fight against the fire, left the steamer in yawls. The Bradley's tow, the barge Grampian, was not damaged.

UTILITY BODY RAISES PRESSURES OF GAS

Range Fixed at 3 to 8 Inches as Result of Hearing; Explanation Given.

The Public Utilities Commission late yesterday issued its expected order authorizing a gas-pressure range of 3 to 8 inches, and simultaneously gave to the press a formal explanation of its action.

This explanation stated that testimony introduced at the recent hearing indicated that low gas pressure, rather than high pressure, as was repeatedly charged, is "responsible for much trouble, annoyance, and possible danger to consumer, and is the cause of numerous complaints."

While the Washington Gas Light Co. had not formally asked for a higher pressure, it submitted several months ago documents presenting arguments and statistical data in favor of a pressure as high as 10 inches. Similar arguments were offered at the hearing.

Although the previous order of the commission permitted a pressure range of from 2 to 6 inches, the commission last winter granted a temporary maximum of 8 inches. Thus the order leaves the maximum where it has been for almost a year and raises the minimum 1 inch.

The order also sets forth that the daily variation in gas pressure shall not exceed 2½ inches at any gauge station during a day, nor shall it exceed 50 per cent of the maximum pressure at the outlet of the service pipe to any consumer.

The gas company is instructed to install pressure gauges on or before December 1, the type, number, and locations to be approved by the commission. These gauges shall be open to inspection by the utilities body at any time.

Adjustments of all appliances, not already so adjusted, "for proper and economical operation with the maximum pressure of 8 inches" was ordered immediately, save in certain areas where the commission may decide that the pressure limits will not cause any variation.

The order stated that the commission would retain jurisdiction with respect to periodic tests of consumers' meters. Indications are that the period of replacements will be shortened.

The commission's statement regarding its gas pressure order follows:

Akron Engine Vibration Tested by Seismograph

Akron, Ohio, Oct. 9 (A.P.).—A seismograph, similar to the instrument which measures earthquake shocks, was used on the sixth flight of the Navy's airship Akron today to determine the extent of engine vibration and the possibility of operating with decreased weight. The ship was in the air 11 hours and 53 minutes, docking at 6:38 p. m. (Eastern standard time).

For the first time on any airship the propellers were tilted for mooring the Akron.

Army's Air Quota Reached In $2,000,000 Plane Order

(Associated Press.)

In four months the Army will have almost all of the 1,800 airplanes Congress thought necessary for satisfactory land defense.

Nearly $2,000,000 worth of planes and engines were ordered yesterday by the War Department. When they are delivered they will virtually complete the five-year plan begun in 1926. Replacements will keep the forces stable.

The Navy already has its specified 1,000 planes.

The 100 engines and 53 airplanes called for in the War Department's orders yesterday will be supplied by four different companies. Complete with spare parts, they will cost the Government $1,931,954.

The largest order went to the Douglas Aircraft Co., Inc., of Santa Monica, Calif. The $718,875 contract is for 28 observation planes and seven light bombardment planes.

To the Pratt & Whitney Aircraft Co., of Hartford, Conn., went a $612,854 order for 100 Hornet engines to be installed in bombing planes.

Thirteen attack planes will be provided by the Curtiss Aeroplane & Motor Co., Inc., of Garden City, N. Y., for $427,615 while five pursuit planes ordered from the Detroit, Mich., Aircraft Corporation, will cost $172,600.

GROVE CHECKS CARDS, 8-1, TO SQUARE SERIES

Holds Martin Hitless in Five-Hit Performance for Mackmen.

WILDNESS, ERRORS HANDICAP CARDINALS

Derringer Forces Over Two Runs in Fifth After Flowers' Misplay Sets Stage.

Today's game between the Athletics and Cardinals will be reproduced on The Post's magnetic scoreboard, beginning at 2:30 o'clock.

By ALAN GOULD
(Associated Press Sports Editor).

Sportsmans Park, St. Louis, Oct. 9 (A.P.).—The wild flight of the Martin bomber and his fellow Red Birds of prey was abruptly halted today.

The homecoming of the Cardinal squadron was completely spoiled by the sudden return to form of Lefty Grove, who stopped the spectacular Pepper Martin for the first time and led the Athletics to an 8-to-1 victory in the sixth game of the world series.

The triumph enabled the world champions to draw level with their rivals for the second time, each now having three games, and forced the series to the seven-game limit for the first time in five years.

It was a crushing jolt to the home forces, who came home in the full flight of an inspired dash toward the championship, Martin nothing less than a national hero and their enthusiasts out in full force to cheer the anticipated downfall of Connie Mack's crew.

Instead of seeing their favorites duplicate the startling pace they maintained in the East and again sweep the American Leaguers off their feet, a near-capacity crowd of 39,401 fans saw the Cardinals virtually go to pieces, at least for the day.

Derringer Fails.

They saw the young right-hander, Paul Derringer, "blow up" under fire for the second time with a streak of wildness. They groaned as the St. Louis defense cracked wide open at critical junctures, and they were stunned as their week-long idol, Pepper Martin, went hitless for the first time in the series.

The law of averages and the great Grove, pitching at the very peak of his form for the first time in this intersectional warfare, finally brought down Martin on the wing.

Perhaps it was enevitable. It seemed too much to expect that Martin could continue the record-slashing streak he had maintained through five games, and almost single-handed put the A's on the defensive.

Still it was a terrific anticlimax, as the "Wild Horse" failed completely to do any of his celebrated tricks after being cheered, feted, toasted over the radio and presented with everything available, including a shotgun and a rifle, before today's game.

Martin Hitless.

Martin popped out weakly twice, connected solidly only once, on a fly to Haas, and then walked in the ninth on his final turn at the plate. The Pepper's hitless day cut his average down to .571 for the six games, still sensational enough for a rookie outfielder, but below Babe Ruth's record of .625, for the first time, as the

4 Killed in Riots In Spanish Town

Morocco Is Also Scene of Outbreak; Radicals Fight Police.

Seville, Spain, Oct. 9 (U.P.).—Civil guard patrols in the town of Gilena were reinforced tonight after a clash with disgruntled peasants in which four persons were killed. The fighting began when strikers attempted to persuade all workers on a nearby estate to quit.

Melilla, Morocco, Oct. 9 (U.P.).—Civil guards repelled an attack by striking workers of the transportation branch of the Unico Syndicate today, clashing with demonstrators in a fight in which one person was killed and two others were gravely wounded.

Gibraltar, Oct. 9 (A.P.).—Orders from Madrid closing the Syndicalist headquarters at La Linea and Algeciras today precipitated serious rioting in which many persons were injured.

Throughout the day there were clashes between police and Syndicalists. So great were the disturbances that thousands of women and children were reported to have left the two cities.

106-Minute Earthquake Is Recorded at Denver

Denver, Colo., Oct. 9 (U.P.).—An earthquake of 1 hour and 46 minutes duration was recorded on the seismograph at Regis College here late today.

The Rev. Father Forstall, observer at the college, said that the quake was of second or third degree intensity and would have undoubtedly threatened lives and property if it occurred on land. It was estimated that the quake was 6,000 to 8,000 miles distant from Denver.

TWO-MAN RULE FOR REICH SEEN IN NEW CABINET

Chancellor Gives Police and Army Control to War Veteran.

IRON FIST PREDICTED IN CASE OF TROUBLE

Reichstag Adjournment to Make Bruening Actual German Dictator.

Berlin, Oct. 9 (A.P.).—Chancellor Heinrich Bruening formed a firm-fisted cabinet today, significant chiefly for its concentration of power in the hands of two men, to fight the government's battles in the Reichstag and out.

Virtually a dictator, Dr. Bruening remains as chancellor and also becomes foreign minister, taking over the portfolio relinquished by Dr. Julius Curtius.

Gen. Wilhelm Groener, minister of defense, retains that post and takes on the duties of minister of the interior, which makes him head of the German police.

Another significant point is the inclusion of a prominent industrialist, Hermann Walmbold, as minister of economics.

Only Two New Members.

The new cabinet, which has had the approval of President Paul von Hindenburg, includes:

Dr. Bruening, chancellor and foreign minister.

Gen. William Groener, defense and interior.

Hermann Dietrich, finance.

Georg Schaetzel, posts and telegraphs.

Hermann Walmbold, economics.

Curt Joel, justice.

Gottfried Treviranus, transportation.

Adam Stegerwald, labor.

All the new ministers except Joel and Walmbold are holdovers from the old cabinet. Dr. Joel has been undersecretary in the ministry of justice for eleven years and Prof. Walmbold was minister of agriculture in the Prussian cabinet of 1921, later affiliating himself with a company that was absorbed in the dye trust.

Political Lineup of Group.

Politically the new cabinet lines up as follows:

Bruening, Centrist; Groener, no party; Dietrich, German State party; Schiele, German Country Peoples party; Schatezel, Bavarian People's party; Walmbold, no party; Joel, no party; Treviranus, People's Conservative party; Stegerwald, Centrist.

Placing Gen. Groener in control of both the army and the police was accepted generally as an indication that Chancellor Bruening intends to rule with the iron hand during what is likely to be a winter of discontent, provided his government survives the Reichstag session beginning October 13.

While the fight in the Reichstag is expected to be close, political observ-

Miklas Reelected As Austria's Head

Ballot Held in Parliament to Avoid Expense of Popular Vote.

Vienna, Austria, Oct. 9 (U.P.).—President Wilhelm Miklas, member of the powerful Christian Socialist party, was reelected today in Austria's first "economy ballot."

By parliamentary action in amending the constitution, the election was held in the Parliament rather than by popular vote. The decision was made to avoid the expense of a popular election in the present financial emergency.

The vote was 109 to 93, fulfilling the general expectation that Miklas would be chosen for a second term. At that time the election was held in Parliament, but later the constitution was amended to permit popular ballot with a six-year term of office for the president.

Hawks Loses Way On Charlotte Hop

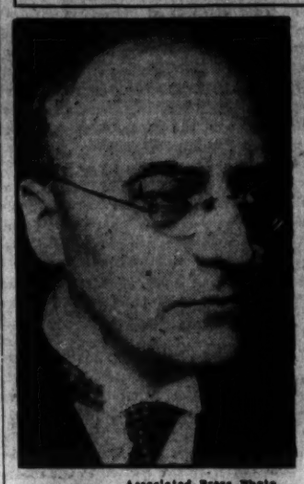

Flier Gets Turned Around in Fog, but Finally Makes Record Time.

Charlotte, N. C., Oct. 9 (A.P.).—Capt. Frank Hawks arrived at Charlotte Airport at 4:40 p. m. today after hours of being "lost" in the fog and rainstorm, which swept over this section in the early afternoon. His arrival completed, with one exception, the roll of famous pilots who are to participate in the remaining two days of the all-Southern air pageant.

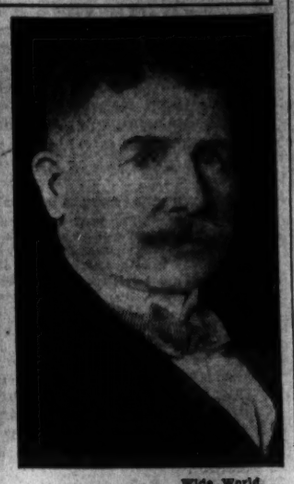

He became turned around at South Boston, Va., on his way from New York, and found himself back at Richmond, his previous stopping place.

After losing much time on his "round-trip" between Richmond and South Boston, the flier proceeded to set what he believes to be a new record from Richmond to Charlotte, flying it in an hour and ten minutes.

CAPONE IS WORRIED AT TAX INCOME TRIAL

Clinches His Fists Tightly as Witnesses Tell of His Large Receipts.

Federal Building, Chicago, Oct. 9 (A.P.).—The Government built up a mass of evidence in Al Capone's income tax trial today regarding the swarthy gangster's alleged huge profits from liquor, gambling and vice, his lavish mode of living, and his free spending habits.

The first actual evidence about Capone's income was given by Parker Henderson, jr., former manager of a Miami, Fla., hotel. Henderson testified that during a five months' stay in Miami, Capone received a total of $30,000 in telegraphic money orders from Chicago.

During 1928 and early 1929, the evidence showed a total of about $80,000 was allegedly handled by Capone in connection with his Florida visit, purchase of the Miami Beach home and improvements on the property.

To prove Capone guilty of income tax evasion the Government needs only to convince the jury that he had a taxable income of more than $5,000.

Henderson also testified that he purchased Capone's Miami Beach home for him, paying $10,000 down and signing notes or mortgages for the balance of $30,000. A few months later the property was transferred by Henderson to Mrs. May Capone, the gangster's wife, it was shown in records from a Miami abstractor's office.

About $15,000 was spent to beautify the palatial home—build a swimming pool, construct a wall around the estate, and landscape the premises, Henderson said. Prosecutor Dwight H. Green introduced evidence tending to show that large amounts also were expended to equip the property with "exotic gardens."

Then, as the session drew to a close telegraphic money order receipts signed by Capone and totaling about $30,000 were introduced into the evidence. The previous money orders had been received at the telegraphic offices by Henderson or one of Capone's friends and turned over to the

Philadelphia Is Unable To Meet Current Bills

Philadelphia, Oct. 9 (A.P.).—The Philadelphia Record says the municipal government of Philadelphia is without funds to meet its current bills. Grocers who presented bills for food for the poor today were unable to receive payment, the paper says.

Controller Willis Hadley is quoted as saying the city borrowed $750,000 to meet October 1 payrolls and would have to borrow a like amount for October 15. Bills for the remainder of the year are expected to be met by floating of a long term loan October 26.

GRAND JURY TO GET CANNON FILES TODAY

Rules of House on Campaign Reports Are Set Aside by Justice Proctor.

(Associated Press.)

Federal law won over the rules of the House of Representatives yesterday in a decision that cleared legal paths for grand jury action on the political activities of Bishop James Cannon, jr.

Justice James Proctor, of the District of Columbia Supreme Court, halted a criminal trial to order William Tyler Page, clerk of the House, to produce original reports of 1928 anti-Smith expenditures filed by the organization's treasurer, Miss Ada L. Burroughs.

Page, frock-coated and dignified, accepted the judge's decision and expressed before the court a willingness "if need be to put my official neck in a noose and run counter to the jealous regard of the House of Representatives."

Assistant District Attorney John Wilson, prosecutor, immediately announced he would hold the grand jury in special session today to receive the campaign reports from Page and close the inquiry to find whether the clergyman violated the Federal corrupt practices law.

Page yesterday refused to yield the court his files on grounds he was prohibited by a House resolution of 1879. Wilson and the youthful jury foreman, Theodore B. Gittings, appealed to Justice Proctor for a ruling, contending the original reports and not copies were essential.

The jury halted its quiz of a dwindling number of witnesses at noon yesterday to learn whether it was to have the documents on which any indictment would rest.

The court ruled Page had "misconstrued" the House resolution which excepted from its prohibition those papers "the House itself may have made public." Justice Proctor said the campaign reports "were clearly within the exception of the resolution itself."

But aside from the resolution, the court said in a ruling several times interrupted by Page's questions and suggestions, "It seems to me inconceivable Congress could have in-

Lindberghs in Japan; To Sail for U. S. Today

Nagasaki, Japan, Oct. 9 (A.P.).—Col. and Mrs. Charles A. Lindbergh arrived here today from Shanghai and took an afternoon train for Yokohama. They will sail tomorrow for the United States.

The Lindberghs abandoned their aerial tour of the Far East upon receiving word of the death of Mrs. Lindbergh's father, Senator Dwight W. Morrow.

Aged Recluse, Once Belle, Has $500,000 Cash in Skirt

Mrs. Ida Mayfield Wood, 93, Tearful as Treasures Are Removed From Room in Old New York Hotel; Resents Guardians.

New York, Oct. 9 (U.P.).—Mrs. Ida Mayfield Wood, the little old lady of the Herald Square Hotel, who tearfully surrendered $400,000 to her guardians early this week, had another $500,000 in cash concealed in her petticoats, it was revealed today.

The 93-year-old recluse accidentally dropped a leather pouch on the floor of the hotel room where she is being attended by a nurse. The nurse picked it up and handed it to her.

"Let me show you what's in it," said Mrs. Wood, who once danced with Edward VII when he was Prince of Wales. She drew the strings of the pouch and spread 50 $10,000 bills on the table. The money was promptly turned over to the guardians.

There was no great fuss and botheration about it this time, like last Tuesday, when Mrs. Wood wept bitterly at having to hand over the $400,000. Or like the occasion about two weeks ago when she went to her bed, pulled a sugar bag containing $50,000 in bonds from under the mattress and flung it in the face of a lawyer, appointed as temporary guardian.

Nor was it like the occasion when she pulled out $5,000 in faded currency from a pocket in her dress, threw it on the floor, stamped on it and kicked it all over the room.

But when they asked her to give them all the money she was prepared for them. With the cunning of old age she had hidden half a million dollars beneath the bulk of her half-dozen petticoats. She gave them the $400,000 and told them that was all she had.

Most of the bills found in the leather sack today, and in the paper bag she gave them Tuesday were faded, many of them being more than 50 years old.

It had been known that Mrs. Wood, once the belle of New York, had sufficient money to take care of herself. But no one imagined she had nearly a million dollars, hidden in her room and about her person.

She was held to be incompetent recently and the courts appointed distant relatives to be her guardians. She vigorously protested this action, and was particularly incensed over the seizure of her possessions, which include an old trunkful of souvenirs, such things as a valentine she received from a diplomat, a necklace from her husband, long dead, and

U. S. PREPARES TO HELP AVERT FAR EAST WAR

Cabinet Gets Alarming Reports; Powers to Be Sounded.

JOINT ACTION IS SOLE STEP CONTEMPLATED

League Calls Council to Meet; America Will Await the Outcome.

By HAROLD J. T. HORAN.

The American Government yesterday prepared to ally itself with other world powers in a concerted effort to head off the approach of war in the Far East between China and Japan over sovereignty in Manchuria. President Hoover discussed the situation with his Cabinet and afterward Secretary Stimson remained closeted in his office to study the problem. The departure of American Ambassador W. Cameron Forbes to Tokyo was held up while Secretary Stimson conferred with him on several phases of the situation.

A special emergency meeting of the council of the League of Nations has been called for Tuesday in Geneva. Delegates have been summoned from London, Paris, Rome, Berlin and the other council nations to discuss the growing crisis.

From far away Mukden came a cable of appeal to Senator William E. Borah (Republican), chairman of the foreign relations committee. The Chamber of Commerce there warned of Japanese motives of aggression and asked the senator to use his influence for awakening the interest of the world to prevent Japanese control of the region.

No U. S. Action Now.

The State Department under the present circumstances is more inclined to invoke the nine-power Chinese treaty than the Kellogg pact. Under these provisions Secretary Stimson can maintain an interchange of opinion with England, France, Belgium, Italy, Netherlands, Portugal and the two countries now in conflict, China and Japan.

These exchanges the Secretary has supplemented by the confidential reports from Chinese-speaking George Hanson and Nippon-tongued Laurence E. Salisbury, the two American "observers" now on the scene. The Hanson-Salisbury reports formed the basis for the Cabinet discussion and were indicated as "alarming."

Secretary Stimson would make no statement and contemplates no direct action in the present circumstances. No appreciable effect has been noticed from the last appeal of the Secretary when he called upon both the Chinese and Japanese, September 24, to "refrain from further hostilities." The parliamentary crisis which seems to be overshadowing the friendly government of Premier Wakatsuki further increases his difficulties. Japanese military forces are believed to be aware of the dissension in the government and have as a result overstepped their instructions.

Favors Stimson's Course.

Moreover the Secretary will not soon forget the rude rejection by Maxim Litvinov, commissar of the Soviets for foreign relations when in December, 1929, the American Government offered its good offices in a similar conflict between Russia and China. At that time the Secretary of State reminded the two powers of their obligations under the Kellogg pact, of which they were both signatories.

In the present emergency the State Department is consulting the nine-power treaty which expressly outlines a course extremely favorable to the ideas of Secretary Stimson. This treaty, made in 1922 between the United States, Belgium, Great Britain, France, Italy, Netherlands, Portugal and the two countries now in conflict, China and Japan, provides:

"The contracting powers agree to respect the sovereignty, independence and territorial and administrative integrity of China;

"To refrain from taking advantage of conditions in China in order to seek special rights or privileges which would abridge the rights of subjects or citizens of friendly

PANAMA PREPARING TO INCREASE TARIFF

President Alfaro Announces Cabinet to Succeed Men Resigned Monday.

Panama City, Oct. 9 (A.P.).—A complete revision of Panama's tariff with an upward trend throughout is being formulated by Enrique A. Jimenez, secretary of the treasury, and it will be presented to the next assembly in September, 1932.

Not since the founding of the republic in 1903 has the tariff been revised, Jimenez said, whereas other nations generally have raised their export charges.

The extent of the proposed increase has not yet been determined.

A revision was suggested by several manufacturers, notably makers of leather. They asked protection and a tariff bureau was organized to work with the secretary of the treasury.

President Ricardo Alfaro today appointed the following cabinet, replacing that which resigned October 5:

Guillermo Andreve, secretary of government; Enrique Geenzier, foreign affairs; Bario Vallarino, treasury; Jeptha Duncan, education; Tomaso Cervera, agriculture.

Delegations Preparing To Arbitrate Boundary

(Associated Press.)

Delegations of Guatemalans and Hondurans who will present their countries' plans before an arbitration tribune agreed upon to settle their long-standing boundary dispute this week marshaled their data from Washington headquarters.

The Honduran delegation, headed by Dr. Mariano Vasquez, chief of the commission which negotiated the arbitration treaty here last year with a like group from Guatemala, was entertained yesterday by Minister Davila. Six members of the Honduran group this week joined several who previously had opened headquarters here.

The Guatemalan arbitration commission likewise is working in preparation for the arbitration, which will get under way within a few weeks after the exchange of treaty ratifications here this month. October 14 has been set as the tentative date of the exchange.

Guatemala Acts to Aid Banks.

Sad Days Hit the Navy— And Girls of the World

By JOHN J. DALY

TWO navy yards, one naval training station, two battleships, two cruisers, six destroyers and half a dozen submarines are going out of commission, according to a tentative economy program for the Navy.

On behalf of the old admirals, and the young midshipmates, and the little cabin boys, and the girls who go arm in arm with the gobs at Boston and Charleston and Newport, something ought to be done about this; economies should be effected in other ways rather than closing down of the navy yards and scuttling of the ships.

Where was the glory that was Greece, and the grandeur that was Rome, if not in the spread of the sails of the galleons—and, by the same virtue, where is the splendor of America? What has happened to the old slogan, "Join the Navy and see the world—and the girls of the world, if only through a porthole?"

* * * *

SAD days have come upon the Navy, and the belles of the navy yards. The old admirals, sitting in retirement, stripped of their gold braid, will sigh for the seven seas. So goes the great armada, the glories of yesterday.

It may be all in the interest of international safety and national economies, for the nations to scrap their navies; but think of the glamour, and the gold braid, and the gallant sailormen who helped shape the glorious traditions of the world. What is to become of them? What will Father Neptune do without his crews of the briny deep, men who drew the world together, Lords of the Forecastle and Masters of the Yard?

FROM Labrador to the Caribbees, from drowsy China to the British Isles, these are the sailormen who protected international commerce round the world—and now they are going to take their ships, their decks from beneath their feet, and their Navy yards away from them, and put them, high and dry, on the same footing with the lowly landlubber. Pity the poor sailormen in a plight like this, lads whose feet have trod the seaboard towns of 40 climes, hot and cold, from the sunny southland to the Arctic.

Shipmates of the sea, sailors of the sail, Yo ho! Yo ho! No more will you see foam up over the rail, a spurt of spray on the maindeck; for the day has come when all these things shall pass. The heavens and earth will still be there, but the sailors not on the sea.

* * * *

IT is, alas, inevitable, another manifestation of the way of the world; and future generations, if they want to know what sailors and admirals look like, will have to go to the parks and see there the great statues of bronze erected to the memory of men who went down to the sea in ships; battleships, cruisers, submarines, yawlboats all—sunk in the interest of economy.

Free as the wind, in a good ship headed around the Horn,
I would be off to the seas again, leaving tomorrow morn;
A sad night, and a sad sight when a sailorman like me

Laval's Athletic Daughter Wins Plot for Trip to U. S.

Mlle. Josette Announces She Will Sail as Secretary as Father Accepts Ambassador's Proffer of Washington Residence as Headquarters.

Paris, Oct. 9 (U.P.).—Mlle. Josette Laval, pretty and athletic daughter of the French premier, appeared tonight to have out-maneuvered her distinguished father, winning the right to accompany him to Washington on his official visit to President Hoover.

Premier Pierre Laval's usual smile turned to a deep frown when his daughter, who is 19, first broached the subject of acting as his assistant on the journey to the United States. He grumbled a denial to the press that Mlle. Josette would be a member of the party. But the diplomatic victory scored by Mlle. Josette apparently was complete with announcement that she had booked a cabin on the Ile De France as her father's secretary.

Friends believed she was practically certain to make the trip, although it was revealed that she had plotted for days to win Laval's consent and finally, encouraged by several journalists, published the fact that she was sailing next week, in an effort to force her father's hand.

The premier's daughter is slender, an excellent tennis player, a lover of horses and, in the opinion of her acquaintances, well deserving of the word "beautiful." She speaks English fluently and she is unusual in that she dodges the famous dressmaking houses of Paris to design her own clothes. After she has outlined the models she desires, a small dressmaker executes them for her.

Usually she is busy in her father's office, but when she can escape her regular duties she often visits Chantilly, frequenting the training stables. Sometimes she dons the clothes of a jockey and rides with the regular training boys, training colts destined for the race tracks.

Mlle. Josette is ultramodern in her attitude toward life, but she studies at home a great deal to perfect herself in the work of assistant to the premier.

Quite frankly she says she hopes to marry eventually, rather than to carry on in a political career, but she insists that she would rather make the voyage to America than have a diamond ring at present.

Paris, Oct. 9 (A.P.).—In the course of a 45-minute conversation with Premier Laval at the ministry of interior this evening, United States Ambassador Walter E. Edge placed his Washington home at the premier's disposal on the occasion of his visit to discuss international matters with President Hoover.

The ambassador is sending his personal secretary, Robert Pell, with the premier on the Ile de France October 16. Mr. Pell will serve as substitute host as Mr. Edge is not going to the United States until late in the month.

The premier announced he would be accompanied to Washington by Louis Aubert, attache to the superior council of national defence; Prof. Bastevan, of Paris, jurist at the foreign ministry; Finance Inspectors Bizot, Boissard and Ruess, and Albert Buisson, financial expert who accompanied M. Laval on his recent visit to Berlin.

It was understood that tonight's conversation between the American ambassador and the premier did not touch on international matters.

HOOVER TO REPEAT STAND NATIONS MUST PAY DEBTS

derstood by the people of the country.

The whole purpose of the economic emergency program was to increase the flow of credit, relieve banks in regions where the distress is acute and generally restore confidence. The President has let it be known that the press of the Nation contributed very materially to the unity of action which is essential to a matter of this character.

The difficulty of effecting a unity of action on the part of the diverse financial interests, particularly since it involved the making of sacrifices by many of these in the national interest, was overcome in a fashion that encouraged the President very greatly.

The President is anxious that the general public comprehend the situation with which, so far as the finances of the banking institutions of the Nation are concerned, effort is being made to deal.

Farm Credit Problem Serious.

Among the credit difficulties which the program aims to correct in one particular field is the agricultural credit situation. As an indication in this direction, it is pointed out that farmers in some sections of the country are unable to get credit loans, even upon farms that are unencumbered. This makes it necessary to market commodities at low prices, instead of being able to carry them over. In many sections millers are limited to day-to-day credit. Manufacturers encountering difficulties in obtaining credit are forced into conditions which cause unemployment.

Bankers find it difficult to serve their communities adequately because of these conditions and because of an unreasoning withdrawal of deposits.

The administration has definitely established that there is more than $3,500,000,000 of paper available for rediscounting with the Federal Reserve System in banks, but these banks are not in the distressed areas.

The purpose of the emergency fund or pool is to aid banks whose paper is ineligible. The banks that are in distress are using their eligible paper with the Federal Reserve Banks already. The pool is not primarily intended to give the banks room to meet any unreasonable demands, but to give them credit to reach out to in the case they are subjected to pressure.

It is the view of the President that none of the measures proposed may be regarded as measures of inflation. Instead, Mr. Hoover regards them as intended to stem the tide of deflation.

The question of foreign debt settlements, linked as it is with the matter of German reparations, and with the gathering certainty that there will arise future discussions between the United States and the allies on the subject, is holding much interest in Washington.

There is a decided congressional group, headed by Representative John N. Garner of Texas, the Democratic floor leader, and Senator William E. Borah, of Idaho, the Republican chairman of the foreign relations committee, who regard Mr. Hoover's program on this phase of the situation as leading to cancellation of the debts.

Position Unchanged.

President Hoover is emphatic on the point that he has not changed from his position of June 20 last when he stated "I do not approve in any remote sense of the cancellation of the debts to us. World confidence would not be enhanced by such action. None of our debtor nations have ever suggested it."

It is stated with finality that administration officials have not suggested either a general extension of the moratorium after July 1 next, or the postponement of payment of the war debts. The President is indicated as standing by his position as outlined in his June 20 statement, in which he declared: "But as the basis of the settlement of these debts was the capacity under normal conditions of the debtor to pay we would be consistent with our own policies and principles if we take into account the abnormal situation now existing in the world. I am sure the American people have no desire to extract any sum beyond the capacity of any debtor nation to pay, and it is our view that broad vision requires that our Government should recognize the situation as it exists."

The administration viewpoint, both as to the present and future situations, is that it has no desire to extract any money from another nation that has not the capacity to pay that money. The one-year moratorium was an emergency matter and was met in an emergency fashion. The administration regards itself as in a similar situation at the present time. It is holding to the belief that as decency in the relations between individuals requires that funds should not be extracted beyond the capacity to pay, this moral and social obligation exists between nations.

WIDE TARIFF SURVEY GETS U. S. APPROVAL

Pan-American Session's Quarantine Motion Is Also Accepted.

The United States made two important concessions yesterday at the Pan-American Commercial Conference. Resolutions for the restriction of quarantine regulations to infected zones and not countries and for a general consideration of the tariff regulations of the American states "as soon as domestic conditions permit" were approved by Francis White, in the name of the United States. Mr. White is the Assistant Secretary of State in charge of Latin-American relations and is chairman of the American delegation at the conference.

For the first time the United States has indicated an intention of reconsidering these two problems, which have been the source of constant irritation not only between the State Department and the Latin-American states, but also between the Latin states themselves.

The decision of the committee yesterday will be submitted by the plenary session today, but no opposition is expected. The effects of the resolutions were minimized, however, as all the Latin delegates indicated that the American approval was only a gesture. Nothing tangible in the matter of relief can be envisaged at this time. Argentine beef will remain under an embargo, and likewise Argentine restrictions on American apples still hold.

Chile Offers Compromise.

The quarantine resolution was proposed by the Argentine delegation two days ago, while the resolution on tariffs was part of the "declaration of principles" pronounced by Dr. Gutierrez in the name of the Cuban delegates.

Dr. Benaimino Cohen, chief of the Chilean delegation, offered a compromise proposition on tariffs which was accepted without discussion by both the Cubans and the Americans.

The rigors of the American tariff, particularly with regard to Argentina, have provoked in the past clashes of opinion between the two countries. When Dr. Manuel Malbran, former Argentine Ambassador to the United States, made a speech at the foreign trade conference in New York last May criticizing the Smoot-Hawley tariff as "prohibitory rather than protectionist," rumors of his recall were immediately rife. Since then, however, the government of the Argentine promoted Dr. Malbran by sending him to London and the State Department ignored his frank criticism.

The sanitary resolution mitigates the present embargo on the Argentine, which now forbids importation of meats into the United States from sections where the hoof and mouth disease is prevalent. Under a former regulation the Secretary of Agriculture was given the discretion of making exceptions in justifiable cases. However, this law was amended and at present the Department of Agriculture, even if it wished, has no other choice than to declare embargoed all meat products from whatsoever country that reports hoof and mouth conditions.

Five-Fold Plan Offered.

Another phase of commercial cooperation was urged by Thomas L. Chadbourne, of New York, author of the Chadbourne plan for restriction of sugar cultivation. Mr. Chadbourne embodied his ideas in a contemplated five-fold organization:

To find out obstacles to a Pan-American customs union and discover means of eliminating them;

Study of potential free trade between the American republics;

Increase of Latin American employment on American shipping in Pan-American trade.

Inclusion of compulsory Spanish and English in the schools of the United States and Latin America.

A technical study of the debt conditions of every South and Central American republic with concrete proposals for the funding of these debts.

Farmers' Market Site Is Virtually Acquired

Dr. Luther H. Reichelderfer, chairman of the Board of District Commissioners, yesterday addressed a letter to Comptroller Gen. McCarl in answer to his inquiry of last week regarding the acquisition of the site of the Southwest farmers' market.

The letter assured the comptroller that the Commissioners had purchased all save one small lot held up by appeal. Allowing a liberal amount for the purchase of the final lot, in case the court award is more than the condemnation jury figure, the District still has about $30,000 for developing the market, Dr. Reichelderfer said.

Laundries Aid Clothing Campaign for Veterans

Disabled American Veterans, the American Legion and the Veterans of Foreign Wars are sponsoring a campaign to start Monday to collect old clothes through Washington laundries for destitute former service men and their families.

The laundries will distribute large paper bags when they make their regular collections, and will call for the bags later in the week. An appeal is made by the veterans to contribute all the men's, women's and children's clothing that can possibly be spared, especially warm garments. The committee's headquarters are at room 230, Transportation Building.

Golf Driving Course Owners Ordered Sued

Corporation Counsel W. Bride yesterday was instructed by the District Commissioners to file suit against the operators of a golf driving course at 7421 Georgia avenue northwest, because its operations have extended from the first commercial zone into a residential area without authority.

Upon receipt of a petition from residents of that area, John W. Oehmann, District Building inspector, ordered the organization to confine its operations to the 100-foot tract which its permits specified. This order was not obeyed.

Outlaw Coal Strikers Vote to Return to Jobs

Wilkes-Barre, Pa., Oct. 9 (U.P.).—Leaders of the Glen Alden Coal Co. strike, affecting about 20,000 miners, voted tonight to return to work Monday.

The decision followed two days of conferences with John L. Lewis, head of the United Mine Workers of America. The union refused to sanction the strike. Lewis urged the men to go back to work and permit the union to settle their grievances.

New Capitol Tracks In Use Tomorrow

Street Cars Will Pass Through Tunnel Under Park.

The new car tracks near the Capitol are expected to be finished and street cars running over them early tomorrow morning, according to a report made by Robert Dougan, of the Capital Traction Co.

The new tracks were laid at an expense of $370,000, to be shared jointly by the Capital Traction Co. and the Washington Railway & Electric Co.

The tunnel under the new park, through which cars of both companies now operated over C street will run in the future, is 260 feet long.

RATE-RISE DECISION IS EXPECTED ANY DAY

Alertness and Tension Noted in I. C. C. Offices; Moves Are Being Guarded.

(Associated Press.)

The Interstate Commerce Commission's activities are moving along in their usual quiet, frictionless way, but underneath is an extraordinary alertness and tension.

For a week the transportation tribunal has been considering the request of the railroads for a 15 per cent increase in freight rates. Its decision may be announced any day now.

There is a continual stream of inquiry. The secretary's office estimates 100 persons ask about the case daily. Scores of reporters gather at 11:30 a. m. and 3:30 p. m., the hours at which the commission makes its announcements.

Every move of the commission is guarded with unusual care. Individual commissioners are "engaged" to all except special visitors. Other officials have "no information." Even guesses are refused.

Twenty-one months ago the commission announced its railroad consolidation plan. One reporter obtained the plan before it was formally made public. His source has never been disclosed. The commission is guarding against a recurrence in the rate case.

Usually opinions are written by the chief examiner handling the case. They then are revised by the commission. In highly important cases opinions have been written in the privacy of a commissioner's office, never let out of sight of some commissioner, and even mimeograph stencils cut there.

When time comes for mimeographing, Secretary George B. McGinty or his assistant, H. A. Gillis, is called to get the stencils and personally supervise the operation. One of the secretaries personally hands out the decision. At no time is the opinion out of the hands of members or the most responsible employes of the commission.

laws which Mr. Hoover proposed in connection with the announcement of his privately subscribed $500,000,000 credit pool.

In revamping the law the President hopes to make several classes of paper now unacceptable at the Federal Reserve Banks eligible for rediscount. Railroad bonds may be included. However, the law must be revised by Congress and a controversy has arisen already on the question of what paper should be included.

The President is seeking advice on the question from a number of Government officials, bankers and railroad men. Meanwhile the organization of the credit pool is going forward at a rapid rate. Its machinery was perfected yesterday in New York and it is to be incorporated today. Soon afterward the $500,000,000 fund will be put to work providing credit in exchange for assets which can not now be liquidated.

Ogden Mills, Undersecretary of the Treasury, said yesterday he believed the projected plan to ease the Nation's credit was "going very well."

Mills has been in close touch with the progress of the plan through its formative stages and has conferred frequently with the President regarding it.

A compliment upon President Hoover's financial program was carried to him yesterday by George R. Lunn, of Schenectady, N. Y., commander in chief of the United Spanish War Veterans.

After being presented to the Chief Executive by Administrator Hines, of the Veterans' Affairs Bureau, Lunn told the President he favored "a moratorium on politics" as an aid to the credit plan made public by Mr. Hoover Tuesday night.

CRAMTON REMOVED AS "CZAR" AT DAM; GIVEN MINOR POST

State line between Nevada and Idaho, 150 miles from the nearest railroad, a place known as the Desert of the Duck Valley.

Was Denied $10,000 Job.

Mr. Cramton was beaten in the congressional primary last year by Representative-elect Jesse P. Wolcott, of Port Huron, Mich. For years Cramton had been the leader of the dry bloc in Congress. In addition, he was chairman of the subcommittee on Interior Department appropriations, and thus was thrown into constant contact with reclamation officials. Mr. Wolcott, who defeated him, ran for office on a platform favoring a referendum on prohibition.

Mr. Cramton first was slated for the position of associate director of the George Washington Bicentennial Commission at $10,000 a year. Senator Fess (Republican), of Ohio, had recommended him for this post. He was eliminated when congressional critics protested that he had used his position as second man on the appropriations committee to get through the appropriation which subsequently would pay his salary.

Interior Department officials felt sorry for Mr. Cramton, even though he had from time to time dictated the department's policies and had used an iron hand in cutting or increasing the department's appropriations.

Post Created for Him.

Feeling thus, the Interior officials created a job for him, that of legal adviser on the Hoover Dam leases.

With his secretary, Mr. Cramton moved to the desert city that had been created around the proposed Hoover Dam, and there, according to his critics, he assumed a legal dictatorship.

Nevada is both wet and wide open. Mr. Cramton, having long been known as an antivice crusader, decided that Boulder City should be different. According to reports, he was responsible for the following clause that appeared in all leases granted by the Federal Government to stores and other property holders in Boulder City:

"* * * If any premises * * * shall be used for the purpose of manufacturing, selling or otherwise disposing of intoxicating liquors as a beverage, or narcotics or habit-forming drugs, or for gambling, prostitution or any other unlawful purpose * * * or if loose, immoral characters shall be sheltered thereon * * * all rights * * * shall be terminated. * * *"

Friction soon arose between Cramton and the contractors in charge of the Hoover Dam work. In a short while, the friction became widespread, involving not only the contractors but Interior Department officials and leaseholders as well.

Mr. Cramton, so his critics contended, had no regularly constituted authority for dictating to Boulder City. Consequently, in order to get rid of him, it was necessary to appoint somebody who would have such authority. Accordingly, a city manager was appointed. He was Sims Ely, a former Arizona newspaper editor.

Recently Mr. Cramton and his secretary returned to Washington, and here the former Michigan representative was told about his transfer from Boulder City to an Indian reservation.

To Study Indian Claims.

Mr. Cramton's new assignment will take him to the Western Shoshone reservation, a reservation that has a population of about 300 Indians and one white man—the Indian agent. His task will be to make a study of the Indian claims to water rights affecting the Owshee River.

All this is going on in Duck Valley. The wits in the Interior Department, however, are now calling it Lame Duck Valley.

While he was in the House, Mr. Cramton steadfastly sought to hold down the Federal appropriation toward the expenses of the District of Columbia. He it was who conceived the idea of an annual lump sum appropriation of $9,000,000 on the part of the Federal Government. He insisted on continuing this lump sum appropriation even after other members had become convinced that it was inadequate.

On the other hand, Mr. Cramton sponsored one of the most constructive pieces of legislation in the city's history, one calling for a magnificent park on either side of the Potomac River from Mount Vernon and Fort Washington to Great Falls.

CREDIT PLAN BACKED BY BANKS OF NATION

Committee Sure of Aid for New Corporation to Bolster Country's Finances.

New York, Oct. 9 (A.P.).—Virtually unanimous support from banks throughout the country with total deposits of more than $42,000,000,000 was regarded as assured tonight by the committee of New York bankers which has completed the plan for creation of the National Credit Corporation to bolster the banking structure.

The committee, which is headed by Mortimer N. Buckner, president of the New York Clearing House Association, held almost continuous sessions through the day, and received numerous favorable telegraphic responses to the plan, which was wired to nearly 400 clearing house groups last night.

Incorporation papers were ready to be filed in Delaware for the new institution which proposes to raise $500,000,000 through the sale of debentures, and is authorized under the plan to increase the amount to $1,000,000,000. It is expected the papers will be filed the first of next week and, contrary to reports from Delaware, it was said the corporate title would probably be "The National Credit Corporation."

Buckner Seen as Head.

The names of the twelve directors, to be chosen on the basis of one from each Federal Reserve district, will probably be made public tomorrow. Under present plans, an organization meeting of the directorate is expected to be held next Tuesday, at which time officers will be chosen. Wall street was busy speculating as to who would head the corporation, and Mr. Buckner's name was widely mentioned as a probability.

The directors will have power to revise the plan of operation to some extent as occasion arises. It was explained that it would be truly national in scope, and that regional committees would be empowered to deal with local situations. It was explained that procedures probably would have to be varied in different States to comply with State laws.

The corporation will have authority to make loans in maturities up to one year, based on suitable collateral. The rates of interest on such loans will be determined by the directors of the corporation. It was hoped the rates of interest will not be higher than the rediscount rates of the Federal Reserve Banks of the various districts.

Liberal Credit Planned.

It was explained that the amount of credit which may be extended in the various districts probably will be permitted to exceed, if necessary, the amount of participation in the pool by the banks of the district, through the purchase of the corporation's debentures.

Subscribers to the debentures will be asked to pay for their subscriptions as the need for funds on the part of the corporation arises. For example, if sufficient paper is presented for rediscount to require $100,000,000, the corporation will call for 20 per cent of the subscriptions, assuming that the subscriptions aggregate $500,000,000.

Chicago Clearing House Heads Back Credit Pool

Chicago, Oct. 9 (A.P.).—Participation of the Chicago Clearing House Association in President Hoover's proposed $500,000,000 credit pool was recommended unanimously late today by the executive committee, and the committee chairman, George M. Reynolds, said he was certain the association would act favorably upon the committee's decision.

Mr. Reynolds, who is chairman of the executive committee of the Continental Illinois Bank & Trust Co., was personally enthusiastic about the President's scheme to rout the economic depression.

"I think the plan is constructive and that it is going to do a lot of good," he said. "I'm inclined to think this will be the turning point from the dull period through which we have been passing. I am sold on it."

The banker received this afternoon a 1,000-word telegram from Mortimer N. Buckner, chairman of the national organization committee of the National Credit Corporation, which has been established to administer the half-billion-dollar relief fund, explaining in more details the President's plan.

Mr. Reynolds warned, however, that the project must be handled conservatively if it is not to act as a boomerang.

Bankers to Debate Universal Money

Attendance of New York Reserve Head at Basle Causes Comment.

Basle Switzerland, Oct. 9 (A.P.).—Proposals to establish an international currency and the advisability of calling an international monetary conference are expected to come before the directors of the Bank for International Settlements at their meeting Sunday.

Montagu Norman, governor of the Bank of England, arrived at Basle tonight, and Randolph Burgess, deputy governor of the Federal Reserve Bank, of New York, is expected tomorrow, when informal conferences will begin.

The attendance of Mr. Burgess is regarded here as of the greatest significance and an indication that high American banking circles recognize the financial problem to be common to the entire world. Never before has the Federal Reserve sent an official to participate in the Bank for International Settlements discussions.

Ryves' Comet, Close to Sun Has Picture Taken at Dawn

Williams Bay, Wis., Oct. 9 (A.P.).—Ryves' comet, an illusive wanderer in the skies which for two months has played hide-and-seek in the rays of the sun, was seen and photographed today by astronomers at Yerkes Observatory here, it was announced by Director Edwin B. Frost.

So closely does this newly discovered comet follow the sun that astronomers, in a manner of speaking, had to catch it by stealth, Dr. Frost said. They waited until just before dawn and then, over the horizon, just ahead of the sun, came the comet.

Prof. George Van Biesbroeck leveled the great Yerkes telescope at the stranger, made his photographs and later in the day developed his plates. Astronomers were jubilant when they detected a tiny speck, and then ascertained by intricate calculations that the comet was just where it was supposed to be.

"The comet, at its closest approach, was within 7,000,000 miles of the sun," Prof. Frost said. "That is very close. It is, we determined, two hours East of the sun, about 7 degrees removed from it. And it will never be much of a success as a public spectacle for now, of the ninth magnitude, it is too faint for the naked eye to detect. It is at present 100 times fainter than when it was first observed on August 10. It was closest to the sun August 25, and so far as I know it was not seen until this morning since August 19."

P. M. Ryves, who discovered the comet and whose name it bears, is a British amateur astronomer living in Spain.

El Paso's Percentage Of Children Largest

(Associated Press.)

The patter of little feet is heaviest on the pavements of El Paso, Tex., and lightest on the sidewalks of San Francisco.

A Census Bureau age-summary for cities of more than 100,000 today showed that 11.1 per cent of El Paso's population was under 5 years old, as against but 5.1 per cent for San Francisco.

The El Paso children numbered 11,419 in a 102,421 population. San Francisco had 32,314 in 634,394. For the urban population as a whole the percentage under 5 was 8.2.

In 32 of the 93 cities there were more persons over 75 years old than there were infants under 1 year.

RITCHIE FOR HOOVER IDEA WITH AN "IF"

Support of Plan Is Urged in Address Here if It Aids Country.

(Associated Press.)

Gov. Albert C. Ritchie last night bespoke cooperation—conditioned on an "if" in President Hoover's plan to free financial assets and stimulate business.

The Marylander, who has been mentioned for the Democratic presidential nomination, turned to the new plan after attacking administration doings before the Woman's National Democratic Club.

"As good citizens, sick at heart over the depression and anxious to bend all our energies to relieve it," he said, "it behooves us to study the far-reaching effects of this plan and to cooperate loyally if it will help the country. If it will do that, it will be among the very few actions of the Government which has."

Gov. Ritchie spoke before 120 men and women at the first of a series of dinners at which the club expects to hear all the Democratic governors this winter.

The governor hammered on the 1930 tariff, recent Farm Board moves, and the depression. He left out prohibition.

Calling up a Hoover speech at Palo Alto in 1928, he said at that time the President "said that every woman has a right to ask whether 'her man's' job will be better assured by the continuance of the Republican party in power."

"What," Ritchie asked, "has the Republican party to say to the woman who asks where 'her man's' job is now?"

With a warning from the administration, the governor asserted, "the crash might not have been so bad."

"Instead they told us to spend because prosperity was just around the corner * * *," he continued. "Then the new tariff was going to cure it all * * * then it developed that the trouble was due to 'world-wide forces' and 'international repercussions,' and the Government which, for ten years, refused to recognize any connection between German reparations and foreign debts, was forced to recognize that there was a very direct connection, and to propose and secure a moratorium on that account. That, however, did not settle very much.

"The vital time will come when the year is up, when our Government will be face to face with the question whether our future welfare and the stability of the world require either an extension—or a readjustment."

EDISON AGAIN SINKS AFTER FAINT RALLY

Aroused From Stupor, He Is Able to Sit Up as Barber Shaves Him.

West Orange, N. J., Oct. 9 (A.P.). The family of Thomas A. Edison eagerly grasped a thread of hope today when the aged inventor sat up in bed long enough to be shaved.

However, Dr. Hubert S. Howe had found it difficult to rouse Mr. Edison in the morning, and said then that the stout-hearted veteran of long hours in the laboratory seemed to be slipping into a stupor.

Such a condition, he said, usually precedes a complete coma. Dr. Howe explained that a patient could be roused from a stupor, but not from a comatose state.

Rocco Salomine, of Orange, the barber who has shaved Mr. Edison for the last ten years, was called in to shave him.

"Mr. Edison evidently recognized me from the movements of my hands on his face," Salomine said as he left the house.

"'Oh, it's the barber,' I heard him say when I finished. He smiled wanly and lifted his hand from the pillows as if to wave me good-by."

"Mr. Edison has spent a quiet comfortable day," said a bulletin issued by Charles Edison, his son, at 5 p. m. "There seems to be little change in his condition since this morning."

Mrs. Edison relaxed her vigil at her husband's bedside during the morning for a stroll in the flower garden. With her were Mrs. John Eyre Sloane, her daughter; Charles Edison and Dr. Howe. Mrs. Edison seemed composed, her face framed in the turned up collar of her white coat.

"I do not think that it is immediately imminent," Dr. Howe told newspapermen after the walk. "But I would not be surprised to receive an emergency call at any time."

"Mr. Edison went to sleep at 8:30 o'clock and is now sleeping peacefully," Charles Edison said in the usual evening bulletin. "There was no apparent change in his condition at 10 o'clock."

New York Loses $55,866,000 Gold

Exports Are $70,168,000; $14,302,800 Added to Import Account.

New York, Oct. 9 (A.P.). — Gold transportation reported today by the Federal Reserve Bank of New York showed a net decrease of $55,866,000 in stocks of the metal held here.

Exports for the day, including an increase of $22,400,000 in gold earmarked for foreign account, amounted to $70,168,800, while imports totaled $14,302,800. The exports included $41,307,000 to France, $2,935,000 to Holland, $2,119,900 to Belgium and $614,000 to Mexico.

Under the heading of imports the bank's statement carried an unusual item, showing receipt of $9,018,800 from Sweden. It marked the first time in many months that any of the metal had been received from that country. Part of the total was consigned to the Federal Reserve Bank of New York. The remainder of the imports, $5,284,000, came from Argentina, and was consigned to the National City Bank, of New York.

3 CONVICTS ESCAPE PRISON IN MARYLAND

Climbing Ventilator to Roof, Long-Term Men Scale Walls.

Three prisoners serving long terms in the Maryland House of Correction climbed to the top of the cell block in the main building at Jessups, Md., worked their way through ventilators to the roof, made their way to the ground and escaped at 7 o'clock last night.

They were still at liberty at a late hour. Baltimore police, State and county police and authorities of nearby cities were given minute descriptions of the fugitives and a careful watch for them was being maintained.

The prisoners are William A. Knott, 33, serving twenty years for burglary and for shooting Patrolman Samuel J. Monkhouse, of the Central district, Baltimore police; Robert Minners, 29, serving a twenty-year term for robbery, and George Meredith, 19, also serving twenty years for robbery.

At the time of their escape the trio were wearing overalls and jumpers. When notified of their getaway, Capt. John Carey, night commander of Baltimore police, issued orders to police to "shoot first and talk afterward" if the fugitives were cornered.

The method of escape was similar to that employed by Jack Hart in his last escape from the Maryland Penitentiary in Baltimore.

The men reached the ground after making their way to the roof in a manner not yet ascertained. The escape occurred while the prisoners were at liberty from their cells for a recreation hour, which is given previous to their being locked up for the night.

The main building was erected in 1928 and is of the latest type prison construction. From the top of the cell block to the roof, where access can be made to the ventilators is about 15 feet.

CAPONE IS WORRIED AT INCOME TRIAL

gangster later, according to the evidence.

An insight into Capone's life at the Metropole Hotel in Chicago was given to the court by Fred Avery, former manager of the establishment. It was Avery who told of Capone's $3,000 two-day banquet starting the night of the Dempsey-Tunney fight here several years ago.

Avery also told of the big gangster's $5 tips to bell boys and clerks, his eight room suite on the fourth floor of the hotel, and his unusually large bills for "incidentals." The manager identified a hotel record showing payments of bills for "incidentals" running as high as $1,633.

Capone appeared greatly worried by the proceedings. He whispered excitedly to defense attorneys, Michael Ahern and Albert Fink, leaned forward to catch each bit of testimony —and clinched his fists tightly when witnesses told of his alleged large receipts of money or of his expenditures.

Carried Money Loosely.

Each of the witnesses who had financial dealings with Capone said he carried thousands of dollars at a time in a loosely wrapped roll of currency in his trousers pocket. Avery said he paid the $3,000 banquet bill from the roll, and Henderson said the $10,000 down payment on the Miami Beach home came from the same place.

Capone looked pleased only a few times during the day's sessions. Once was while a witness was relating attempts of Florida county and State officials to drive the gangster out of Florida.

"I'm a gambler, but I never was a bootlegger in all my whole life," the witness, Miss Ruth Gaskin, a Miami stenographer, quoted the Chicago underworld leader as saying.

Miss Gaskin attended a conference between Capone and Robert R. Taylor, Dade County solicitor, in Miami on February 14, 1929. Solicitor Taylor wished to learn what Capone was doing in Florida, how long he proposed to stay, and what was his business. Capone was evasive, however, and Taylor learned little from him, Miss Gaskin's stenographic record of the meeting showed.

FUGITIVES FROM LORTON SOUGHT

3 CONVICTS HUNTED AS 2 ARE CAPTURED

Lorton Posse Uses Bloodhounds in Closing In on Escaped Trio.

An armed posse of Lorton Reformatory guards, aided by bloodhounds, were last night closing in on three escaped convicts who are believed to be hiding in a swamp 3 miles south of Alexandria, after their escape Thursday night from the penal institution.

Those at large are Edward Larson, serving four years for grand larceny; John Irwin, five years for robbery, and Mack Feirst, two years for grand larceny. Two others who escaped were recaptured early yesterday by armed guards, who encountered them at the edge of the swamp.

The recaptured convicts are William Sullivan, serving five years for grand larceny, and Richard Stockton, who is serving three years for a similar offense. Stockton is declared to have begun his criminal career after being inspired by dime novels and watching gangster movies.

These two were captured when the guards encountered the five near the edge of the swamp. They surrendered when shots were fired in the air. The other three fled into the swamp, with bloodhounds in their wake. Sullivan and Stockton were returned to the reformatory and placed in solitary confinement.

Sullivan was sentenced for stealing valuable books from the homes of prominent Georgetown residents. They escaped from the reformatory after forcing a window. Their flight was discovered a few hours later.

of the Bureau of Standards, indicates that low gas pressure is responsible for much trouble, annoyance and possible danger to consumers, and is the cause of numerous complaints. It further shows that with higher pressures, within limits, of course, the efficiency of the gas flame increases, more heat units are delivered in less time.

"Tests have shown that when appliances are adjusted to any particular pressure, variations of pressure up or down of as much as 50 per cent (50%) will not make necessary further adjustments.

"It is not feasible to supply gas to the appliances of consumers at an absolutely uniform pressure, but if conditions in the future make it practicable, the now authorized variations of pressure may be further limited.

"The flow of gas, the height of the flame, and, consequently, the amount of gas used, can be readily controlled by the use of the burner-cocks. No matter what is the allowed pressure, it is always necessary, in the cause of economy and efficiency, to regulate the gas flame by means of these burner-cocks whenever such are part of the gas-consuming appliances. All gas users should manipulate these burner-cocks in such a way as to secure the desired results with the measure of economy which is under their own control.

"In the case of pilot flames of oil burners and water-heating apparatus, if these have not been adjusted to the gas pressures now allowed, such adjustments should be made at once.

"With the gas pressure limits now authorized by the commission, it is believed that the interests of consumers are adequately protected, while the company can, at the same time, operate efficiently. Should there be any failure on the part of the company to maintain pressures within the authorized limits, the commission will take steps to enforce the appropriate penalty."

SUIT ASKS $481,272 FROM PITTS' SURETY

Smith Company Demands Reimbursement by Indemnity Firm.

A suit to compel the Hartford Accident & Indemnity Co., of 925 Fifteenth street northwest, to reimburse the F. H. Smith Co. for losses suffered through the embezzlements of G. Bryan Pitts, former chairman of the board of that company, was filed in the District Supreme Court yesterday by Attorneys Conrad H. Syme and W. W. Ross.

The Smith Company contends it held a contract with the indemnity company that covered it to the extent of $200,000 annually. The suit charges Pitts embezzled $81,272.98 in the year from January 2, 1927, to January 2, 1928; that he embezzled $883,484.74 in the following year, and $328,186.85 in the third year.

Payment to the extent of the bond is asked for the last two years, and the amount allegedly embezzled in 1927 is sought at its face value, making a total of $481,272.98 sought from the surety company.

The attorneys claim that it was impossible to discover Pitts' acts until evidence was produced by the Government in his trial. Pitts is now serving fourteen years.

tended to pass a criminal statute and yet in the same act permit an exemption of the production of papers which become the very basis of the prosecution."

Both before and after the court ruled, the grand jury, whose 23 members include three women, continued to hear testimony. E J Armsbruster, Justice Department agent who audited Bishop Cannon's accounts, was longest on the stand.

Others testifying included Mrs. Rhea Meyers and Mrs. Ruby Brook, of Richmond, Va., respective operators of mimeograph and printing establishments; Ernest M. Kull, cashier of the Hudson County National Bank, of Jersey City, and C. B. Stevens, haberdasher, of Charlottesville, Va.

Trolley-Auto Crash Sends 1 to Hospital

Skull and Arm Fractures and Internal Injuries Suffered by Driver.

A street car and an auto crashed head on at Connecticut avenue and Albemarle street last night, sending one person to the hospital, shaking up several passengers in the trolley car and demolishing the smaller vehicle.

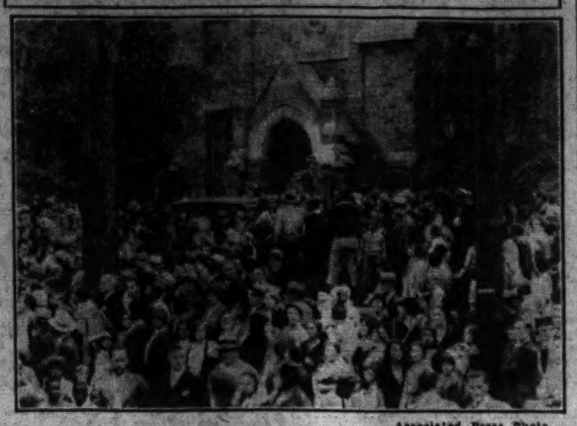

Wayne D. Bronson, 19, 1724 Park road northwest, is in Emergency Hospital with a possible skull fracture, internal injuries and compound fracture of the left arm. Police reported he was driving the auto and attempted to pass a southbound trolley on the left side, colliding with a northbound car.

Raymond Holt, motorman, and Everett Strawdermann, conductor, were in charge of the Capital Traction Co. car which figured in the collision.

SHIP FIRMS TO BUY U. S. LINES JOINTLY

Virtual Agreement Brings Talk of Readjusting Routes and Rates.

San Francisco, Oct. 9 (A.P.).—Representatives of East and West Coast shipping lines, in conference with Herbert Fleishhacker, financier, here today, were understood to have virtually agreed on joint acquisition and operation of the United States Lines.

While none of those at the conference would comment on the proceedings, it was learned a general understanding had been arrived at concerning the United States Lines. Indications were an agreement would be signed before October 15.

The shipping magnates attending the conference were R. Stanley Dollar, representing the Dollar Lines and controlled companies; John M. Franklin, of the International Mercantile Marine group; Kermit Roosevelt, of the Roosevelt Lines, and K. D. Dawson, Portland, Oreg., head of a group of transpacific lines. Paul W. Chapman, president of the United States Lines, also was represented.

The Dollar-Chapman-Dawson group has been battling with the I. M. M.-Roosevelt Lines for the right to purchase the United States Lines.

Further than the virtual agreement for joint acquisition of the U. S. Lines, there was expected to result from the conference a remaking of the steamship map of the world, so far as ships flying the American flag are concerned.

Discussion of the possibility of adjusting rates and routes in such a way as to eliminate wasteful competition, thereby improving the position of the companies, has been made part of the conference. Such adjustments would affect intercoastal and transatlantic rates.

Although all parties to the conference denied any merger was being negotiated or contemplated, none was prepared to say such a merger would be impossible.

Ratification of the agreement would result in purchase of the United States Lines through a holding company, with each of the companies a stockholder.

Conferences were scheduled to be resumed here tomorrow. They are held in strict secrecy.

HOOVER MAY FAVOR COAL CONTROL PACT

Movement for State Action to Guard Resources Is Held Significant.

(Associated Press.)

The movement to control natural resources through State agreements, exemplified particularly by the efforts of Texas, California and Oklahoma to curtail oil production, is regarded by the Hoover administration as of unusual significance.

The most recent step in this direction has been taken by the bituminous coal industry. Operators, faced with shutdowns or running at a loss, have asked the governors of Pennsylvania, West Virginia, Kentucky and Ohio to appoint commissions to study the possibility of an interState compact controlling coal production.

There have been indications of a growing sentiment among lumber men, particularly on the West Coast, to apply the same principle to their industry. A strong trade organization, however, will be given a chance to demonstrate its ability to deal with production before any steps are taken toward a State compact.

The State compact idea had its origin in the Colorado River basin compact entered into by the States along that stream as the preliminary move in the building of Hoover Dam.

Such action by oil producing States was urged by President Hoover and by Secretary Wilbur in 1929. It was discussed at length at a conference of oil State governors at Colorado Springs in June, 1929, but no definite action was taken. Shortly after California put into effect an oil and gas law on which Texas and Oklahoma have based the laws dramatically applied recently at the points of National Guard bayonets.

Uniform State laws controlling production, in the opinion of the Hoover administration, do not come within the sphere of the antitrust laws, although agreements by producers themselves to do the same thing were declared illegal by Attorney General Mitchell in the case of the oil industry.

The spread of the idea to the coal industry is expected by the administration to remedy some of the ills now causing heavy losses to operators and difficulties between operators and their labor.

Any State compact will have to have approval of Congress.

COURT DENIES PLEA FOR FARE-CUT DATA

Street Car Companies Are Upheld Over Public Utilities Group.

The street car companies won their first skirmish with the Public Utilities Commission yesterday in the battle over the 3-cent fare for school children when Justice Jennings Bailey, in the District Supreme Court, ruled against the request of counsel for the commission that the companies make their bills of complaint more specific.

The matter was brought into the courts through the action of the Capital Traction Co. and the Washington Railway & Electric Co. They asked that the court review the action of the commission in "arbitrarily" setting up a reduced fare for school children.

People's Counsel Richmond B. Keech, and William A. Roberts, assistant corporation counsel, filed a plea to force the companies to detail more specifically their allegations that they had sustained serious financial losses through the reduced fare. They asked many questions about the total number of reduced fare passengers, and the additional equipment and expense made necessary through the reduction in fare.

The action of Justice Bailey means that the original bills of the railway companies attacking the action of the commission stand as they did originally. The case will now be heard on its merits. No date has been set for the hearing.

Three Sewer Contracts Are Let by Commission

Three sewer contracts were awarded yesterday by the District Commissioners.

Schlegel was given the jobs of constructing the V street replacement sewer, between Sixteenth and Seventeenth streets northwest, and the Seventeenth street stormwater sewer, between Blagden and Colorado avenues northwest, on his low bids of $1,898.59 and $3,690.45, respectively. The J. D. McCrary Co. was given the job of building the Porter street stormwater sewer for $17,098.61.

hundreds of other trinkets and treasures.

It was said at the hotel today that Mrs. Wood objects to the appointment by the court of Otis Wood as guardian over her interests. Wood is a son of the late Fernando Wood, who was mayor of New York, and a brother of Mrs. Wood's husband.

The old lady's friends say she objects to being bothered. Now that they have taken away her money she weeps in her modest hotel room.

"If they don't stop bothering me," she told a friend, "I'm going to run away. I was happy before they started bothering me."

She insists that she is still young, mentally alert, and able to take care of herself. For years she has lived at the old hotel, cooking her own meals in her room on a tiny electric stove. Few persons ever came to see her and she did not go out.

The floor chambermaid, a woman named Margaret, used to talk to her, and Mrs. Wood liked her. But Margaret disappeared a few weeks ago, it is reported, after the courts had interested themselves in her aged friend.

Rubber Floor Covering To Save House Money

(Associated Press.)

Blue and buff will be the cheerful floor color note for sessions of the next House, but is the result of an eye for economy rather than beauty.

Rubber flooring will be laid in the House chamber instead of the carpets heretofore put down for each new Congress to muffle the steps of members in the heat of gesticulatory, stamping debate.

The tinted floor surfacing, estimated William Tyler Page, House clerk, would save $10,000 in about twelve years by its durability as compared with carpets. Replacement of carpets each year had been necessary because of tobacco stains, cigarette and cigar burns.

MAYOR TALKS AIMEE OUT OF HALF PROFIT

Boston Jobless Win as Curley Cites Texas Guinan as Model for Evangel.

Boston, Oct. 9 (U.P.).—Aimee Semple McPherson Hutton visited Mayor James M. Curley today and received a sample of Irish wit that may cost her half the profits of her revival here.

The mayor was bland and hospitable and his smile of welcome contained no guile. There were a few social banalities in the way of introductions and then the mayor got to the point.

"You are to be at the Garden all next week?" he asked.

"Yes," Aimee replied.

"We have a number of unemployed here and I think it would be fitting if you gave half your profits to the unemployed."

The evangelist was taken aback. She suggested that the mayor was joking, but he made it clear that he was not. He pointed out that "It was better to give than to receive," that "it was our divine Lord's own admonition to share with others," and that Texas Guinan, whoopee queen, had agreed to share her profits with Boston's unemployed. It would not look well, he intimated, if Texas outdid Aimee in good works, if not in faith.

After the interview Aimee and her staff said they were "confused" about the agreement and were not sure that any agreement had been reached. Frederick C. Winters, the evangelist's manager, said he understood Mayor Curley's welfare board was to receive one-half above expenses—$2,600 a night—provided the mayor makes a personal visit to the Garden each night and helps collect the offering.

Mayor Curley, however, was in no way confused. He issued a formal statement, in which he said Aimee and her husband "waited on his honor, the mayor, today, and, at the suggestion of the mayor, agreed to turn over half of the proceeds" for the benefit of the public welfare department.

NIGHT SCHOOL TOTAL CLIMBS NEAR 10,000

Third Session Sees Increase of 854 Students Over Earlier Mark.

Night school enrollments, continued to break records last night—third session of the session—when 9,713 students were enrolled in seventeen schools.

This represented an increase of 854 over Wednesday. Director Edward J. Lockwood, forced to employ ten additional teachers to cope with the demand, reported that classes reorganized Wednesday because they were too large, were again filled to overflowing last night. Once more the chief congestion was at the McKinley, Business and Hine schools.

Although present funds do not permit any increase in the staff of teachers, he said some of those now serving can be laid off as students drop out.

A class in steam engineering was opened last night for the first time at McKinley High School. Forty students enrolled.

The seven white night schools reported revised enrollment of 7,447, as follows: MacFarland, 384; McKinley, 2,457; Business, 2,040; Abbott, 156; Americanizatzion, 532; Hine, 767; Jefferson, 111.

Colored night schools, with total enrollment of 3,266, reported as follows: Armstrong, 585; Shaw, 1,119; Bell, 128; Deanwood, 47; Burrville, 55; Lovejoy, 113; Slater, 72; Garnet-Patterson, 988; Francis, 149, and Briggs, 10.

ers look for the chancellor to emerge victorious.

Meanwhile, the Nationalist opposition, consisting of Alfred Hugenberg's Nationalists and Adolf Hitler's National Socialists, has been called into a joint conclave at Harzburg Sunday. Members of the "steel helmet" faction and some leaders of the People's party also have been invited to the meeting.

The chancellor's nomination of Gen. Groener, former Kaiser Wilhelm's last quartermaster-general, for the double post of army and police head is expected to have a restraining influence on the Harzburg gathering.

Furthermore, President von Hindenburg and Adolf Hitler are to meet tomorrow. The president, it was understood, intends to talk bluntly to the fiery "Nazi" leader, who is young enough to be his son.

Adjournment to Be Pushed.

Chancellor Bruening will have to face the Reichstag with a new cabinet Tuesday, but parties behind the government are determined to force a speedy adjournment of the legislative body over the winter, leaving the chancellor as dictator of Germany in fact, if not in name.

President Von Hindenburg has written a personal letter of thanks to each departing minister. To Dr. Curtius he was especially cordial, saying: "More than five years you, as minister of economics and foreign minister, devoted your whole strength to the country's service. Therefore I desire especially to thank you in the name of the Reich and personally for your services in these difficult years."

states, and from countenancing action inimical to the security of such states."

Before taking any action the State Department is sounding out the opinions of other signatories of this treaty. In particular Secretary Stimson advised by Prentiss Gilbert, American "observer" in Geneva at the League of Nations, of the league's position in the matter as explained to him by Sir Eric Drummond, secretary general of the league, will not take any further move until he is assured such a step will not conflict with league council action.

Under the terms of the same treaty the Secretary of State can undertake "full and frank communication between the powers concerned."

Senator Brookhart (Republican), Iowa, yesterday declared the United States Government "ought to make strong protest to Japan, which is the aggressor in this whole affair. The United States could join with the League of Nations in a demand that the war now going on in Manchuria be stopped. The civilized governments ought to stop it."

League Council Called.

Geneva, Oct. 9 (A.P.).—The Manchurian situation, arising out of the reported bombing of Chinchow by Japanese, will be discussed by the League of Nations council in an urgent session called for Tuesday.

The Chinese government appealed to the league today for the meeting. As many foreign ministers as possible are being sent to attend it.

The situation apparently was regarded as serious. Alejandro Lerroux, president of the council, addressed through Sir Eric Drummond, secretary general of the league, an urgent appeal to the governments of China and Japan to avoid aggravation of the situation.

The understanding here was that Secretary of State Stimson had renewed the assurance of American cooperation in discussion of the Manchurian affair.

Lord Reading, British foreign minister, is expected in Geneva Tuesday morning for the urgent session.

Dr. Alfred Sze, Chinese delegate, saw Secretary Drummond this morning, after receiving telegrams from the Nanking government, and requested the meeting. Sir Eric immediately telephoned to Senor Lerroux at Madrid and to other council members. The announcement then was made that the meeting originally fixed for October 14 would be held a day earlier.

Soon after Dr. Sze's visit to the secretary, Prentiss B. Gilbert, American consul at Geneva, called at the invitation of Sir Eric and received full information concerning the situation.

Fear was expressed in league circles tonight that if the efforts at pacification failed a change of government in China might follow, and at the same time the future of disarmament negotiations and of American cooperation with the league in this and other fields might be jeopardized.

Rival Nations Warned.

"Information we have received tends to show that incidents are taking place in Manchuria and elsewhere which can not but embitter feeling and thus render a settlement more difficult," said President Lerroux's telegram to the Chinese and Japanese governments.

"It is my duty to remind the two parties of the engagements they have undertaken before the council to refrain from any action which would aggravate the situation, and to express the confident hope that steps are being taken by both sides to execute the assurances given to the council."

Other members of the league council and the United States Government were asked to forward any information they had regarding developments in Manchuria.

Military Group Gaining.

Tokyo, Japan, Oct. 9 (U.P.).—The government of Premier Reijiro Wakatsuki appeared tonight to have been forced to accept the firm attitude of the Japanese military group in dealing with the Manchurian conflict, despite the strong conciliatory policy of Baron Shidehara, foreign minister.

The government was understood to have given full approval of the Japanese airplane attack on Manchurian provisional headquarters at Chinchow, taking the position that even if the bombings had not been sanctioned, the commanding general in Mahchuria acted within his powers in ordering the raid.

It was understood that a general restatement of the Japanese position and an indication of the basis on which Japan is ready to negotiate with China for settlement of the conflict was contained in a new note prepared for transmission to the Nanking government. Cabinet members admitted that the note sent yesterday protesting the spread of anti-Japanese agitation in China was for foreign consumption as well as a warning to China, designed to prepare world opinion for additional military measures to protect Japanese interests.

All indications of a wider rift between the foreign office and the military authorities were minimized by the government.

NO EXTRA SESSION.

Democratic members of Congress are again clamoring for an extra session. President Hoover's plan for relieving pressure upon the Nation's financial institutions gives them an excuse to demand immediate legislation. But the spectacle of Democratic senators pleading for an extra session of Congress for the sole purpose of aiding a Republican President's relief program is too great a strain upon the credulity of the public. In reality the Democrats want Congress to assemble so that they can begin sniping at the President two months ahead of schedule.

No actual need for an extra session exists. Organization of a $1,000,000,000 banking pool to thaw out frozen assets has been completed with remarkable speed. Already the President's plan has injected new confidence into the country. Every indication strengthens the belief that the emergency will be met by this mobilization of private capital.

Advocates of an extra session mistake the true nature of President Hoover's relief proposals. His chief purpose was to consolidate the efforts of finance and business in a movement to restore confidence. That requires teamwork on the part of leaders in the economic world rather than legislation. Mr. Hoover will recommend liberalization of the Federal Reserve act and extension of capital to the Federal Land Banks when Congress reconvenes in December. But the banks already have practical assurance that these readjustments will be carried out. Even though the laws remain unchanged until December, the country will reap benefits from the assurance that such relief is on the way.

President Hoover made it plain that he would recommend the creation of a Federal finance corporation only if that becomes necessary. The success of his emergency banking organization will probably obviate the need for such legislation. If the President should call an extra session it would give the impression that his plan for mobilizing bank resources had failed. Public confidence that sprang out of the White House conference would be shattered.

When Congress returns to Washington a reaction toward partisanship may be expected. Under present circumstances national efforts are being concentrated on one sound and practical plan. With Congress in operation there would be a hundred plans. Politicians would come forth with schemes to relieve their own constituents at the expense of all Federal taxpayers. Democrats would certainly offer substitute remedies in order to capture credit for their own party.

In view of the political texture of the Seventy-second Congress, it is difficult to understand how any one could urge that it be in session a day longer than is necessary. With a presidential election in the offing, with membership of both houses almost equally divided between the two parties, and with a first-class depression to squabble about, Congress may be expected to indulge in a greater display of politics than the country has witnessed for years. President Hoover is to be commended for delaying this fulmination of partisanship as long as possible.

One other factor which makes it virtually certain that there will be no extra session is the close division of the House. Five special elections are to be held in November to fill vacant House seats. The outcome of those elections will probably determine which party will organize the House.

DANIEL CHESTER FRENCH.

The dean of American sculptors died quietly in his sleep after a fortnight of illness. Daniel Chester French will be buried on Sunday in the family plot at Concord, Mass. It was in Concord that Mr. French at the age of 23 designed his most famous early statue, "The Minute Man." This work was accepted by the citizens of Concord at a meeting presided over by Ralph Waldo Emerson. It brought early renown to the artist. Nearly a half century later the sculptor completed his statue of Lincoln, which is familiar to all Washingtonians. It is the heroic figure in the Lincoln Memorial.

Born in Exeter, N. H., in 1850, Daniel Chester French was the son of Henry Flagg and Anne Richardson French. His father was a judge and later Assistant Secretary of the Treasury. As a small boy Daniel was interested in birds and nature, but showed no signs of his great talent. It was Louisa M. Alcott who suggested he might model some of the birds he loved and who gave him his first clay and tools. Later he attended Dr. William Rimmer's lectures on anatomy in art. He went to the Massachusetts Institute of Technology for a year and studied for a time with J. Q. A. Ward, the most famous sculptor of the day. Later he went to Europe, but not until after he had received recognition at home for his celebrated "Minute Man."

Mr. French received honors and distinctions abroad as well as in this country. In 1910 he was made a chevalier of the Legion of Honor by France and later a member of the fine arts class of the French Academy. Many honorary degrees were awarded him by American universities, but some of the individual tributes are perhaps the greatest that he received. Lorado Taft said of him that he was "a very dear friend and a lovely character. * * * He instilled in his sculptures poetic qualities that were inspiring." Emerson, on seeing the likeness French had made of him, declared, "Yes, that is the face I shave every morning."

One of his most famous works is "Death and the Sculptor," which won for him the medal of the Paris Salon of 1892. In Washington is to be seen another of his masterpieces. The statue of Dr. Gallaudet with his first deaf mute pupil has been described "as beautiful as a strain of music." Mr. French's statue of Lewis Cass in the Capitol is often considered the finest piece in the national sculpture gallery. Washington is fortunate to possess so many fine statues by this sculptor, whose passing is a great loss to the artistic world.

MacDONALD'S PLATFORM.

Premier Ramsay MacDonald's program for rehabilitation of Great Britain will be read with interest far beyond the bounds of the "tight little isle." Although he asks for support of the British electorate without giving any definite pledges, Mr. MacDonald intimates that the coalition of Conservatives, Liberals and outcast Laborites has at its command inexhaustible resources for relief of the national as well as the international situation.

That part of his platform which is of special interest to Americans declares the intention of the MacDonald coalition to "enter into international conferences regarding the economic and financial situation of the world." He points out that, in addition to an uneconomic distribution of gold and a freezing of credits, Britain is confronted with the "consequences of paying, or trying to pay, war debts." The government must use its influence, he says, to remove these impediments to commerce and finance.

This talk is, of course, intended for home consumption. Premier MacDonald is well aware of the fact that the United States will not enter into an economic conference for the discussion of war debts and reparations. If any action is taken it will be through negotiations with individual nations. By holding out hopes of an international conference to cure the ills of the world at the expense of the United States Mr. MacDonald, no doubt, hopes to turn attention away from the nebulous formula which the coalition has evolved for dealing with domestic questions.

No definite stand on domestic issues could be expected from such an incompatible group as that which Mr. MacDonald has brought together to support the national government. The coalition's manifesto holds out hope for stabilization of the pound, curtailment of imports, expansion of exports and balancing of the budget. But it wants to be free to adopt any methods that may be expedient. In effect Mr. MacDonald asks the British electorate to vote unlimited authority to the coalition and to let it use its best judgment to meet a changing situation.

In spite of this unsatisfactory program, the Labor party will find it difficult to make any headway in the campaign. The Laborites are finding Arthur Henderson uninspiring, and they are entering the campaign with no enthusiasm. Since the more conservative element has broken away from the party it has become more radically socialistic. It is highly improbable that the British people would intrust the reins of authority to the Hendersonites in this national emergency. The only alternative to rabid socialism is to give Premier MacDonald's conglomeration of incongruous elements a carte blanche.

KANSAS IS RESTLESS.

It looks very much as though Kansas intended to have one of her spells. Spells do not strike Kansas all of a sudden. When the Sunflower State goes on a spree it is duly deliberated. Kansas always knows what she wants. There's less than 2 per cent of illiteracy in her 80,000 square miles. Jayhawkers read Senator Capper's varied offerings as well as other newspapers, and they have ideas of their own.

Last year it would have been just as funny to talk about limiting oil production with the State militia as it seems now to propose some such strong-arm measures for curtailing wheat acreage. In Kansas, Oklahoma and Texas oil prices have been improved by military restrictive measures and Kansas farmers are not only thinking, but talking.

At least one wheat belt county has resolved in favor of requiring every farmer who wants to raise wheat to secure a State permit that would designate the number of acres he could plant. The farmers have had their experience with voluntary limitation of acreage and they find that the cupidity of the individual overcomes the good resolutions of the mass and results in a greater acreage than ever.

But Kansas farmers and other citizens are not interested only in wheat curtailment for higher prices. They want public expense curtailment for lower taxes, and the determination that is displayed throughout the State indicates that action will be demanded. When the ire of Kansas farmers is aroused they mean business. They are ready to apply the ax to State salaries, to commissions and bureaus, and even school-teachers' salaries. County agencies may be consolidated. With modern transportation facilities available to all, one center, it is claimed, could serve several counties as readily as one in each county does now.

Kansas isn't going Populist again, but it does appear determined upon some reforms. The low price of farm products has aroused unrest, and when Kansas gets restless it must have action. In the last election for governor the "goat gland" doctor who was not on either the Republican or Democratic ticket, but who had a radio station, polled a remarkable vote. He broadcast his political talks and his prescriptions. His remedies for both personal ailments and those of the body politic were free. Kansans did not want a "goat gland" doctor for governor, but they did want to kick over the traces. It looks as if the time were ripe for a political Wild West show, such as only the Sunflower State can stage.

Ramsay MacDonald wants an international conference on economic affairs of the world. Maybe he could strike a bargain with the silverites.

Representative Patman is that fellow who thinks incompatibility with a congressman is grounds for impeachment of a Cabinet officer.

Oklahoma may be enthusiastic about its governor, but it hasn't yet changed its nickname to the "hay-fever" State.

One important aspect of that transpacific hop is that two more Americans have forgotten about the depression.

"MENTAL ATHLETES"

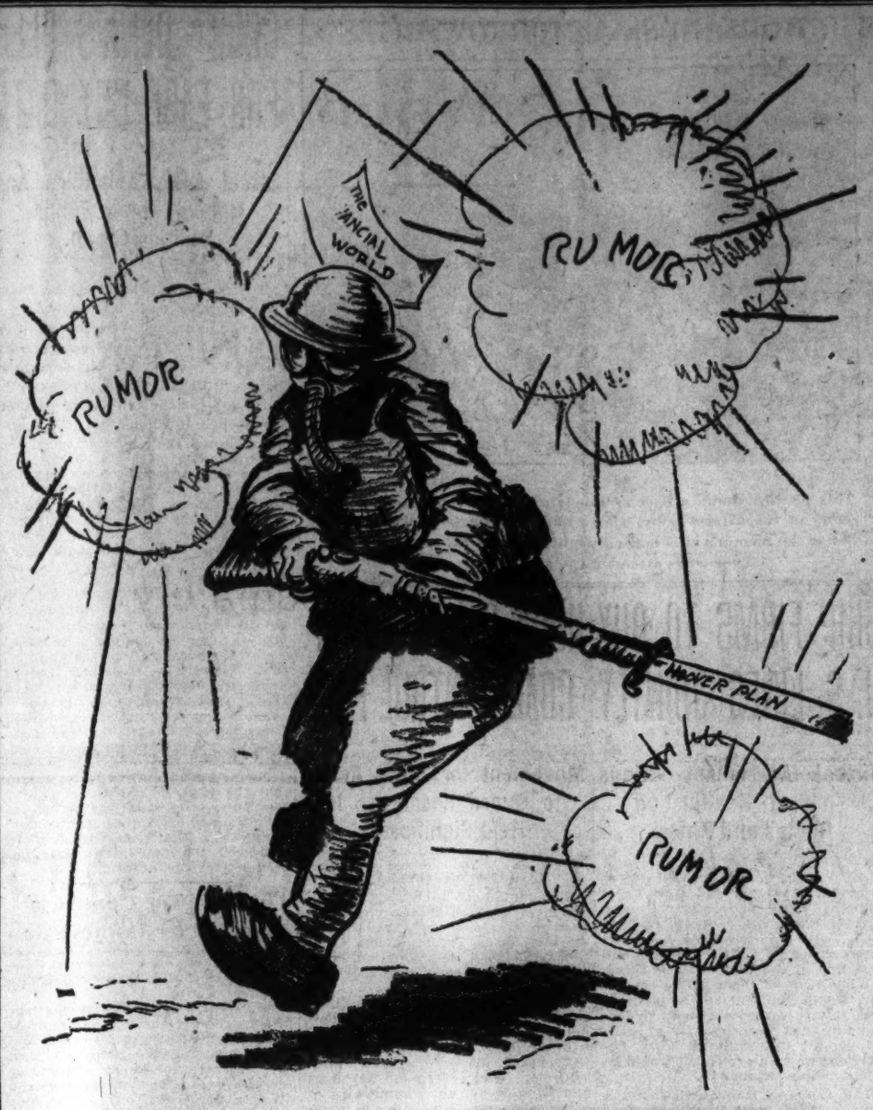

From the Boston Transcript.

Much has been written of late about the brain resources of great men, and often we have been told, to the disparagement of our own age, that we have made little if any advance in intellectual power since the days when it flowered out into what Poe called "the glory that was Greece" and "the grandeur that was Rome." Whence the delay, if any? A partial explanation of it came from William James when he claimed that we were not using our brains to their full capacity, and now Dr. A. Hrdlicka, anthropologist of the Smithsonian Institution, stresses that point of view with impressive figures. He asserts that man has from 10 to 100 times more brain power than he uses, and that there is no failure or degeneration of the organ as such, but merely neglect to keep it in working order by precautions in the interest of bodily health. He is of the opinion that, "with a rich blood supply, and no waste matter cluttering the cells," man might become "a mental athlete," and "rise mentally above all life's perplexities."

Think, moreover, of the brain resources backing it all. George Howard Parker, the zoologist, tells us that the cerebral cortex is made up of about 9,200,000,000 nerve cells, that these are "the materials whose activities represent all human mental states, sensations, memories, volitions, emotions, affections, the highest flights of poetry, the most profound thoughts of philosophy, the most far-reaching theories of science;" and that "it is this small amount of protoplasm in each of us—in size rather less than a cubic inch—which our whole educational system is concerned in training, and which serves us through a lifetime in the growth of personality."

Meanwhile Sir Arthur Keith points out that it was the machinery of the brain which discovered the uses of fire and of iron, found out the elements which compose the earth, sun and stars, and laid bare the laws which regulate the movements of planets. And after saying that Shakespeare's plays were conceived and written by such an instrument he adds: "The brain machine has discovered how to bridge space and time; it balances and determines the fates of armies, fleets and nations."

Why, then, be downhearted over the outlook for brain use and brain development in the future? The past century, by expert use of the "brain machine," has brought in all the modern wonders of science, from radio messages circling the earth to airplanes beating the bird at its own game—marvels that would have been treated by the Greeks and Romans as so much wizardry, and even by our ancestors in the time of George Washington as mental delusions with no foundation in fact. And, according to Dr. James W. Papez, of Cornell University, who made a study of hundreds of brains, with all types of them taken into account, there is evidence to show "that the human brain is evolving into a higher type as a result of greater cultural opportunities." For "in so much as it is the brain that is most responsibe to environment and education, there is no good reason for believing that the brain is not undergoing a rapid evolution at the present time both in function and structure." Why not, therefore, if men will only use their capacities and opportunities to the utmost, call a halt to the pessimism which would relegate to mere dreamland those developments that in all fields seem to promise brain achievements "beyond the art of Phidias and Praxiteles, beyond the splendor of Babylon and Hecatompylos?"

POST HASTE.

Stirring up the ingredients for the Anti-Freeze Bank in a week is fast work.

In Japan's military "retirement" the bombs she is dropping on Manchurian cities are probably just considered in the nature of p.p.c. cards.

Gandhi and the other Indian factions might take hope from the fact that it took the Irish longer to agree among themselves than with the English.

The capital of the National Credit Corporation, which will apply the blowpipe to frozen assets, was readily formed by asking a group of banks to contribute only 2 per cent of their net deposits. You see what more can be done if necessary.

"An enormous volume of necessitous selling which has been hanging over the stock market has been absorbed." So that's what made it act so depressionously.

Gov. Bill Murray recently demonstrated to friends that he could stand on his head for two minutes. His ability thus to view a topsy-turvy world must be considered justification of his presidential boom.

America is in a position today as never before where she can say to some nations with regard to disarmament: "We are not arguing this, we're telling you."

Argentina must find markets for the cheap products of her wide pampas in complementary lands. We raise right smart of beef and grain on small farms in this country.

With Conservatives demanding radical changes, Liberals supporting time-honored policies and Mosleyites "fighting everybody on everything in sight," British voters will do well to get the issues straight in a brief campaign.

The gigantic petitions of the Women's International League for Peace and Freedom demand "total and universal disarmament." That probably leaves a little margin for trading purposes.

Gridiron fans wanted the Cards to clean up yesterday so as not to clutter up the radio today and blanket budding football with a baseball finish.

The greatest difficulty visitors from many other countries encounter is to find what Americans are kicking about.

Japan has sent 20 warships to attack the Chinese boycott. It seems that it is only a trade war.

The worst headaches of the last few days have befallen those who were trying to figure out points to oppose in the President's financial relief plans.

American financiers must share blame for excessive loans to Latin America, but beware that generous Southern neighbors do not give it all to them.

If the special sessioners can avoid spontaneous combustion for 58 days, they will automatically become regular fellers again; can spout like Old Faithful and have "leave to print" in the Congresional Record where none can say them nay.

Mention of King George (V of England) recently in connection with British events bestirs several other crowned heads to wonder how they can get past the censorship.

The new National Credit Corporation has a modest capitalization, but it has added billions to the stock of American optimism.

PAUL HUDSON.

Another Letter From a Bald-Headed Dad to His Flapper Daughter

By ROBERT QUILLEN

MY Dear Louise: There have been times in the world's history when the man on the throne was much like the typical American husband today.

He seemed to rule, but he was no more than a stuffed shirt. He did the bidding of a woman—frequently a woman who didn't please Mrs. Grundy—and his greatness was her greatness.

I wonder if you have ever tried to form a mental picture of those women who ruled by ruling men. Of course they had brains. They understood national policies and international problems. Would you, for that reason, suppose them awkward and ill-favored creatures with solemn faces and unkempt nails?

If so, you would be wrong. With few exceptions, they were beauties. They had charm, wit, poise. They set the fashions. They were, in brief, knock-outs. They had to be to wield such power, for men aren't enslaved by women who have brains and nothing else.

The point I want you to get is that a woman can have brains without being a dowdy wall-flower and a kill-joy.

The world has heard so much about the "beautiful and dumb" that it doesn't expect a woman to be easy on the eyes if she has good sound sense. And many of your sex and age, eager to give the world what it expects, devote all their attention to exterior finish and neglect their brains—if any.

I assure you it is bad policy.

I don't want you to be a solemn and dignified heavy thinker, but I do want you to keep pace with the world and be able to discuss current events intelligently when you happen to meet people who have brains.

The idea that men don't like intelligent women is bosh. The woman they dislike is the know-it-all who tries to show off. The woman who has wit and knowledge and good hard sense is admired by every man who meets her—except the stupid ones whose conversation is limited to "yeah" and "blah," and you needn't care what they think.

Be as pretty as you can and as frivolous as the occasion demands, but remember that no man big enough to be worth pleasing wants a dumb Dora for a mate. Love, DAD.

Debt Cancellation Ruled Out.

Philadelphia Public Ledger.

President Hoover's statement on the financial situation has again precipitated active discussion of the war debts and German reparations.

It is uncertain how far action on war debts and reparations could or should be pressed at this time. The cancellationists have been anxious to take advantage of the depression to have them wiped off the slate entirely. Cancellation being out of the question—for neither France nor the United States would consent to such a course—there is talk of revision, permanent downward revision on all these payments. That would mean a new plan for German reparations and new agreements on war debts among the other nations involved.

It took the United States and France ten years to come to agreement on the war debt. German reparations schedules were revised in 1924 and in 1929 and presented tremendous and time-consuming difficulties. Time is of the essence of today's problem. Both cancellation and permanent revision, it seems, must be ruled out.

The Hoover Plan.

New York Herald Tribune.

Once again President Hoover has cut swiftly and decisively through a tangle of mingled fact and fear. By careful preparation and skillful leadership he has been able to marshal the best financial minds of the Nation and its entire financial strength behind a simple and understandable plan. Practically overnight the country's credit resources have gained the benefits of a unified command. While the success of the plan obviously depends upon its sound and skillful administration, it offers a solid basis for action and can not fail to steady nerves and buttress confidence.

Farm Board Losses.

Topeka Capital.

If the Farm Board still has 150,000,000 or more bushels of wheat and plans to dispose of it, as has been stated, at the rate of 5,000,000 bushels a month, how many years will it be disposing of its surplus? And what will be the loss sustained on the last 5,000,000 bushels?

The board has held the greater part of its wheat for approximately a year. This costs money, in interest, carrying charges, some depletion of quality.

If it is the desire of the Farm Board to carry on with the view of making a killing eventually on a portion of its stock, if its plan is to prevent a heavy loss to the Treasury of the United Staes, it is evidently on the wrong track. Anyhow, it is losing money every day carrying 150,000,000 bushels of wheat.

Senator Morrow's Successor.

New York Herald Tribune.

A. Harry Moore, Democratic candidate for Governor of New Jersey, has given assurance that if elected, he will not call a special election for the Senate seat of Dwight W. Morrow. This will allay an apprehension which might have complicated Gov. Larson's task of appointing some one to serve until an election is held.

It is Gov. Larson's clear right and duty to make an appointment prior to the opening of Congress on the first Monday in December. His selection will be a Republican, of course, and the balance in the Senate will still be Republicans, 48; Democrats, 47, and Senator Shipstead, Farmer-Labor, if death does not again intervene.

Radicals and Small-Fry Democrats Trying to Bring About Extra Session in Order to Grab Off Credit For What Hoover Is Doing.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: Some of the so-called but badly mislabeled Progressives (radicals) and a few of the lesser lights in the Democratic fold of Congress are up in arms at this time shouting for a special session of Congress. They recognize the great importance of and the ultimate benefits which are certain to flow from the President's timely and constructive action taken this week, and fearing that the President will receive the just and well earned plaudits of the Nation, they are anxious to divert unto themselves credits for the benefits which have already been set in motion; hence their urgent demand for a special session before the expected improvement has gained too much headway.

It is, indeed, a great blessing to mankind that Congress is not in session at this time, for if it were, the plan which the President has set in motion for rehabilitating American business and which has the hearty approval of all thinking people would be jeopardized. The radicals on the Hill and the politicians who are more anxious about their reelection than they are for the return of prosperity would clamor for the spotlight, and bombard any and all schemes advanced for constructive measures and seek to have their own radical and socialistic views enacted into law were Congress in session now.

Instead of clamoring for a special session at this time they should be praying like 90 per cent of the citizens are for some means of lending a helping hand to Hoover.

VIRGINIA DEMOCRAT.

Suggests Temporary Cutting of Wages and Five-Day Week as Means of Distributing Work.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: Objection is offered in some sections of the nation to a reduction of wages on the plea that it would "lower the standard" of American living. It is a mistaken idea.

Is there really any standard of living in the United States? Absolutely there is not. The rich have anything they wish of necessities and luxuries at any price. Those moderately well-to-do and the poor have what they can pay for—and very foolishly sometimes go beyond that and get in debt.

The sensible and right act all through life is for people to adjust themselves to circumstances. The biggest circumstance in our country is that millions are out of employment and they are suffering. The most important task is to remove these conditions and bring relief.

Employers of labor by cutting wages—say 25 per cent—and making a five-day week could give work to thousands of men and women. Have it understood that lowering of wages is a temporary move and not intended to be permanent, but just long enough to cover the time of the general depression. All the wage workers could live in fair comfort under this plan until times improved.

This would be practicing humanity—human brotherhood—which is so much needed now all over this Nation. D. ORRINE MAGOUNE.

Traveler Wants Reparations Canceled Because He Finds Germans Simple and Industrious.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: I have recently spent three summers in Germany and have found the people simple, honest, unaffected, industrious and kindly. I should like to assist—however small my influence may be—in helping the Germans out of their present difficulties. I therefore desire to second the proposal frequently made that all international war debts shall be canceled, including the German reparations.

Prohibition Did Not Make Liquor Evil—Merely Exposed It.

To the Editor of The Post—Sir: The "Canadian system" of government sale of liquor is old stuff.

South Carolina tried that system for thirteen years; tried it honestly. The State gave it up in disgust in 1915.

All the evils common to the liquor traffic—drunkenness, graft, bootlegging—were prevalent under the government sale plan. Prohibition has not caused such evils; it simply brought them out into the light.

THE TEDIOUS TASK.

Stand by it, lad! that tedious task
Which is so difficult to do
And so much patience seems to ask,
Is friend in drab disguise to you.

Although your fingers tear and bleed,
Although your muscles ache to rest,
Stay by it, boy! for now indeed
Has come your spirit's crucial test.

Desert it now, and turn and flee,
Henceforth of you the world shall say,
"We've learned he can not trusted be!
He had his chance but ran away!"

Stay by it, boy! with courage work
Until this given task is done.
If this first test you choose to shirk
Men may not give another one.

Here lies the hope for all your dreams,
Your chance to drink from victory's cup.
Though difficult and long it seems,
Be not too quick to give it up.

'Tis life that's testing you today
To find the courage you possess.
If from this task you run away
You turn your back upon success.

COTTON REDUCTION VOTED BY 2 STATES

Arkansas and Mississippi Reject Prohibition and Will Cut Acreage.

(Associated Press).

The principle of cotton acreage reduction as a means of bolstering the price of the staple, received final approval by the State legislatures of Arkansas and Mississippi yesterday and legislative disapproval of the cotton prohibition plan of Gov. Huey P. Long, of Louisiana, was recorded in both States.

Texas already having passed an acreage reduction measure, the three largest producing States now are pledged to the plan.

Both bills passed yesterday were transmitted to the governors of the respective States. Gov. Theo G. Bilbo, of Mississippi, said he would sign that State's measure immediately.

All chance of passing a cotton prohibition bill in Mississippi was blocked yesterday when the House declined to reconsider its action of Wednesday in voting adversely on such a measure.

The Arkansas and Mississippi acts, like the Texas law, would restrict 1932 and 1933 cotton acreage to 30 per cent of the 1931 cultivated area. Its application in Mississippi is contingent upon passage of similar laws by States producing 75 per cent of the Nation's crop.

The Arkansas measure, it was estimated, would reduce cotton acreage in that State to slightly less than half that of this year, or approximately 1,500,000 acres.

The Arkansas House passed a prohibition bill yesterday, but the Senate voted against a similar measure Thursday.

Publicity Planned By Parkway Body

National Association Is to Be Formed Under New Program.

A national association with State branches to disseminate information about the George Washington Memorial Parkway, from Mount Vernon to Great Falls, along the banks of the Potomac River, will be formed soon, trustees of the Memorial Parkway Fund decided yesterday at a meeting at the Cosmos Club.

The new association will also be given the task of obtaining contributions for acquisition of land needed in the parkway project.

The trustees also decided to invite Clarence Phelps Dodge, of Colorado and Washington, to accept the position of director of the association and to undertake its organization. Mr. Dodge is now living in Georgetown. He has been a director of the Brookings Institute and an active member of the executive committee of the Washington Community Chest. For some time Mr. Dodge was active in Colorado politics and was for many years owner and editor of a newspaper in Colorado Springs.

Minnesota Upholds Redistricting Law

Ruling by Supreme Court Says Governor Had No Veto Power.

St. Paul, Minn., Oct. 9 (A.P.).—Legality of a congressional reappointment act passed by the 1931 Minnesota State Legislature, despite gubernatorial veto, was upheld by a five-to-two decision of the State supreme court today.

The majority opinion, written by Chief Justice Samuel B. Wilson, held that the Federal Constitution delegated to State Legislatures the right to fix boundaries of congressional districts and did not include any grant of power to the governor in the matter.

The Minnesota Legislature passed an act reducing the number of districts in the State from ten to nine, in line with the 1930 census and the national reapportionment act. Gov. Floyd B. Olson vetoed the bill on the ground that the boundaries as fixed in it were unfair. Lawyer members of the Legislature, however, contended the governor had no authority to act on the measure.

The couple was accompanied to this city by a cousin of the bride, Mrs. Ruby Boyd, who attended them at the wedding ceremony. The couple gave their address as 3504 East Broad street, Richmond.

Will Raises Doubt On Art Gift Title

Van Reuth Paintings May Go to Government or City.

The will of Mrs. Julia Van Reuth, of Baltimore, presenting "Washington, the Capital of the United States," with a valuable collection of paintings, is troubling city government officials. They can't decide which government owns them.

It was first interpreted that the will specified that the paintings collected by Felix Van Reuth should go to the National Government, in which case the paintings would automatically be hung in the National Gallery of Art, if approved by the commission of that institution. Yesterday, however, it was reported that the will states that the collection shall become the property of "Washington, the Capital of the United States," a phrase which may be construed to mean the city. It is equally possible that the phrase signifies that the city receives the canvases only in its capacity as Capital, and that the Government shall determine disposition.

It is probable that a court decision will be required to direct the executor of the will in his actions, unless other facts can be found to interpret the intent of the phrase.

Stimsons Give Pan-Americans Garden Party

Conference Delegates Are Entertained at Woodley.

Honoring the delegates to the fourth Pan-American Conference, whose visit here has been the signal for a round of official fetes, the Secretary of State and Mrs. Henry L. Stimson were hosts at a garden party at Woodley yesterday afternoon, the picturesque lawns to the south of the lovely old estate forming an effective background for the large company which assembled. Marquees, where refreshments were served, were placed on either side of the lawn, and the Marine Band played throughout the afternoon. Not until darkness descended, did guests begin to leave in numbers. A typical autumn day made the Woodley gardens more attractive than ever.

Secretary and Mrs. Stimson stood together to receive the guests, the latter wearing a becoming black costume, a chiffon dress with a velvet three-quarter length jacket, which was faced with chartreuse-color velvet. Vice President Curtis and Mrs. Edward Everett Gann were present, and the Cabinet was represented by Mrs. William D. Mitchell, wife of the Attorney General, in a costume of black crepe Elizabeth; the Secretary of the Navy and Mrs. Charles Francis Adams, and Mrs. William N. Doak, wife of the Secretary of Labor.

The cynosure of all eyes was the Lord Mayor of Manchester, bedecked in medals and carrying an umbrella (having probably heard about Washington weather). With the Lady Mayoress, he arrived early in the afternoon, made the rounds and departed shortly afterward. Many of the Latin-American chiefs of mission were present, with their delegates in tow. Noted were the Cuban Ambassador and Mme. Fer-

DIAL FLASHES

By ROBERT D. HEINL

ONE of the most elaborate engineering set-ups ever made for a current events radio broadcast will be required for the etherizing of a reenactment of a vital moment in this Nation's history. When the assembled audience sees the large, revolving stage rise into its place, hundreds of thousands of school children, otherwise unable to be present, will hear the surrender of Lord Cornwallis to Gen. Washington, the climax of the Yorktown Sesquicentennial, on Monday, October 19.

This pageant broadcast will be made possible through the engineering skill of A. E. Johnson, division engineer of the N. B. C. in charge of WRC, and his assistants, S. H. Rose, W. H. Shew and A. B. Williams.

The depiction of the surrender, followed by a series of scenes indicative of the Nation's progress, is on such a large scale that nine or ten microphones will be required on the stage. There will be a massed band in the orchestra pit, requiring a separate set-up of microphones, and still another microphone will be required for use by Herluf Provensen, announcer, who will work from an inclosed tower built on the top of the grand stand. This tower is necessary, because Provensen, who will attempt the broadcast alone, must have a full view of all that is transpiring. The engineers are planning to take about 20 microphones to Yorktown, probably the largest number ever taken to a job, although it is hardly likely that all will be used at any single broadcast.

THE President of the United States will address the gathering over a national hookup on Monday morning. On the Friday and Saturday preceding, October 16 and 17, there will be three broadcasts from Yorktown. Among the speakers will be Secretary of the Navy Adams, Gen. John J. Pershing, Marshal Petain, Frederick H. Payne, acting Secretary of War, and Gov. John G. Pollard, of Virginia.

Since Yorktown is not within commuting distance of Washington, except by air, the engineers and announcer will camp out. Army tents and cots are being provided for them.

DETAILS of the five broadcasts of ceremonies marked by colonial pageantry and military pomp on the slopes of the York River have been worked out under the direction of Kenneth H. Berkeley, of WRC.

And it might be noted here that the decision to have Provensen handle the pageant broadcast alone is a step in the right direction in this type of broadcast. Many special event broadcasts have been ruined by the too-continuous talking back and forth between announcers whenever there happened to be a lull in action. It is, of course, impossible to leave the microphone open for minutes at a time in such cases, but it would seem to be much better to have one announcer, sufficiently informed beforehand, take over the mike during such periods, with the other announcers participating giving the necessary signals and talking only when there was something really worth-while to say.

What the Governor of North Carolina says to the Governor of South Carolina will be aired in a program marking the addition of the two Carolina outlets to the NBC networks tonight (WRC, 11 o'clock). Gov. O. Max Gardner will speak from WTPF, Raleigh, N. C., and Gov. I. C. Blackwood, from WIS, Columbia, S. C.

An orchestra, directed by Erno Rapee, will form the backbone of the hour's entertainment, which also includes Jesse Crawford, Rudy Vallee, Gladys Rice, Veronica Wiggins, Henry M. Neely, Russ Columbo, Vaughn de Leath, and the Mexican Typica Orchestra.

MR. ANDREW H. BROWN, who has complained publicly for months that his feet hurt him, has received a pair of brogues measuring thirteen and a quarter by four and a quarter inches, size fifteen A-A.

The shoes, sent by an unknown benefactor of Rockland, Mass., arrived by special delivery and were received via the freight elevator.

It keeps the networks busy thinking up counter attractions to "Amos 'n' Andy." The latest is the Bavarian Peasant Band heard each Saturday night over the WEAF network. The program is announced by a Bavarian peasant.

George Perryman, who has proposed a National Radio Board of Review, which would call attention to worthwhile programs on the air and condemn others, declares that all the figures available indicate that only 1 per cent of the broadcast audience ever takes its pen in hand. His conclusion is that the intelligent majority either enjoys or tolerates its programs in silence.

Replying to numerous inquiries received with regard to the talks of the Rev. Charles B. Coughlin, pastor of the Shrine of the Little Flower in Detroit, the present series of broadcasts can probably be picked up best by Washingtonians from Station WOR, Newark, or WLW, Cincinnati. They are heard each Sunday afternoon from 4 to 5 o'clock over 27 stations, including WCAU, Philadelphia; KMOX, St. Louis; WCAO, Baltimore, and WBBM, Chicago. The time for these broadcasts is not donated, the expense being met through contributions from the radio audience.

WHEN William Hard, who recently returned to this country after a series of history-making broadcasts from the League of Nations at Geneva, Switzerland, went to the Washington Cathedral to attend the marriage of his daughter, he asked W. K. Haxton, a special policeman at the cathedral, to look out for his car.

Haxton had never seen Mr. Hard before, but when the latter spoke instantly recognized him through having heard his voice over the radio.

B. A. Rolfe has never heard his orchestra over the air, never having been absent from the studios while his musicians were broadcasting.

GARDENS

By JANE LESLIE KIFT

ANSWERS TO INQUIRIES.

PLEASE help me. We have 300 narcissaus plants in one place in our garden; this spring we had about 100 blooms and the rest failed to open. Two years ago, on the advice of our florist, we lifted and reset all our bulbs. The plants are seemingly thrifty, but we want flowers and not foliage. What do you suggest?

MISS BESSIE B. L.

It may be that your bulbs have outlived their usefulness. Usually lifting and resetting in well-manured ground will cause them to bloom the second year. Of course, if they are very old there is nothing to do but to discard them and plant new bulbs. The double poet's eye, also known as the alba plena, requires plenty of moisture under the surface of the soil. Sometimes violent changes of temperature are said to cause blasting of this variety. Being late in blooming, the buds are thought to be stunted by the warm sunshine. Try shading lightly, and, if you have the patience, cut the tips of some of the scapes, confining the buds, with a pair of scissors. Sometimes, if the expanding petals do not seem to be able to develop enough energy to burst the tough outer skin, the condensing moisture inside may cause the rot.

All readers' questions on growing and care of indoor and outdoor flowers and floral decorations for social functions will be answered by Miss Kift, directly in this column if addressed in care of The Washington Post, or directly to readers if a self-addressed stamped envelope is supplied.

Dare Interprets the MODE

You can't tell whether a blouse is separate or part of a dress these days (Says Dah-ray.)

WELL, well, a touch of autumn in the air—nay, more—a touch of winter, really. And somehow, my thoughts all week have been turning to blouses. This handy and important part of wearing apparel, which is neither an accessory nor a garment, is useful in summer, and seems essentially to belong to summer—and is as useful in winter, seeming essentially to belong to winter!

There is much to be said for the blouse this winter. First, it is smartest when it is in a darker color than the costume with which it is worn—dark and in one of the so-called "bitter" colors. Then, it is smart when it is in stiff looking, if not feeling, satin. And last, it is worn with a matching skirt in a contrasting material, but perfectly matching in color, as a complete and very elegant costume.

Personally I have always thought that there is nothing quite as practical and quite as elegant as a blouse. Blouses are practical because—and what woman doesn't know this?—they can be interchanged with so many different suits without anyone being the wiser. And blouses are elegant because they are a fresh and flattering touch to any outfit.

And then there is the point of the blouse varying very little in material or style with the seasons—in fact you can select styles and materials that are as appropriate to summer as they are to winter.

And another proof of the blouse's versatility is the number of occasions for which the very same blouse may be worn—with a sports suit, with a tailleur, with a dressy velvet or crepe afternoon suit—yes, I'm talking about the very same blouse, too.

Well, to prove its popularity, the blouse has even taken unto itself a skirt this season. Of course, in this case, it matches its skirt in both color and fabric, so the only way it can really be called a blouse is in its cut and in the fact that it is not sewn to the skirt.

• • • •

How would you like to make yourself some blouses? I mean some really gorgeous ones, blouses that you can either wear as blouses, or leaving off the sleeves, wear as vestees with tailored suits, or by adding a skirt have as a one-piece dress?

Well, I have just made you a leaflet telling you how to make the blouse illustrated for you today, which is so flattering to the heavier figure in its wrap-around effect; and also how to make the two little ones illustrated at the left, which can either be worn as blouses or as vestees if you leave the sleeves off.

So if you would like to have some new blouses for your winter wardrobe, just send a stamped, self-addressed envelope to the Dare department of The Washington Post for the illustrated leaflet which has just come from the printer.

Hints for a Happy Housewife.

"Here's something for you clever-fingered people to make that will prove to be a godsend to needles and pins in damp weather! I discovered that if you stuff little cushions with coffee grounds instead of sawdust or cotton, 'n' stick the needles and pins into this, they will never rust, no matter how damp the weather gets." So writes sister Dionne who lives in a very foggy place, and should know!

• • • •

No more water-stained clothes because you've had to thrust hot water bottles 'n' such into the closet when company unexpectedly comes! And no more defiling notes to your bathroom harmony with utilitarian objects hanging about in plain view! That is, if you hurry to answer this last call and send your stamped, self-addressed envelope to the Dare Department of The Washington Post for this week's illustrated leaflet that tells all the hows and whys of making a really decorative and waterproof container for these things.

Au revoir!

What Today Means to You

"LIBRA."

IF October 10 is your birthday, the best hours for you on this date are from 9:35 a. m. to noon and from 5 p. m. to 8:10 p. m. The only danger period is from 2 p. m. to 4 p. m.

October 10, from an astrological standpoint, favors the artist and all those interested in shipping, no matter in what capacity. Middle-aged people especially are advised to avoid speculation and risky investment, no matter how thickly the pill is sugar-coated. The signs are indicative of Cupid's influence, and many, so far heart-whole, will be pierced by the little god's dart.

Children born on this October 10 will be intense and emotional. Not until they reach the thirties will they acquire a judicial and unbiased outlook on life. Their "extremeness" will handicap their chances, and their greatest successes will be achieved in middle age. Experience will then have taught them the necessity of tolerance, sympathy and less "down-rightness."

You, if born on October 10, are to the outside world cold and unbending. Among those, however, whom you love—and their number is very limited—you are courteous, affable and entertaining. In any connection you try to make, your frigidity generally makes a poor impression, and you thereby injure your own interests. If a woman, you are altogether too "stand-offish" to be much of a success with the opposite sex. It is not so much your prudishness as your apparent indifference that makes the average man fight shy of you. If a man, your self-imposed dignity and your would-be superiority estranges those who, realizing your capabilities, would otherwise be ready and willing to help you.

You are a materialist—although you pretend you are not. You are clever, intellectual, and interested in a variety of subjects. As a conversationalist you are concise and lucid, but your words lack that enthusiasm founded on belief, which is the sole road to conviction. You have a natural taste for literature, and could develop into an able organizer.

Your marriage will be, probably, based more on reason than on affection. Your horoscope denotes that it will be a mild success, undisturbed by wrangling and unmoved by emotions and thrills.

Successful people born on October 10:

1—John M. Studebaker, manufacturer.

2—Herman Morris Adler, psychiatrist.

3—Victor Howard Metcalf, former Secretary of Navy.

4—William J. Hardee, Confederate general.

5—Joshua Bates, banker and statesman.

6—Benjamin West, artist.

CULBERTSON ON CONTRACT

By ELY CULBERTSON

COMBINING THE TWO HANDS.

WHEN West picked up the hand pictured below and scanned the bars 1 honor-trick and barren distribution of it, he breathed a sigh of relief that South had passed and hoped that North, his other opponent, would not find enough honor-tricks in his hand to make a Third Hand bid.

His hopes were realized. North also passed, but East, his partner, now disturbed his peace and quiet by making an Opening bid, and that not a Forcing bid, which might have given value to West's near bust holding, but a bid of the next to lowest ranking suit in the deck.

South—Dealer.
East-West vulnerable.

The Bidding:

(Figures after bids in table refer to numbered explanatory paragraphs.)

South	West	North	East
Pass	Pass	Pass	1◇ (1)
1♠ (2)	Pass (3)	2♣ (4)	Dbl. (5)
Pass	2NT (6)	Pass	3NT
Pass	Pass	Pass

1—East holds 4 honor-tricks plus the value of J 10 in the spade suit. To pass such a hand in any position could be dictated only by extreme timidity.

2—South had very close to an Opening bid and his Overcall of his vulnerable opponent is fully justified.

3—West can count a bare 1½ tricks in support of diamonds. It is true he holds at least one stopper in the suit adversely bid, but his holding does not justify any other course than a pass.

4—North also has a sound Overcall, six-card biddable suit and a total of 1½ honor tricks.

5—East's Double is for a Takeout. It is a Double of not more than two in a suit and his partner has not bid.

6—A fine bid, although forced. There is a certain stopper in the club suit and a probable stopper in spades. To weakly bid two diamonds and "pass the buck" back to partner would be a failure of West to live up to the requirements of the partnership.

In the play it is, of course, evident that East and West must make a game at notrump and that a game of any other declaration is impossible. East's holding in the spade suit supplements West's weak hand so that two stoppers are sure in that suit. The club King combined with West's QJ 7 are enough to stop the club suit twice, and there are four solid tricks in the diamond suit the way the cards are distributed in the various hands.

Against the best defense, the making of three notrump is no easy task. However, North elected to open his own suit rather than his partner's because he held only a singleton in spades, and he hoped that his King of hearts might possibly prove a reentry to his hand. The Opening, however, made no difference. Game is certain no matter which suit is selected for attack.

This hand is interesting principally because it illustrates how accurately the Rule of Eight will work when applied to deals of fairly normal distribution. East holds nearly 4½ honor-tricks and West's holdings supplement his in such a way that game at no trump can be made. Even modest strength opposite a strong hand still envisions the possibility of game.

TODAY'S POINTER.

When the partner of the Doubler expects to defeat the doubled contract and thereby score a greater penalty than is probable in the play of the hand, he should pass rather than bid.

A Penalty Pass in response to a Takeout Double of one notrump is justified when holding as little as 2 honor-tricks, especially when opponents are vulnerable.

Wives of Tomorrow

FRANCES M'DONALD

Two Men and a Car.

DEAR FRANCES M'DONALD: I go out with a young fellow two years my senior quite steadily. I have gone out a few times with other fellows though but he knows nothing of it. He tells me that he is very jealous and doesn't want me to even kiss another boy.

I do like him a lot, but now there's another fellow that's come between us. My boy friend knows nothing of it, but I think he has his suspicions. I like this other fellow a lot also and he says he's crazy about me, but I don't know which one I like best. This other one has a car (whereas the boy friend hasn't) and could afford to show me much better times. He wants me to go out with him, but he's a very good friend of the boy friend's and I know it would get back to him. How am I supposed to know which one I like best if I don't go out with each one and find out? If the boy friend does find out he'll break off with me and then I might be sorry and not like the other fellow at all. Can you help me out?

PUZZLED.

Well, why not the frank and open way? Why not tell the boy that you feel it a mistake to settle down to any one man? As a matter of fact, in your case such procedure is most unwise, as you do not love the man you are going with as proved by your analysis of the other man's advantages! When you really love you will not think in terms of cars and good times. There will be no good times except in the company of the one and only! He could drive the worst car in town and still that would be the only car in town that you would care one hoot about. When you meet a man who inspires that sort of feeling, drop all others and cleave only unto him—and cleave for dear life. But until then keep an open mind and a variety of boy friends.

Your present choice may oppose any such program. But be not outwitted. Stand your ground. He will come around, for no woman ever yet lost a man in protecting her own rights as a human being. It is when she begins to disregard her rights and think only of his that she becomes a poor pest and a back-number to him. So break the news gently but firmly that you believe the old standby concerning the safety that lies in numbers. Do not mention any names or render any bill of particulars. Just announce your intentions, grant him equal liberty—which he has been granting himself never fear—and try out the new car and the new boy, and find out perhaps how little a car means if the wrong man happens to be driving it! That has been known to happen when a woman decides to investigate the business of living!

CAPITAL SOCIETY EVENTS

rara, the latter very smart in a wine red frock, with which she wore a matching hat and a black coat; the Minister of Nicaragua and Mme. Sacasa, who had with them their pretty daughter, Mlle. Maria, attractive in a frock of turquoise blue; the Second Secretary of the Cuban Embassy, Dr. Guell, and Capt. Prieto, of the Cuban Embassy, with Mme. Prieto.

The State Department was out in full force, with the Assistant Secretary of State and Mrs. William R. Castle, jr., Assistant Secretary, and Mrs. Wilbur J. Carr and Assistant Secretary and Mrs. Francis White heading the group. The Chief of Protocol and Mrs. Warren Delano Robbins were on hand, as was Mr. James Clement Dunn, chief of conferences, with Mrs. Dunn. Mr. and Mrs. Robbins had their debutante daughter, Helen, with them. She looked charming in a dark-brown wool suit, with which she wore a small hat to match. Mrs. Robbins, always strikingly gowned, wore a black ensemble and a small black velvet hat, trimmed with a white ostrich feather.

Others of the State Department group were Mr. Keith Merrill, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Southgate and Mr. Hugh Cumming, who arrived with his parents, Surgeon General and Mrs. Cumming. Also present were Mr. and Mrs. William P. MacCracken, Mrs. Elonzo Tyner, with her daughter, Miss Peggy Tyner, and Miss Lolita Dawson, daughter of Mrs. Thomas C. Dawson.

Envoy to China Today Will Wed Miss Beck.

The United States Minister to China, Mr. Nelson Trusler Johnson, and Miss Jane Beck, of Cody, Wyo., will be married today in the consulate at Tientsin. The minister, who served in China as student interpreter for twenty years and two years ago succeeded Mr. John Van A. McMurray as minister, formerly lived in Washington. He was Assistant Secretary of State prior to his appointment to the China posa in December, 1929, and had served as chief in the Far Eastern Division of the State Department. He is an Oklahoman and was one of the Capital's most popular men of the unmarried set.

The bride is a granddaughter of Mr. James Burnie Beck, who served in Congress as representative and later as senator for more than 20 years from Kentucky. Closely allied for three generations, the families of the minister and Miss Beck have been friends for many years, a tie which was more closely welded during Miss Beck's school days in Gunston Hall. Mr. Johnson was then associated with the State Department.

The minister and his bride will establish their residence at the American Consulate in Tientsin, where Mr. Johnson has had his headquarters since succeeding Mr. McMurray.

An inveterate traveler, the minister's continuous journeys throughout China have gained for him the reputation of being the most widely traveled diplomat in that country. Whether on horseback, on an open freight car, on foot or by boat or rail, the minister journeys into far places and his democratic ways have pleased the Chinese officials as much as his knowledge of their language.

The minister has a close bond to Washington in the residence here of his father, Mr. Jeremiah Johnson, and his sister, Miss Elizabeth Johnson, who is a member of the Cathedral School faculty.

Five hundred delegates to the fourth Pan-American commercial conference, their wives and daughters, have accepted invitations to the concert and reception which will be given in their honor on Monday evening by the governing board of the Pan-American Union. The reception will be given in the Pan-American building on Seventeenth street.

Owing to the large number of visitors who will attend and the official groups who will be at the reception the usual list has been revised to adjust the number of guests to the capacity of the building. All admissions, therefore, are by cards only.

The concert, by the New York Marimba Orchestra, will begin at 9 o'clock, followed by the reception at 9:30. Soon after 10 o'clock there will be dancing.

Choir Will Chant Psalms at Service

Christ Church, Georgetown Arranges Innovation for Service.

The mixed choir of Christ Church, Georgetown, has chosen Mendelssohn's "How Lovely Are the Messengers" for the coming Sunday's anthem. This inspiring, smooth-flowing composition has kept a foremost place in choral music. Its fuguelike construction and swinging rhythm will always find admirers in the congregation. Every measure of this favored composition shows the transparent style of composition of which Mendelssohn is so typical.

As contrast to this, William's "Te Deum" and "Benedictus in B Flat Major" will serve the right purpose, being within the traditional style of the English Church.

Among other innovations the Christ Church choir will introduce regular chanting of Psalms instead of reciting them.

French Peach Pie Recipe By Mrs. Blanchard Wins

MRS. W. S. BLANCHARD, of 4222 Thirty-eighth street northwest, won the $5 weekly prize offered by The Post for the best idea for tasty dishes using products advertised on this page.

Delicacy Gets Weekly Prize Awarded by Post.

French peach pie, as made by Mrs. W. S. Blanchard, of 4222 Thirty-eighth street northwest, was awarded the $5 prize this week for the best recipe using products advertised on The Post's weekly food page.

Mrs. Blanchard's recipe for French peach pie calls for a filling of tapioca, which is cooked separately before being used over the halved fresh peaches.

The halved peaches are arranged in an unbaked pie shell, cut side up and the cooked tapioca is poured over them. The crust of Mrs. Blanchard's pie is crispy and furnishes just the right background for the tasty filling.

1-3 cup minute tapioca
1 cup granulated sugar
1-8 teaspoon salt
3 cups water
1 tablespoon Land o' Lakes butter
½ teaspoon lemon extract
½ teaspoon orange extract

Cook tapioca, sugar, water and salt in double boiler 30 minutes, add butter and extracts while still warm, pour over halved fresh peaches arranged cut side up, in an unbaked pie shell.

For crust use 1 cup Washington flour, 1-3 cup Crisco, a pinch of salt and ice water enough to moisten.

TASTY LUNCHEON IN CHICKEN PUFFS

If you are trying to think of an unusually tempting way to use that half or three-quarters cup of left-over chicken, try making chicken puffs. They taste even better than they look, though they look luscious.

There are several ways to make them. They are best when served with some sort of savory sauce. Tomato-olive sauce is good. So are celery sauce and mushroom sauce.

Left-over meat from fried, broiled, roasted or stewed chicken is equally desirable. Or canned chicken meat may be used. If you are preparing jellied chicken, pull off the skin, chop it finely and use it in the puffs. It gives a good flavor.

Chicken Puffs.

1 egg
1 cup flour
½ to ¾ cup diced chicken
2 teaspoons baking powder
½ cup milk
Salt and pepper

Beat egg yolk. Add milk. Sift together dry ingredients. Combine liquid and dry ingredients and add the chicken. Fold in the stiffly beaten white. Drop by spoonfuls into deep fat which has been heated to 375 to 400 degrees Fahrenheit. Fry until golden brown. These may be baked in muffin tins for 20 minutes in a hot oven (400 degrees Fahrenheit). Chicken Puffs Royal.

¾ cup ground cold chicken
4 egg whites, whipped stiff
¼ teaspoon pepper
4 egg yolks, well beaten
½ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon celery salt

Combine all the ingredients except the beaten whites. Fold these in last.

Drop by spoonfuls into hot deep fat. Fry until golden brown. Serve at once.

Tomato-Olive Sauce.

2 tablespoons chopped green pepper
1 tablespoon butter
1 cup canned tomatoes or tomato puree
1 tablespoon cornstarch
½ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon sugar
¼ cup chopped olives

Cook the peppers in the butter for five minutes. Add the tomatoes and seasonings and continue cooking for a few more minutes. Make a paste of the cornstarch with a little water and add to the sauce. Cook until slightly thickened, stirring. Add olives last.

Celery Sauce.

¾ cup diced celery
2 tablespoons butter
1 cup milk
2 tablespoons flour
½ teaspoon salt
1 teaspoon chopped pimiento

Brown the celery in the butter. Mix the flour to a paste with a little of the milk. Add the remainder of the milk to the celery and when hot add the flour paste and seasonings. Add pimiento last.

Lima Bean Flour Is Seen Useful for Health Bread

California lima bean bread is one of the new foods which may be obtained in Washington through the enterprise of Barker Original Bakeries, a local firm. For years physicians and dietitians have recognized the high food value contained in dried, fully matured, California lima beans and have placed limas on their menus, not only for the sick, but also for those who are healthy and wish to keep well.

California lima bean bread is a blend of whole wheat flour, white flour and lima bean flour.

While especially useful to sufferers from acidosis or high blood pressure, California lima bean bread can be eaten by all with good results. Many persons use an unbalanced diet, one that contains too large a percentage of acid-forming foods. Many physicians believe that diets containing too large a proportion of acid ash-forming foods are a factor in producing high blood pressure, so the value of a food that is not only nonacid, but highly alkaline, can be readily understood.

Dr. W. D. Sansum, director of the Potter Metabolic Clinic, of Santa Barbara, Calif., writing of the difficulty of obtaining a suitable bread for those suffering from acidosis and high blood pressure, says:

"We believe that we have found a solution of this difficulty in lima bean flour. • • • The lima bean is the most alkaline food known."

Mueller's Deviled Spaghetti Appetizer

½ package Mueller's Spaghetti
3 tablespoons butter
3 tablespoons flour
2 cups milk
½ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon paprika
1 teaspoon mustard
Dash tabasco
½ cup butter breadcrumbs

Parboil the spaghetti for 7 minutes in 2 quarts rapidly boiling water to which ½ tablespoon salt has been added. Drain.

Make a sauce of the butter, flour, milk, salt and paprika. Add the mustard and tabasco.

In a well-buttered casserole, combine alternate layers of the spaghetti with the sauce until all are used up, having a layer of spaghetti on top. Cover with buttered breadcrumbs and bake in a moderate oven for 20 minutes.

Mueller's Macaroni With Spinach and Ham

1 package Mueller's Elbow Macaroni
3 cups cooked spinach
2 tablespoons butter
2 tablespoons flour
1 cup milk
½ teaspoon salt
¼ teaspoon white pepper
1 cup cooked ham (diced)

Boil the elbow macaroni for 9 minutes in 4 quarts rapidly boiling water to which 1 tablespoon salt has been added. Drain.

Chop the spinach, adding a pinch of salt and ½ teaspoon pepper. Press into a buttered ring mold. Place mold in a pan of hot water and keep hot until serving time. Make a white sauce of the butter, flour, milk, salt and pepper. Add ham to sauce. Unmold spinach into a hot platter and surround with the hot elbow macaroni. Fill center of the mold with the creamed ham.

Plain Pastry.

4 cups pastry flour
2 teaspoons salt
1 cup fat
1-3 cup evaporated milk and 1-3 cup water mixed

All ingredients should be cold. Sift flour, then measure. Resift with salt. Work fat into flour. The pastry will be flakier if fat and flour are not too thoroughly blended. Add only sufficient diluted milk to make dough soft enough to roll out. Yield: 4 single crusts.

MAKE SCHOOL DAYS BRIGHT WITH LIGHT AT NIGHT

THOUGHTFUL mothers who have youngsters in school know the value of proper light. They don't expect their children to study their home work under make-shift light. These mothers have great hopes for the futures of their children and they exercise the proper care of little eyes by providing good illumination. It makes for better-learned lessons and goes far toward eliminating the use of glasses.

"Matchless Service" for perfect lighting is almost as essential as the child's education . . . and it costs so little to provide the right kind of light that it adds only a few pennies to your electric service bill for a whole month!

LLOYD GEORGE RAPS COALITION PROGRAM

Liberal Scores Party Members Supporting MacDonald; Labor Issues Call.

London, Oct. 9 (A.P.).—David Lloyd George, official leader of the Liberal party, broke his long silence tonight by issuing from his invalid's chair at his home in Churt a statement in which he described the impending general election as "the most wanton and unpatriotic into which the country ever has been plunged."

Simultaneously Arthur Henderson issued Labor's call to rally around the banner of socialism. Mr. Henderson declared the late Labor government was "sacrificed to the clamor of bankers" and asserted that the present national government is attempting "the impossible task of rebuilding capitalism."

Liberal ministers who are participating in the national government announced in another manifesto that they would continue to support both Prime Minister Ramsay MacDonald and their free-trade principles.

Breach Believed Widening.

This continued emphasis on free trade by the Liberal ministers was accepted as an indication that the breach between them and their conservative ministerial colleagues is widening.

Mr. Lloyd George's confession of faith, in the form of a lengthy address to his constituents in Wales, was a strong attack against the Conservatives. When the Conservative leaders in the cabinet ought to have been discussing the national emergency, they were in fact, he declared, plotting an unwanted election with the view of forcing tariffs on the nation.

"In this election I shall stand for free trade and were it possible for me to do so I should accord wholehearted support to every free-trade candidate without reference to party," the Liberal leader said.

Propose Government Banking.

The Labor party manifesto was signed by Mr. Henderson, J. R. Clynes and William Graham, all of whom were members of the Labor cabinet.

The manifesto reiterated the party's proposal to take the nation's banking and credit system out of private hands and put it under national ownership and control. It also advocated a national investment board, "with statutory powers for the control of domestic and foreign investments."

Tariffs are opposed in the manifesto and the party repeated its proposal to reorganize the most important basic industries, such as power, transport, iron and steel, as "public services owned and controlled in the national interest with such regulation of prices as will enable British industry to compete effectively in the markets of the world."

Mother Riding With Son Hurt in Auto Collision

In a collision yesterday morning between the car in which she was riding with her son and an Army truck, Mrs. J. L. Duke, 55, of Clinton, Md., suffered a fracture of the hip, possibly broken kneecap and lacerations.

The accident occured on Bladensburg road in Cottage City, Md. The woman was removed to Providence Hospital by the Prince Georges County rescue squad.

"THE UNHOLY GARDEN." Samuel Goldwyn's picturization of a story by Ben Hecht and Charles MacArthur, starring Ronald Colman, supported by Fay Wray, Estelle Taylor, Warren Hymer, Tully Marshall, Ulrich Haupt, Kit Guard, Henry Armetta, Lawrence Grant and Lucille La Verne. Directed by George Fitzmaurice; released by United Artists. Reviewed Friday afternoon.

By NELSON B. BELL.

Despite an imposing list of noted players in the roles of major importance and a production that betrays a fine eye for pictorial effect, there is precious little beyond the personal capability and popularity of Ronald Colman to salvage this fantastic tale of a colony of crooks marooned on the Sahara from pounding itself to pieces on its own rocky and ridiculous developments.

It seems there was a rendezvous for criminals in an old deserted castle at the edge of the desert, out of the jurisdiction of the French protectorate in northern Africa, where arch violators of the law could find asylum free from the persecution of the authorities. Quite a bunch of the boys availed themselves of this immunity—among them Baron de Jonghe, reputed to have shaken a bank down for millions of francs and, in time, Barrington Hunt, himself, in person. Smiley Corbin, Nick-the-Goof, Kid Twist and the rest of the rats have been trying for a long time to rattle the baron loose from his gold, but in spite of the fact that he is blind, De Jonghe shoots with deadly accuracy by ear.

Enter Mr. Hunt, the master mind. Not only does he find the gold, evade the De Jonghe passion for pistoling and outsmart his pals, but he wins the love of the baron's daughter, Camille, as well.

This primary development of the plot, however, is complicated by as fine a line of grade A cutthroating among the residents in the unholy garden as anyone would care to see—even to trussing up Elise Mowbray, the seductive creature who had borrowed the prefect of police's motor car to be kidnaped in by that debonair young scoundrel, Mr. Barrington Hunt.

In a climacteric burst of sacrificial renunciation, Hunt restores the greater part of all that dough to Camille, her daddy having been shot in the abdomen and cold blood, sends her away to Paris and presumably proceeds along that gay primrose path to perdition, the police court, or somewhere.

As Barrington Hunt, Mr. Colman offers a performance of an excellence out of all proportion to the merit of the role. He plays the part of a swashbucking rowdy with all the suavity and finish of a gentleman, and it is very difficult indeed not to like him. Fay Wray is chastely lachrymose as Camille and Estelle Taylor physically alluring in the role of Elise Mowbray, which I thought she played rather badly.

Among the supporting players, Warren Hymer, Lawrence Grant, Ullrich Haupt, Henry Armetta and Kit Guard make nothing much out of an assorted gallery of tough eggs that were practically that to begin with. Tully Marshall, on the other hand, preserves a perfect illusion of blindness and endows the Baron de Jonghe with very definite, if not especially engaging, qualities of character, ranking next to Mr. Colman in the skill of his endeavors.

On the stage, Bert Frohman, singing master of ceremonies, well known to Washington, easily dominates Loew's "Blue Echoes" revue, in which the only other principals are Ben Omar, an acrobatic tap dancer of originality and daring, and Lang and Haley, a man and woman, who bang over a little too much verbal crossfire, sing and whistle and, at the end, walk off with the largest applause of the afternoon. The Chester Hale Girls contribute several gorgeously costumed dance routines.

Charlie Chase in a laughable comedy, "The Panic Is On," and the Hearst Metrotone News complete a bill that seemed to me not quite pumped up to full pressure.

FOX

"SOB SISTER." Fox picturization of Mildred Gilman's novel adapted by Edwin Burke, featuring James Dunn, Linda Watkins and Minna Gombell. Directed by Alfred Santell. Reviewed Friday night by Dorothea Lewis.

Well, after all, Washington is a staid old place as far as newspapering is concerned, so a sob-sister's job may be like this. We've heard tall tales, and once or twice—. That, however, is aside from the point, and the principal point seems to be a question mark. Just why should a picture with so many murders and sirens—police ones, hopeful—and so star-studded a cast be as mild entertainment as this is?

The answer seems to be the story. It relates various maaquerading, superlative bits of snooping for news by one Jane Ray, tabloid reporter. Snipping telephone wires to scoop Garry Webster, a reporter affected with qualms and conscience, Jane makes him notice her. Through a misunderstanding Garry, who is much opposed to sob-sisters, anyhow, as a generality, is made to believe that Jane pretended to love him to scoop him. Such a to-do, then! It takes a kidnaping and a gangster ride—both so lamentable—to set set things right.

It's amusing, but not hilarious. It slaps gently at tabloids but stings only once or twice. In short, interesting but average.

Certainly its mildness isn't Jimmy Dunn's fault, as Garry, though even after this you won't know if he's as good as you've thought him ever since "Bad Girl." He hasn't opportunity this time to do much more than be natural and very, very likable. Easy assignment for Jimmy, and if you'll pardon a lady's weakness, he's a darling.

Nor can this lack of thrill be chalked up against Linda Watkins, of Broadway, who makes a neat little movie debut for herself, as Jane. Not awfully pretty, but pretty enough; not just good enough, but awfully good.

Minna Gombell could make dishwater shimmer. She's grand. Molly O'Day, thin again or thinner, is lovely, briefly. A woman who plays the mother of a murdered girl has a moment of tragedy almost as deep as that she played in "Bad Girl"—the unforgettable tenement woman whose mother died. Various and sundry assorted reporters are somewhat lifelike—wrinkled and worn, you know, and very, very fresh. So risking reiteration, the fault must be the story's, with its opportune rescues and burst of melodrama at the end.

The stage show has three excellent things to offer. A lovely Blue Danube number, staged and danced by the chorus and ending in the lightest, most lilting waltz imaginable by two men and a woman; a bit reminiscent of those once-upon-a-time Roxy numbers that brightened the new Fox at its newest. The others are a fire-eating dinosaur swaying a kicking young woman dangerously up to destruction, and "Minnie the Moocher" with us again, attractively and uniquely staged.

In between these two young ladies play about, wasting time and dancing, and a thin young man and a fat young lady dance and waste time. If they would only stick to dancing. Why? (All together now.) Why the patter and the posturing?

A newsreel, a magic-carpet trip to India disclosing why Indians don't sleep through their grand opera, and Al Mitchell's moon music and melody complete the bill.

Man, Walking in Alley, Is Wounded by Bullet

Police are investigating the story of James Raymond, 23, 707 Seventh street southwest, who was treated at Emergency Hospital last night for a gunshot wound in the left leg. He was taken there by Jack Crawford, a taxicab driver, who said that he found the man unconscious in the rear of his home at 500 Maryland avenue southwest.

RKO-KEITH'S

"DEVOTION." RKO-Pathe picturization of the novel, "A Little Flat in the Temple," by Pamela Wynne, adapted to the screen by Graham John and Horace Jackson, starring Ann Harding, supported by Leslie Howard, Robert Williams, O. P. Heggie, Louise Closser Hale, Alison Skipworth, Dudley Digges, Doris Lloyd, Olive Tell and Claude King. Directed by Robert Milton. Reviewed (second week) by W. A. Whitney.

Here is one of those truly refreshing productions presented by a superb cast headed by the screen's incomparable blonde, Ann Harding. Any picture with Miss Harding (and this one especially, with a cast including Leslie Howard, O. P. Heggie and Alison Skipworth, to name but three) is of dramatic moment. Usually her pictures are heavy, bordering on (if not actually being) melodrama, but this one is smooth, subtle and subdued comedy of English life to which Miss Harding brings the same finished craftsmanship as she has in her other offerings.

Like so many other pictures of similar composition, "Devotion" is redeemed from mediocrity by the superb acting of the company. Miss Harding, as Shirley, gives what seems to this reviewer her best performance. She is here, as always, the superb, gracious and charming actress, depicting her character with a genuineness that can come only from a sympathetic understanding of the part.

Leslie Howard, as the young attorney, also presents his best screen performance. It cannot be recalled when he has had a part that has so perfectly fitted his talents.

In a uniformly excellent supporting cast, Robert Williams, as the artist friend; Dudley Digges, as Sergt. Coggins; Alison Skipworth, as Mrs. Coggins, and O. P. Heggie and Louise Closser Hale, as Miss Harding's parents, may be singled out for especial mention.

The subsidiary screen attractions include "Julius Sizzer," a gang travesty with Benny Rubin, Gwen Lee and Matthew Betz; an animated Tom and Jerry cartoon, "Wot a Night," and a release of Pathe News.

COLUMBIA

"MONKEY BUSINESS." Paramount picturization of a story by S. J. Perelman and William B. Johnstone, starring the Four Marx Brothers, supported by Thelma Todd, Ruth Hall, Rockliffe Fellows, Maxine Castle, Harry Woods and Tom Kennedy. Directed by Norman McLeod. Reviewed (second week) by W. A. Whitney.

The Four Marx Brothers are continuing for another week their exhibition of "Monkey Business." To many who have felt that these inimitable comedians needed but to make their appearance on the screen to have the audience rolling in the aisles, this offering will offer sad disillusionment.

While Groucho, Zeppo, Harpo and Chico are here themselves, "Monkey Business" falls far short of being as excruciating a farce as their earlier pictures and every department of manufacture and presentation seems to lack the spontaneity which made "Animal Crackers," especially, so howling a success.

Groucho, as usual, carries the burden of the lines, that is, in quantity; with Chico offering some assistance on this score along with his own piano number, and Harpo plucking the harp strings like nobody's business. Zeppo, the quartette's "straight," has more than his usual duties, this time struggling unostentatiously through an inconsequential bit of love interest.

Those who take this occasion to introduce themselves to the Marx Brothers will, no doubt, be thoroughly repaid and have a grand time in watching their meaningless antics. But those who know these comedians from previous pictures will, while having a pleasant evening at the cinema, find a vehicle palpably inadequate.

"Pearls and Devil Fish," another of the exciting fish stories of the Sportsman's Paradise series; "The Little Pest," a Scrappy cartoon featuring angleworms; a James A. Fitzpatrick Travelaugh on the City of Reno, and a release of the Paramount News round out the bill.

METROPOLITAN

"FIVE STAR FINAL." First National picturization of the play by Louis Weitzenkorn, adapted to the screen by Byron Morgan and Robert Lord, featuring Edward G. Robinson, H. B. Warner, Frances Starr, Marion Marsh and Anthony Bushell, supported by Oscar Apfel, Purnell Pratt, Ona Munson, George E. Stone, Boris Karloff, Aline MacMahon, Robert Ellicott and David Torrence. Directed by Mervyn LeRoy. Reviewed (second week) by W. A. Whitney.

The past has seen many pictures of newspaper life and coming months will doubtless bring more of the same kind, but it is greatly to be questioned whether the future can produce a more dynamic and scathing denunciation of a certain phase of journalism than "Five Star Final."

Opening in tranquil domesticity, the picture soon gets to its point—an expose of the whole sordid business of yellow journalism as exemplified by the pornographic tabloids and their ruthless search for circulation-boosting dirt. And when the current supply falls short, the exhuming of 20-year-old scandals is a degradation not too low to stoop to.

Thus the New York Evening Gazette connives to bolster its diminishing circulation, with the result that two souls are sacrificed upon the altar of Two Cents and two other lives are all but irreparably broken.

Edward G. Robinson delineates with extraordinary skill the part of the managing editor who is charged with the responsibility of parading the whole sordid mess, a task which in real life would be superlatively repugnant to any man. He does it excellently, but no more so than Oscar Apfel the part of the publisher.

The outstanding figure of the picture is Townsend, the husband of Nancy Vorhees (whose story is picked for republication), played by H. B. Warner. His brief presence on the screen is a repressed yet overpowering portrayal. Frances Starr, as the former Nancy Vorhees; Marion Marsh, and Anthony Bushell, the young lovers, and Aline MacMahon, Ona Munson, George E. Stone and Boris Karloff, as employes of the Gazette, contribute fine interpretations.

To fill up the remaining few minutes, there are a song cartoon, "Annie Roonie," and a release of the Paramount Sound News.

ABOUT THE SHOWSHOPS

With NELSON B. BELL

A PERSONAL letter just received by General Manager Harry W. Crull, of the Fox Theater, from our old friend, Roger Ferri, the Fox Studio's news-sneoper-in-chief, contains interesting information on pictures that Washington will be privileged to view during the weeks that immediately impend.

Picking at random, Mr. Ferri advises that:

Mae Marsh, having finished her co-starring role with James Dunn, in "Over the Hill" is preparing for her next picture, Hamilton McFadden's "Devil's Lottery," based on the novel by Nalbro Bartley. Charles Farrell is the star of this one. Others in the cast are Greta Nissen and William Pawley.

Joan Bennett, who will soon have recovered sufficiently from her recent injury to resume work on John Blystone's "She Wanted a Millionaire," with Spencer Tracy, James Kirkwood and Una Merkel, will be starred in "Miss Adventure," based on a stage play by Felix Gandera.

Minna Gombel, who scored in "Bad Girl," and is repeating currently at the Fox in "Sob Sister," and who is working in Kenneth MacKenna's "Good Sport," will be the featured feminine lead in "After Tomorrow," adapted from the current Broadway stage hit. Fox executives feel that "After Tomorrow" will do for Miss Gombel what "Bad Girl" did for James Dunn. Frank Borzage will direct—and that is no handicap, either.

Work on "Rainbow Trail" starts this week in the Grand Canyon, where the entire film will be shot. George O'Brien, Minna Gombel and J. M. Kerrigan lead the cast. Roscoe Ates, the stuttering printer of "Cimarron," insures ample comedy relief.

Already completed are "Over the Hill" and W. K. Howard's "Surrender," with Warner Baxter, Leila Hyams, C. Aubrey Smith, Alexander Kirkland, Ralph Bellamy and 1,500 others, while David Butler has finished the Janet Gaynor-Charles Farrell musical romance, "Delicious," based on a story by Guy Bolton, with music by George Gershwin. The prints of these three productions will arrive in the East within the next fortnight.

Incidentally, our old friend El Brendel will appear with his new screen sweetheart, Manya Roberti. Now ain't that sumpin!

Has it occurred to you, too, while watching the delightful revival of Barrie's "The Admirable Crichton," at the National, that at times there is a fleeting resemblance between Fay Bainter, as she is today, and Mrs. Minnie Maddern Fiske, as she was, oh, ever so long ago?

Well, there is.

Billie Doyle, the charming and talented sister of Maxine, now in her 40-something-or-other consecutive week of mistressing ceremonies at the Earle, is captain of the line girls in Fanchon & Marco's "Once Upon a Time" stage idea, which opened at the Fox yesterday. Up to a month or so ago, Billie was a resident of Washington, sharing an apartment here with Maxine and their mother.

The Boswell Sisters, vocal harmonists, who closed a week's engagement at the Earle last night, by the way, took train at once for New York, where they go into the bill at the Palace, cofeatured with Morton Downey.

A visitor to Washington this week, in behalf of the United Artists production of "The Unholy Garden," starring Ronald Coleman, current at the Palace, and "Paimy Days," starring Eddie Cantor, coming into the Columbia following the Marx Brothers in "Monkey Business," is Robert Edgar Long, one of the veteran publicists of the theater who has succumbed to the lure of the movies and all that jack.

More years ago than either he or I can be induced to remember, Bob Long—not the one who used to manage the Rialto—was publicity director of Mr. William Harriman Rapley's National Theater in this city, having come to Washington to serve in a similar capacity for the then newly opened Luna Park, down at Four Mile Run, Va.

One of Mr. Long's stunts at the park was to stampede a herd of elephants to get a first page news story. When they really stampeded, upon a sniff of freedom, and crashed through a few fences, outbuildings and growing fields, he really got the front page, no kidding—also the gate!

Let's see, that must have been back about 1858!

I forgot to tell you of one of Maurice Browne's favorite anecdotes, of which Miss Dorothea Lewis, of The Post's reviewing staff, has just reminded me.

When Mr. Browne, present in Washington to watch the first week of his American production of "The Improper Duchess," in which Irene Bordoni is starring at the Belasco, had the "Duchess" on in London, his other production in the British metropolis was "The Venetians," about another doubtful lady. His friends, he confides, accused him of living off the immoral earnings of two improper duchesses! Tst, tst, tst.

"The Venetians" is tentatively scheduled for a Washington presentation.

And Mr. Browne is soon to present "Wings Over Europe," of which he is coauthor, in London. He bought the Theater Guild production of the piece and is shipping it to England, at greater cost than would be entailed by duplicating it on the other side. But Maurice Browne is like that!

Mr. Compositor: Just pick up the last line of a couple of days ago. It runs something like this:

Well, how are you betting on the series by now—if any?

LA FONTAINE INCOME TAX REPORT PROBED

U.S. Internal Revenue Agents Study Returns of Alleged Gaming House.

Income tax reports of alleged employes of a reputed gambling house in nearby Maryland are being investigated by internal revenue agents, who also are looking into reports filed by James C. LaFontaine, it was reported yesterday.

Last April persons said to be agents of the Bureau of Internal Revenue were active in Prince Georges County, where the alleged gambling house is located. For some two weeks they questioned merchants and county officers, but no explanation of their presence ever was given.

Officials of the bureau declined to say if they were investigating the operators or employes of the house. Such investigations are never made public, they said, until criminal proceedings are started. If some evidence of irregularity is found, the person making the report is given an opportunity to explain the discrepancy at a closed hearing. If this explanation is not satisfactory, then criminal action is begun.

In line with its usual custom of closing while Maryland racing is going on, the house now is not open.

The house is just across the District line, on the Bladensburg road. Surrounded by a high, green fence, whose gates are never open except to allow cars to enter or leave, it can not be seen from the road. Sometime ago a Prince Georges County lawyer asked to have these cars stopped, alleging that they transgressed the interstate commerce laws by carrying passengers across the District line from a downtown terminus. There was no violation of the law, however, as the passengers were not carried for money, but as guests of the house.

KENSINGTON GROUP FIGHTS SCHOOL SITE

Sligo Creek Valley Land Not Suitable for Purpose and Too High, Is Claim.

Purchase of the site owned by the North Washington Realty Co., in Sligo Creek Valley, for the proposed consolidated senior high school for the eastern suburban district of Montgomery County was opposed in a resolution adopted last night by the Kensington Board of Trade at its meeting in the National Guard Armory at Kensington, Md.

The resolution cites that the land is to be purchased at a price of $3,484 an acre or a total of $45,290 for the thirteen acres and declares that the site is ill advised and not conducive to the best interests of the school children of the area, especially from the northern part of the district. It further alleges that land in the same section had been offered to the county commissioners at a price of $900 an acre and charges that the difference of $33,590 will mean a loss to the taxpayers.

It further demands that the county Board of Education, or the county commissioners furnish the Board of Trade with a complete and compretensive report of all data, information, facts and circumstances considered by them in deciding upon the purchase of the North Washington realty property.

The board elected George C. Shinn, A. C. Warthen and William P. Walker delegates to the Montgomery County Civic Federation, and Ralph Hendricks, John T. Williams and G. H. Warthen as alternates.

A resolution of regret and condolence was adopted on the death of Dr. Eugene Jones, former State senator from Kensington.

Night Club Owner Fined $50 on Liquor Charges

John L. Dade, proprietor of the Forestville Club, at Forestville, Md., was fined $50 for possession of liquor and $25 for setting up a gaming table, in Prince Georges County Police Court at Marlboro yesterday. Policemen who raided the place last Sunday said they found four pints of liquor, and that a slot machine was being operated.

Charges of possession against William E. Green, a taxi driver, who gave his address as a Washington hotel, were dismissed. Green told the court that the four pints of alleged whisky found in his cab belonged to a "fare," who also was in the machine. The passenger was not arrested at the time, and has left the county.

The devotions will be conducted by the Rev. U. S. Knox, pastor of the church. The principal speaker of the afternoon will be the Rev. W. A. Squires, director of week-day education church schools of the Board of Christian Education of the Presbyterian Churches of America.

His address will be followed by group conferences on Sunday school work. The leaders of the various groups will include, beginners, Mrs. Ralph W. Wott; primary, Mrs. R. E. Mitchell; intermediates, Mrs. J. L. McCutcheon; seniors and young people, Miss Bess C. Miles and superintendents and officers, the Rev. J. R. Duffield.

At 6 o'clock a dinner will be served by the Hoge Fidelis class of the Columbia Baptist Church. In the evening after a short business session, the Rev. Minor C. Miller, executive secretary of the Virginia Council of Religious Education, will address the meeting. The program will close with a pageant arranged and directed by Miss Ethel Morrison, director of the week-day religious education in the public schools of the two counties.

Alexandrian Cleared In Shooting of Dog

A jury in Alexandria corporation court yesterday, Judge William P. Woolls presiding, returned a verdict of not guilty in the case of Harry E. Fegans, who had been fined $125 and costs in police court on August 13 on a charge of shooting a dog belonging to a neighbor.

Earl Elliott, fined $50 and costs in police court on a charge of destroying evidence, also was pronounced not guilty by the same jury.

FIREMEN TO PARADE IN ROCKVILLE TODAY

Women Are to Compete for Post's Cup in Contests at Fair Grounds.

Montgomery County fire chiefs met last night in Rockville firehouse to complete arrangements for the first annual Montgomery County Fire Day this afternoon at the Rockville fair grounds. The affair will begin with a parade of approximately 50 fire companies from Maryland and Virginia, ten bands and drum corps and nearly 100 pieces of fire apparatus and floats.

Gov. Albert C. Ritchie, the District Commissioners, the Montgomery County Commissioners and other Maryland and District of Columbia officials are expected to be present. The Baltimore Fire Commissioners and ranking officials of the Washington Fire Department will be present.

The parade will start at noon from the Rockville fair grounds and is expected to be more than a mile long. Prizes have been provided for the best appearing bands, fire companies and commercial floats.

Among the more important prizes for hook-up contests at the fair grounds will be the Montgomery County Cup awarded by the county fire chiefs, in a hook-up contest open only to county firemen; the Livingston Cup, open to all firemen, and The Washington Post Cup, which will be awarded to the woman's team winning the contest for women. Women's teams from all over Maryland and nearby Virginia are listed for the competition which promises to be one of the highlights of the day's program.

In preparation for Fire Prevention Week, inspections and fire drills were held in Washington district, Arlington County, yesterday in the Cherrydale, John Marshall, Woodmont and Robert E. Lee Schools under supervision of Chief Reese O'Neil and Deputy Chief Louis Luzi, of the Cherrydale Fire Department.

The time required to get all children out of the various schools follows: John Marshall School, 115 pupils, 45 seconds; Robert E. Lee School, 96 pupils, 30 seconds; Woodmont School, 45 pupils, 25 seconds, and Cherrydale School, first building, 300 pupils, 1½ minutes, and second school, 57 pupils, 20 seconds. Chief O'Neill reported that all buildings and their equipment were found in excellent condition.

Chief O'Neill calls attention of all home owners to the importance of seeing that no trash is left in basements and that no burning trash is left unwatched.

With the approach of cold weather, Chief O'Neill urges all home owners to make sure that flues are properly cleaned, especially those who use soft coal in their furnaces. With clean flues, he explained, serious fires can be avoided.

Arlington Candidates Speak Before Voters

Speaking at the meeting in Odd Fellows Hall, Columbia Pike, last night under auspices of the Arlington County Colored Citizens Association, Lawrence Douglas, candidate for commonwealth's attorney, declared he felt that with the new form of county government effective January 1, 1932, that county should elect a new prosecutor.

Clarence R. Ahalt, also a candidate for the office in opposition to William C. Gloth, incumbent, said, "I am not going to make any promises. You have been fed up on promises. If elected I will see to it that you all get a fair deal and that, I feel, is all that you ask."

SCHOOL DAYS.

Wouldn't you adore this little woolen bolero type if you were of school age?

It's rust-brown shade just like the elder sister's new woolen frock. The collar and cuffs add a note of gayety in vivid green faille crepe. The buttons are made of rust shade with green rims.

It will please mother, too, because it's so utterly simple to fashion it.

The hip yoke effect is dear to the heart of girls of school age. The skirt is slightly circular.

Style No. 997 is designed in sizes 6, 8, 10 and 12 years. Size 8 requires 2¼ yards of 39-inch material with ¼ yard of 35-inch contrasting.

Tweed-like cottons, wool jersey and plaided rayon woolen novelties are nice mediums.

Price of patterns, 15 cents. Address Fashion Department, The Washington Post, Fifth avenue and Twenty-ninth street, New York City.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

NEW METHODS OF PASTEURIZING.

IT is probable that some change in pasteurization methods are impending. Several are under consideration. The first consideration is that the product shall be a safe one. No change will be adopted that in any way hazards the safety of the milk, so far as health is concerned. Pasteurization is depended on against two new diseases of man and animals—undulant fever and fowl tuberculosis, as well as against diarrhea in babies, typhoid fever, septic sore throat, surgical tuberculosis and others of the long accepted group.

The suggestion is that milk be pasteurized in a vacuum or in the absence of ordinary air. This is proposed as a measure to prevent decrease in the antiscurvy vitamin When milk is pasteurized in aluminum vessels somewhere between 20 to 40 pr cent of the vitamin C is destroyed. In addition, some of the aluminum goes into solution—about six parts in ten million parts of milk. The salt that goes in solution does not harm and it is easy enuogh to replace the small loss of vitamin C by adding a little fruit juice, tomato juice or vegetable soup to the diet; but the dairyman wants to rob the opposition of the last bit of their sales talk.

When milk is pasteurized in copper, iron or tin vessels the loss of vitamin C is even greater. In addition, some of the metal goes in solution in the milk, somewhat altering the flavor, but otherwise slightly improving the quality. The body needs a little more iron and copper than it usually gets from the diet.

Another suggested change is from pasteurization by the holding method to flash pasteurization. Flash pasteurization is a somewhat more effective method so far as the destruction of bacteria is concerned, but the dairymen have been unwilling to use it in recent years because of the harm done the body of the milk and the cream line.

Experimentation indicates that this shortcoming can be overcome by some change in the method of flash pasteurization. The new method consists in heating the milk up to 145 degrees, somewhat slowly; then to rapidly pass the warm milk through tubes in which it will be rapidly heated about 25 degrees higher. The second heating is not to consume over ten seconds. The milk is then rapidly cooled. This method should not destroy vitamin C, nor greatly modify the body of the milk or the cream line, and it should kill all disease-producing bacteria.

The third proposal relates to home pasteurization. Dr. Lloyd Arnold has a method of home pasteurization which makes it possible for any one to pasteurize milk in the home with but little expense of equipment and almost no cost of operation.

BOTTLE FED BABY.

Mrs. J. H. M. writes: When a 19-month-old baby is taken off bottle feedings, and fed from a cup, should the milk still be scalded and fed to the baby warm, or given directly from the milk bottle? I always use certified milk.

REPLY.

A child of that age should not drink from the bottle. There is no need to give the milk warm. Scalding is done to make the milk safe as regards tuberculosis, typhoid and diarrhea. It is safer to continue scalding it, at least until the weather is cooler.

Philadelphia Shop Fills Unusual Orders

Philadelphia (U.P.).—If you really wanted to purchase a rhinoceros horn, or a circus tent, or a set of United States naval signal flags, or a stuffed pig with six legs, or a wax figure for demonstrating an appendicitis operation, or even an elephant made out of sponges, do you have the least idea where you might get them?

There is such a place in Philadelphia.

On Second street south of Market, Benjamin Weil has conducted an old curiosity shop where things that no one apparently wants are kept in the expectation that some day some one will want them.

Take the sponge elephant for example.

When the Japanese exhibit at the sesquicentennial exposition found an elephant made of luffa, a vegetable sponge, on its hands after the exposition, it called in Weil who added it to his collection.

'Chute Jumper Highly Paid.

Batesville, Ark. (U.P.).—A Negro parachute jumper was the highest paid person in the city recently—he received $20 per minute for a 3-minute jump.

RAIL STOCKS STRONG AS INDUSTRIALS SAG

Market Losses Are Small With Better Tone; Steel Closes Lower.

New York, Oct. 9 (A.P.).—A good demand for railroad securities and changes in the money markets were highlights in the financial world today.

Industrial and utility stocks had to take considerable profit-taking and closed mostly lower, although the trend of both groups was upward for the greater part of the session. Real equities were supported aggressively and held roughly half their gains of 2 to 8 points. The closing composite representing the three major groups was off half a point net.

President Hoover's inquiry into the matter of strengthening the position of railroad bonds coincided with a rumor in Wall street that the Interstate Commerce Commission would grant the carriers a sliding scale of rate increases.

Guess on Advances.

One guess was that the average rise would be from 7 to 8 per cent. New York Central, Southern Pacific, Norfolk & Western, Union Pacific, Atchison, Chesapeake & Ohio and Chesapeake Corporation, Pennsylvania, New Haven, Baltimore & Ohio and others responded vigorously. Wall street's confidence that some form of relief for the lines is under way was obvious.

There was not quite so much enthusiasm for the advance in other directions. U. S. Steel never got above the previous close and finished 2⅜ lower. American Telephone, after a point rise, sagged 1¾ net. American Can, Westinghouse, Standard Oil of New Jersey, Consolidated Gas, General Electric and Du Pont were off 1 to 1½. Case, Eastman and Auburn rallied. Sales totaled 3,165,290 shares against 2,867,930 yesterday.

The higher Federal Reserve rediscount rate, which caused considerable discussion in financial circles, was followed by 2 per cent call money, although not until the day was well advanced. Other interest rates also firmed, acceptances being advanced to bring the open market rate into line with the central bank's new level. The Federal Reserve Bank bought a large volume of bills before increasing its own buying rate.

U. S. Issues Soften.

As was to have been expected, United States Government securities softened in response to the firmer credit situation. There were, however, substantial gains throughout the list of domestic corporation loans and a liberal assortment of advances among the foreigns.

Mercantile reviews characterized trade as quiet, influenced by unreasonable weather. Bradstreet's said it was evident that retail business this year "is going to be below last year, and below normal," although cooler temperatures might change the picture quickly and considerably. Indications are, it was added, that "conservatism will continue to be the most prominent factor throughout the fall."

Wheat eased ⅜ to ⅝ net, reflecting an increase in Russian sales, foreign selling and larger country offerings. Corn dropped ¾ to 1 cent on record-breaking Argentine exports and excellent harvesting weather.

Foreign exchanges were somewhat higher. Sterling advanced to $3.89¾ but eased 4 cents from the top, making the net rise 2 cents. Canadian dollars crossed 90.

Sales of A. & P. Stores Increase in Tonnage

New York, Oct. 9 (A.P.).—Dollar sales of the Great Atlantic & Pacific Tea Co. for the four weeks ended September 26 showed a decrease of 3 per cent. In the same period, however, tonnage sales showed an increase of 11.4 per cent, as compared with last year.

Dollar sales for the period totaled $74,641,542, against $77,019,441 for the like period of 1930. Tonnage sales amounted to 411,883 tons, against 369,673 last year.

CHICAGO GRAIN.

Chicago, Oct. 9 (A.P.).—Heavy selling, largely ascribed to efforts to realize profits for recent speculative buyers, led to material setbacks in grain prices late today. Irregularity of the stock market contributed to the pressure on grains which were also bearishly affected by reports of big new sales of Russian wheat to Great Britain today. In explanation of the increased selling here to realize profits, it was pointed out that wheat had made almost 5 cents a bushel advance this week.

Wheat closed unsettled, ⅛ to ⅝ cents lower; corn, ¾ to 1 down; oats ¼ to ⅝ off, and provisions unchanged to a rise of 10 cents.

Offerings of wheat from new owners eager to collect quick profits became of larger volume than the market during the last hour could readily digest. The result was a tumble of 1⅜ cents a bushel from the day's top point, but rallies were in progress when the final bell cleared the pit. Earlier the market had shown a notable upward trend, accompanying persistent buying credited to a nationally known trader. The late rallies were associated with estimates that export purchases of North American wheat today totaled 1,000,000 bushels, mainly Canadian.

In some quarters agitation for tariff enactments in Great Britain were construed as a bearish factor relative to wheat from the United States. On the other hand, bulls laid stress on assertions by a Chicago grain trade authority that never before had the world's wheat situation in the month of October contained so many substantial possibilities of supply decreases. Included in the list cited was enlarged per capita use of wheat which he said was going on at the expense of costlier foods owing to widespread industrial difficulties.

Corn and oats developed weakness simultaneously with wheat price downturns. Active selling orders from rural sources were taken to indicate liberal future receipts of corn. Favorable weather for field work was an additional bearish influence.

Despite lower quotations on hogs, provisions averaged higher on account of an unusual percentage of lightweights in hog arrivals.

NEW YORK COTTON.

New York, Oct. 9 (A.P.).—After showing considerable firmness during the greater part of today's trading, cotton eased off during the last hour under increased Southern selling and liquidation. December contracts which had sold up from 5.76 to 5.96, or about 17 points net higher, closed at 5.78 with the general market closing steady, net unchanged to 3 points lower.

The opening was steady, 6 to 8 points higher on overnight buying orders which were evidently brought in by the firmness of the previous day and may have been encouraged by the fairly steady showing of Liverpool. This initial bulge met considerable realizing and local selling probably in anticipation of the usual week-end increase in hedging and prices eased off some 8 to 12 points during the first few minutes, with October selling down to 5.65 and March to 6.07, or about 2 to 3 points net lower.

Offerings were absorbed by continued trade or commission house buying on scale down orders, and prices firmed up during the middle of the day. The failure of Southern selling to show increased activity led to rebuying by some of the early sellers, apparently, with October selling up to 5.78 and March to 6.23 during the middle of the afternoon, or 10 to 17 points net higher. The Southern selling developed later, however, and there was a renewal of liquidation in the last half hour which carried prices back to about the earlier low levels with October closing at 5.65 and March to 6.08.

The advance during the middle of the day was accompanied by additional comment on the failure of yesterday's big crop figures to bring in more aggressive selling and bullish views were encouraged by reports of progress in organizing the banking corporation to deal with the credit question as recently outlined in Washington. Buying seemed to be checked by reports of heaviness in the late stock market and some of the earlier buying appeared to be reselling in the later trading.

Liverpool cables said that hedging had been absorbed by covering and Bombay buying in that market and reported an active cloth business with China. Exports today, 26,764, making 938,282 so far this season. Port receipts, 211,614. U. S. port stock, 3,735,090.

RAIL BONDS ADVANCE ON PROSPECT OF AID

Hoover's Plans Send Prices Up 1 to 5 Points in Heavy Turnover.

New York, Oct. 9 (A.P.).—A strong market for railroad bonds developed today on the news from Washington that President Hoover was beginning an inquiry into means for assisting those important securities. Reports that the Interstate Commerce Commission was soon to make its freight rate decision, which was likely to be in favor of a sliding scale, also was a factor.

Numerous rail liens rallied 1 to more than 5 points. Industrials and utilities were also well supported, but their gains were less spectacular. In activity, the session was the second largest of the year, sales totaling $18,865,000.

Hope that the carriers were to be helped out of their difficulties brought an especially eager inquiry for second grade issues; first grades, nevertheless, were not neglected. Rock Island 4s, Baltimore & Ohio 5s and 6s, Chesapeake Corporation 5s, Erie convertible 4s, Alleghany Corporation 5s, Illinois Central 4¾s and collateral 4s, Missouri Pacific 5s, Pennsylvania gold 5s and debenture 4½s, Texas & Pacific 5s, the Wabash group and several New York Centrals were among the strong spots. Denver & Rio Grande Western 5s jumped 11¼.

Miscellaneous issues showing unusual strength included International Match 5s, up 6; Hudson Coal 5s, up 2; Lorillard 7s, up 8; Reading Coal 6s, up 4; North American 5s, up 2½; North American Edison 5½s, up 3½, and Western Electric 5s, up nearly 2. Shell Union Oil 5s were sold, losing 2 points in a large turnover.

United States Governments reflected the firmer money markets by declining sharply. Treasury 4½s lost 1⅛ and the 4s about a point. Foreigns were quiet, but mostly higher, exceptions being the German and Japanese governments.

Columbia Association Swells Assets to $2,577,295, Leading 33 Others.

By THOMAS M. CAHILL.

Following the annual meeting of stockholders of Columbia Building Association, it was announced yesterday by officials of that organization that its assets at close of business September 30, had risen to $2,577,295.77. This growth in assets, officials said, places the institution in advance of 33 building associations and savings banks of the city.

All officers and directors of the association were reelected. They are the following: John B. Harrell, president; Harry B. Denham, vice president; C. Albert White, treasurer; Raymond K. Cook, secretary; directors, Anton A. Auth, Franklin J. Auth, Raymond K. Cook, Harry B. Denham, Albert O. Denham, John B. Harrell, C. Gay Harrell, C. Krogman, C. Albert White and J. William Weber.

Announcement was made yesterday of the appointment of A. L. Phillips as cashier of North Capitol Savings Bank, Vice President Henry Coates resigned.

Banker Since 1914.

Mr. Phillips has been engaged in the banking business since 1914, entering the employ of the Washington Southern Bank, later absorbed by the Merchants Bank, which afterward became the Merchants Bank & Trust Co., and merged with the Federal-American National Bank last year. In 1916, he became associated with the Southern Maryland Trust Co., Seat Pleasant, Md., as assistant cashier, and in the following year came back to this city to work for the Commercial National Bank.

Entering the Army that year, he served in France during the World War, returning to this country as a sergeant, first class, with recommendation for a commission. Two days after being discharged from military service in 1918, he returned to work for the Southern Maryland Trust Co., as cashier, being with that institution until December, 1929. He recently became associated with the North Capitol Savings Bank.

President Robert V. Fleming, Riggs National Bank, who has served on numerous committees of the American Bankers Association, has been appointed chairman of the association's legislative committee and Federal legislative council for the ensuing administrative year. Mr. Fleming also was appointed a member at large of the executive council and is already serving the association as a member of the executive committee of the national bank division, representing the Fifth Federal Reserve District. His term expires in 1933.

Old Liners Seek to Atone For 1930 Defeat in City's Greatest Grid Attraction

2,000 Midshipmen to Parade in View of Notable Throng.

Chalmers, Poppelman Will Be Watched by Middies.

THE game of games as football spectacles go in Washington is to be unfolded on the chalk-marked turf of Griffith Stadium this afternoon beginning at 2:30 o'clock, when the determined Terrapins of Maryland University do battle with your Uncle Samuel's colorful Midshipmen from Annapolis, while a crowd, expected to number 30,000 looks on.

This is the game both teams have been pointing for since the opening of the season and the game the average Washington fan has been awaiting since they announced the schedules last winter. It marks the first appearance of a Navy football team in the Capital since 1922, when the Middies played the Lions of Penn State, before an audience of 22,000, which number has stood these many years as a local gridiron attendance record.

Navy Head, Other Dignitaries Will Attend.

Secretary of the Navy Charles Francis Adams, will be there, heading a large gallery of notables also including Gov. Albert C. Ritchie, of Maryland, accompanied by fifteen other officials of the Free State; representatives of official and diplomatic life in Washington, and the respective institution heads, Raymond Allen Pearson, of Maryland University, and Rear Admiral William C. Hart.

The entire regiment of 2,000 midshipmen will be seated on the south side of the field in the temporary bleachers. They will enter the stadium promptly at 2 o'clock to stage their precise marching maneuvers before breaking ranks. From that point on, so they hope, the Navy football team will do the marching.

Maryland, seeking victory and prestige that goes with defeating an athletic representative of one of the service academies, is keyed up to a fine pitch of enthusiasm and has a lot of dynamite to explode under Navy's keel.

The pupils of Coach Curley Byrd, veteran of 20 years of teaching in college athletics, have won both of their 1931 games to date, but have unceasingly borne today's contest in mind. "Beat the Navy" has been the byword on the College Park campus for weeks, while Maryland had to play Washington College and Virginia, a Southern Conference rival.

Victory Means More to Old Line Grid Team.

The game is not quite as vital to Navy as it is to Maryland, but the Middies have no thoughts of losing. They are out to register their second straight win over the Old Liners and to make it more decisive than last year at Annapolis, when Bullet Lou Kirn ran 65 yards to a touchdown on the second play of a game that ended 6 to 0.

Edgar "Rip" Miller, former Notre Dame star, is coaching Navy this year as the successor to Bill Ingram, now head coach at California. Miller has changed Navy's football system to resemble in every particular that of his alma mater. Today his teaching will be put to the test for the first time, as Navy was not extended by William and Mary last Saturday in its opening game.

Experts and partisan critics agree the conflict should be furiously and evenly contested. Many believe that the "breaks" will decide the issue, with the team showing the smarter and more alert football gaining the verdict.

Both teams are composed in the majority of veterans who played in the game of 1930 and, with another year of experience behind them, are expected to furnish an exhibition as satisfactory from a technical view-

Umpire Admitted 'Boner' On Pitch, Says Card Pilot; Martin Checked by Grove

Southpaw Gives Only 5 Safeties, Holding Pepper Hitless.

2 Runs Forced Over by Derringer in Fifth Inning.

Cardinal star failed to break any of the marks now in his grasp.

Grove was invincible. He held the Cardinals to five hits, gave only one pass, struck out six batsmen and looked very much like the lanky southpaw who swept through the American League this season with a record output of 31 victories.

There wasn't a time when he appeared in the slightest danger. The Cardinals manufactured their only run on a double by Flowers and a single by Frisch, in the sixth, but the Athletics had already sewed up the game with a four-run outburst against Derringer in the fifth inning.

The outcome made Connie Mack's pitching strategy look flawless. After the way Grove was manhandled earlier in the series, it looked risky to send him back again, with the world championship at stake, but Robert Moses came through handsomely. As a result, the A's right hand ace, George Earnshaw, who has almost completely baffled the Cardinals for two straight years, will hurl the deciding game tomorrow.

Earnshaw Faces Grimes.

Earnshaw and Burleigh Grimes, heroes of successive two-hit victories in Philadelphia, likely will be the opposing sharpshooters. At any sign of weakening by either right-hander, Grove and Hallahan will likely be called on for relief jobs.

The Cardinals booted and passed away the sixth game with the worst exhibition they have given at any time. Gabby Street's daring gamble with his freshman right-hander, Paul Derringer, failed again. Derringer was effective today until the fifth inning, whereas he blew up in the third frame of the opening game, but the youngster's wildness was again his undoing.

A wild throw by Third Baseman Jake Flowers on a bounder by the first man up in the fifth, Jimmy Foxx, paved the way for Derringer's downfall.

The A's might not have tallied without the aid of this error, but as it was they combined a pair of hits with four bases on balls to roll up four runs.

At the expense of Big Jim Lindsey, in the seventh, the Athletics enjoyed another weird round-robin. They put over another cluster of four runs in this inning on three hits, one pass, one hit batsman and a muff of a short fly ball by Chick Hafey with the bases full.

The bases were so full of Mackmen, in fact, in these two wild innings that the Cardinals were dizzy and the crowd so exasperated finally that it actually jeered the futile efforts of the home team.

Derringer Also Says He Was 'Robbed' by Call on Haas.

Mack Upholds Nallin; Grimes Is Hope of Street Today.

By CHARLES DUNKLEY
(Associated Press Sports Writer).

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 9 (A.P.).—Blame for the defeat of the Cardinals was placed squarely on the shoulders of Richard Nallin, the American League umpire, calling balls and strikes behind the plate today, by Gabby Street, manager of the conquered National Leaguers, notwithstanding the marvelous game pitched by their conqueror, Robert Moses Grove.

Street declared Nallin had "just as much" as admitted to Paul Derringer, the lanky Kentuckian, pitching for St. Louis in the disastrous fifth inning, that he made a mistake in calling the pitch a ball instead of a strike. That decision, made with the bases loaded and with two strikes and three balls on Haas, forced in a run. After that, Derringer blew up like a 10,000-barrel oil gusher.

Pulled a "Boner," Says Street.

Street declared the ball was a perfect strike and that if Nallin had called it properly the inning would have been over.

"Nallin made a rotten ball game out of a good one," Street barked. "He pulled a boner."

The Cardinals, snarling and growling over their disaster, snapped at Street's heels, backing up his opinion of Nallin.

Gloom as thick as pea soup hung over the Cardinals' dressing room. All the players from Derringer down the line, minced no words in calling Nallin a strictly American League umpire, a robber and a pirate.

"I don't mind losing, but I hate to get robbed," moaned Derringer, as he munched a hot dog sandwich and yelled for another bottle of soda pop.

Derringer Declares Nallin Confessed.

"That was a perfect strike I threw to Haas," Derringer explained, "and Umpire Nallin missed it. He admitted it to me when I rushed up to the plate, after he had called it a ball.

"He said to me: 'I missed it. I'm the goat.'

"If I'd had a gun, I'd 'a' shot him. "He should have had enough courage to chase me away and say, 'Here, you, I'm here to call 'em.'"

70,000 TO SEE NOTRE DAME BATTLE

Northwestern, Minus Russell, Underdog in Clash Today.

By PAUL MICKENSON.

CHICAGO, Oct. 9 (A.P.).—Notre Dame's famous nonstop victory flight of football will crash or speed on to a new record at Soldier Field tomorrow. Striving to run their winning streak to 21 victories, one better than the great march established by their predecessors in 1919-1920, the "Fighting Irish" cross the trail of Northwestern's dangerous Wildcats at Chicago's lake front stadium in the football classic of the day.

Because of the loss of Northwestern's line-ripping full back, Reb Russell, Notre Dame was granted the edge in the fight, but an age-old tradition came out to haunt its hopes. It was another great Big Ten team, the University of Iowa, which stopped the 1919-1920 march and many expected the tradition to hold tomorrow. After Iowa had turned the trick, the Hawkeyes, with Aubrey Devine and Duke Slater, went on to win the conference championship, the same goal within Northwestern's reach this year.

Both teams were eager and confident on the eve of the battle, which will be witnessed by upwards of

Georgetown Loses Bradley On Eve of N. Y. U. Game

Back, Key to Mills' Plans, Breaks His Collar Bone.

By JACK ESPEY
(Staff Correspondent of The Post).

NEW YORK, Oct. 9.—On the eve of its big game with New York University, the Georgetown football squad today suffered what may prove a fatal blow to its chances of winning when Wilmer Bradley, sensational sophomore full back, fell and broke his collarbone during practice in Yankee Stadium.

While making a catch of a pass in a dummy scrimmage—practice of the sort calculated to avert injuries—Bradley had a collision with Leroy Bordeau, first string full back, and tripped over the latter's feet. Bradley fell on his right side, apparently unhurt, but when he regained his feet and took five or six steps, he felt a terrific pain in his shoulder. And much to his dismay, not to mention that of his teammates and the coaches, discovered his collarbone almost protruding from the skin.

Marty Connors, manager of the Hilltop squad, rushed Bradley to the French Hospital, where he is resting easily tonight. Physicians there said that the player will be unable to don a uniform again for three or four weeks, possibly for the remainder of the football season.

The misfortune cast a chill on the spirits of the Hilltoppers who face a mighty foe tomorrow in the stadium before a crowd likely to exceed 50,000, and the gloom grew thicker as time ticked on with Head Coach Tommy Mills and his staff wearing most mournful expressions.

Bradley's injury brought to light just how valuable he is to the Blue and Gray cause, Coach Mills declared. He had been counting the husky sophomore his ace in the hole.

New York Selected For Army-Navy Game

(Associated Press).

New York City has been definitely decided upon for a post-season Army-Navy football game for the unemployed, December 12 has been agreed upon as the date.

The War Department has advised representatives of Cleveland, Chicago and other cities to this effect.

The Yankee Stadium will probably be the arena, although definite decision to hold the game there rather than at the Polo Grounds has not been made. The post season service game last year was played at the Yankee Stadium, which seats about 80,000.

MARTIN FED SUGAR BY GROVE

With Pepper Halted, Cardinals Return to Normalcy.

By H. I. PHILLIPS.

SPORTSMAN'S PARK, St. Louis, Mo., Oct. 9.—"Pepper" Martin returned to the ranks of civilized men here today, and the spectacle was so demoralizing to his playmates that they spent the day wiring for confirmation.

With the wild horse of the Osage eating lump sugar out of the hands of "Lefty" Grove, the Cardinals looked as weak as September's stock market. Even weaker, in fact.

Not even a Hoover banking pool could have saved them today. The gods that watch over world series and decide which players shall scale the lofty heights had evidently gone into a huddle since Wednesday and decided that Mr. Martin had known glory enough.

In this decision they were helped by "Lefty" Grove, voting by proxy. "Pepper" had made a monkey out of "Lefty" in two games, but this afternoon he was just another ball player.

DR. SYNTAX WITHSTANDS CHALLENGE, WINS LAUREL FEATURE

Head Decision Is Lost by Mad Wind

Winner Forces Fast Pace From Start to Finish.

Masked Knight Lasts Long Enough to Be Close Third.

By J. B. SNODGRASS.
Special to The Washington Post.

LAUREL RACE TRACK, Oct. 9.—What proved to be the most hotly contested race in several days at the Laurel course was the fourth, the feature, in which Joseph E. Widener's High Time colt, Dr. Syntax, finally got the decision by a head. The 6-furlong dash was for 2-year-old colts and geldings, and the LeMar Stock Farm's Mad Wind was second, a nose in front of W. R. Coe's Masked Knight. The race was always among these three.

First Masked Knight got in front, then Mad Wind, and, in the stretch, Dr. Syntax, under Garner's whip, snatched the victory and paid $9.70. The time was 1:13 3-5. Seven juveniles started. War Plane cut up at the gate and Steffen was unseated. Mogul, coupled with Mad Wind, had speed, but Major General and Wan Hill were outclassed.

St. Francis Easy Winner In Fifth.

Gerner outrode H. Callahan in the final strides, where the race was won and lost. But among the three which finished in the money and a head and a nose separating the first horse from the third, there was only a slight difference. This was about the most stirring finish of the meeting.

Mrs. J. W. Holden's St. Francis gave the field of the fifth race a sound beating and paid $5.40. This was the second score of the afternoon for Mack Garner. Golden Prince was second and Inferno Lad third. Six furlongs in 1:12 2-5. Philip led off from the gate, but Inferno Lad soon took him, and Golden Prince came with a rush to get the lead. St. Francis, far out of it to the first turn, moved up and saved ground at the top of the home stretch and, overhauling Golden Prince, was an easy winner.

The sixth race was an upset, won by A. G. Weston's Dancing Mack with Nergey up. Meridian Queen was second and Replevin, the favorite, third. Hold ran into Replevin almost knocking him down in the back stretch. Dancing Mack paid $25.80. He led all the way with Meridian Queen following the pace.

A. C. Bostwick's Pokey Joe won the Longwoods Steeplechase for maidens, the favorite, Dionysos, falling at the twelfth fence, when the two were head and head. Pokey Joe, half brother of Mate, then went on to an easy victory, and paid $25.30. The Rolling Plains Stable's Outlaw was second and Barometer third. Ball, who was riding Dionysos, was knocked out for two or three minutes, but rallied and walked from the field. Pokey Joe led all the way. In the stretch Dionysos, which had been third, moved up to the leader, when the accident removed him from contention.

Plunge on Happen Upset By Polycron.

W. R. Coe's Polycron upset a heavy plunge on M. L. Schwartz's filly, Happen, by winning the first race for maiden 2-year-old fillies, and Happen could get no better than fourth. A. B. Hancock's Boost was second, three-quarters of a length behind the winner, and the Foxcatcher Farm's Firade finished third. Firade was coupled with Bethrothal as the Trainer Burch entry. The winner paid $16.60, while Boost was $38.30 for place. They were timed in 1:08, showing the track had been slowed down some by the rain last night. Diana D., a 100-to-1 chance, led from the barrier. Firade came around her and took the lead. Coming into the stretch L. Knapp got in front with Polycron, and only had Boost to beat from there on.

J. J. McCafferty's Princess Isabel was an easy winner of the second race under a well-judged ride by E. Smith. Wayfarer, coupled with Gay Widower, was second, beaten two lengths, and Plain Dealer third. Princess Isabel took the track at the far turn and ran the mile and a furlong in 1:54 3-5. The entry of Wayfarer and Gay Widower were first and second in the early pace, until Princess Isabel caught the pair. The winner paid $9.60. Wayfarer was $16.20 for place.

Madcap Marvin was up in time to win the seventh race, beating the heavily backed Gun Man and paying $12. Skid was third. The Garner family again played a double role in the race, Willie riding the winner and Mack the third horse. Madcap Marvin was the target of the sharpshooters, and finished out many parlays from Dr. Syntax.

—Laurel Selections—
By J. B. SNODGRASS

LAUREL, Md., Oct. 9.—Eighteen 2-year-olds have been lined up through the entry box for the renewal of the $10,000 added Richard Johnson Stakes tomorrow. Nevada Stock Farm's HYGRO has been an unlucky colt in his Maryland campaign, but out West earlier in the year, he was regarded as at least the best in that section. Some Westerners held the illusion that the son of Epinard would beat Top Flight if they ever met, but that was more of a boast than a forecast.

When HYGRO was sent in the Eastern Shore, he was beaten by BURNING BLAZE to whom he was conceding weight. This angle is reversed in the Johnson, HYGRO getting in with 122, while BURNING BLAZE seems almost anchored with 130. The weights are regulated by penalties and not by handicap. HYGRO is picked to win, with W. R. Coe's OSCULATOR the contender, and he is coupled with POLONAISE, which earlier in the year was considered the next to fastest filly of her age. TICK ON, winner of the Hopeful, should not be overlooked, and is expected to return to that form in this stake. OSCULATOR is back in best form, if workouts mean anything. Several of the field have a chance, among which should be considered STAGECRAFT and AT SUNRISE.

FIRST RACE—CHANCELLOR was beaten a head at Havre de Grace and had a weak ride. This old "has been" only has to hold that form to win the opening race. SHAN TUNG is the only contender that may be considered dangerous. He can improve on his last race, which was dismal. ROYAL CHARGE has a chance with these.

SECOND RACE—HORATIA is entitled to anothter chance. This Jeffords filly showed a good turn of speed at Havre and is selected to win. BROADWAY LIGHTS should be the contender and is said to be very fast, and this is attested by fast workouts. LADFIELD has run two good races and is very fit.

THIRD RACE—Of the five to start in the third race, HELIANTHUS is best suited to the distance. REPENTANCE, which ran a remarkable race behind Black Majesty the other day, beaten a nose, will be the contender. The distance seems short for FOLLOW ON, but he has a chance.

FIFTH RACE—Mrs. John D. Hertz's VALENCIENNES, winner of the Havre de Grace Handicap over a strong field, should repeat in the Cumberland Handicap, secondary feature. SPINACH, improving gradually, has the best of the weights and may be dangerous. His last race was good, but he was quitting at the end of the race. He will come across soon and pay a price. CLOCK TOWER has much early speed and should hold on to win the show money.

SIXTH RACE—FLAGSTONE seems to be a standout after his showing in the Capital Handicap, in which he was third to Mr. Sponge. PRINCE PEST will probably get the place, but PARIMUTUEL has plenty of speed. FLAGSTONE carries fifteen pounds more than he had up in the Capital Handicap, but he is running against an entirely different class of horses.

SEVENTH RACE—PUTTER, which has won her last two races, should make it three by annexing the seventh, at a mile and a quarter, her distance. JORICO and BRIGHT DAY should finish second and third in the order named. PUTTER beat a faster field last time out.

Two-dollar mutuels paid—POLYCRON, $16.60, $8.40, $4.80; BOOST, $38.30, $12.10; FIRADE (entry), $3.20.

POLYCRON, following in close attendance of the pacemakers, responded stoutly to a hard drive during the closing stages, and in a game finish, took command in the last sixteenth mile. BOOST, a forward factor from the start, held on well approaching the finish. FIRADE assumed an easy lead when DIANA stopped, but weakened through the last furlong. HAPPEN began sluggishly and could not menace the leaders at any stage. GLEN BURNIE went wide all the way. CHLOEDAIR could not reach a forward position. DIANA quit badly. KAY FRANCES acted very green and broke very slowly.

SECOND RACE—About two miles. Purse, $2,000. Special weights. The Longwoods Steeplechase. For maiden 3-year-olds and upward. Start good. Won easily; place, driving. Went to post at 2:14. Off at 2:16. Winner, A. C. Bostwick's b. g. (4), by Trap Rock—Killashandra. Trained by H. G. Gaither. Value to winner, $1,400; second, $400; third, $200. Time, 3.54 2-5 (14 jumps).

Two-dollar mutuels paid—POKEY JOE, $25.30, $8.50, $4.30; OUTLAW (entry), $4.80, $2.90; BAROMETER, $3.20.

POKEY JOE, racing boldly for the first turn of the field, was steadied along while saving ground through the late stages, continued stoutly when resisting keen contention from DIONYSOS, and went into an easy lead when the latter fell at the final jump. OUTLAW, restrained for the first mile, improved his position fast during the final drive. BAROMETER was taken under early restraint when he struck several of his fences, raced close up, but was not good enough when put to punishment. SWEESIE went evenly throughout. DAWDLE, SHYLOCK, WOLF RUN and KING'S OWN were never factors. DIONYSOS was racing strongly and on even terms with POKEY JOE when he failed to lift over the last fence, and fell.

THIRD RACE—One and one-eighth miles. Purse, $1,300; claiming. For 3-year-olds and upward. Start good from stalls. Won easily; place, driving. Went to post at 2:45. Off at 2:50. Winner, J. J. Two-dollar mutuels paid—PRINCESS ISABEL, $9.60, $5.80, $4.20; WAYFARER, $16.20, $9.60; PLAIN DEALER, $4.30.

PRINCESS ISABEL, away slowly, was taken to the outside entering the back stretch, gained a forward position quickly, displaced the leaders and held her field safe through the final quarter mile. WAYFARER, forced to race on the outside from the beginning, made a determined effort entering the home stretch, but was held safe. PLAIN DEALER, a slow beginner, closed gamely when settled in full stride. VOWED VENGEANCE met with early interference, secured racing room and finished courageously. PANTAGRUEL weakened. FRANCES COOPER was outrun. FLYER quit badly. THUNDERCAST wrenched his stifle and was pulled up when he almost fell when racing forwardly on the back stretch.

FOURTH RACE—Six furlongs. Purse, $1,300; allowances. For 2-year-old colts and geldings. Start good from stalls. Won driving; place, same. Went to post at 3:20. Off at 3:25. Winner, J. E. Two-dollar mutuels paid—DOCTOR SYNTAX, $9.70, $4.10, $2.90; MAD WIND (entry), $4.00, $2.40; MASKED KNIGHT, $2.30.

DOCTOR SYNTAX, rushed hard and securing racing room on the inside during the opening furlong, took command rounding the turn, bore out entering the home stretch, was straightened away quickly and, continuing gamely, outstayed MAD WIND. Latter improved his position on the inside after being outrun early, saved a lot of ground entering the home stretch, and fought it out gamely. MASKED BALL, hard ridden all the way, lost ground when the winner bore out, but came again approaching the finish. WAR PLANE broke slowly, settled in his stride and finished resolutely. MOGUL displayed early foot.

FIFTH RACE—Six furlongs. Purse, $1,300; claiming. For 3-year-olds and upward. Start good from stalls. Won driving; place, same. Went to post at 3:55. Off at 3:56. Winner, Mrs. M. W. Holden's br. g. Two-dollar mutuels paid—ST. FRANCIS, $5.40, $3.70, $3.50; GOLDEN PRINCE, $4.80, $3.80; INFERNO LAD, $7.70.

ST. FRANCIS, hustled into early contention, closed full of run to gain command inside the final furlong and, urged hard, was moving clear under pressure at the end. GOLDEN PRINCE, outpaced for the first half mile, finished with a rush in the closing stages. INFERNO LAD raced PHILLIP into submission and held on gamely. WHISP broke slowly. He finished stoutly when the final test came. PHILLIP was tiptoed from the break and was used up under his heavy impost. ELIZABETH BOLLA stopped.

SIXTH RACE—One and one-sixteenth miles. Purse, $1,300; claiming. For 3-year-olds and upward. Start good from stalls. Won driving; place, same. Went to post at 4:31. Off at 4:35. Winner, A. G. DANCING MACK, away in motion, displayed good speed, resisted repeated efforts from MERIDIAN QUEEN and outlasted the latter in a strong drive. MERIDIAN QUEEN followed close up, made several challenges and held on stoutly until the finish. REPLEVIN, forced wide at the first turn, was badly blocked midway of the back stretch and again at the far turn, was taken to the outside, but was unable to reach the leaders. FERVID weakened during the closing stages. HOLD quit.

SEVENTH RACE—One and one-eighth miles. Purse, $1,300. For 3-year-olds and upward. Start good from stalls. Won driving; place, same. Went to post at 5:06. Off at 5:06½. Two-dollar mutuels paid—MADCAP MARVIN, $12.00, $5.80, $5.30; GUN MAN, $7.20, $5.20; SKIRT, $5.00.

MADCAP MARVIN, taken under slight restraint after assuming a forward position, responded readily when put to a drive, swung to the outside and took command in the final furlong. GUN MAN, steadied in front, was taken out into the firmer footing during the stretch run and held on well. SKIRT slipped through a wide opening entering the home stretch, but hung after getting to the leaders. FAIR BILL, rated in a contending position, faltered after a bold move. RED TAM closed a big gap. FAIR DAWN could not reach the leaders. SAND BELL quit.

COLLEGIANS TO OPPOSE APACHES

10 Irvington Starters Have Played With College Teams.

TEN of the eleven players who will face the Apaches tomorrow when the Irvington Club of Baltimore is met in the opening game of the newly-formed South Atlantic League, formerly played college football. The only exception is Siciliano, a giant fullback who performed for the Tank Corps last year and virtually wrecked Baltimore clubs.

Irvington is planning to start the Ryscavage brothers, Velten and Campbell, of Mount St. Mary's; Boucher, Lotz and Spring, of St. John's; Interiri and Tanton, of Loyola, and Hudgin, of Virginia Polytech. In addition, the Baltimore club has Happy Enright, Washington boy who starred with Loyola; Crothers, of Maryland, and Bowstrom and Hughes, who starred in collegiate ranks.

The Apaches are better supplied with collegiate talent this year than ever. Jim Farrell, the new coach, will start at center, the position he held for two years on the Holy Cross eleven. Farrell has been drilling the Apaches hard for two weeks and expects them to give a good account of themselves in Sunday's battle.

In addition to the Apaches and Irvingtons, the Mohawks and St. Mary's Celtics are in the new circuit which will present a game each Sunday at Griffith Stadium.

EPISCOPALS HOSTS TO CADETS

Play Augusta Eleven Team Today at Alexandria.

Special to The Washington Post.

ALEXANDRIA, Va., Oct. 9.—Augusta Military Academy football warriors, rivals of the Episcopal Team for State honors, will invade Hexton Field tomorrow at 3:15 o'clock for a game with Bick Cardwell's eleven.

The Maroon and Black gridders have played two games this season. They won from Eastern in their opener and fell before the attack of Technical High last Saturday, 19 to 13.

Episcopal to Depend on Overhead Play.

Extensive drilling has been on the program all week for Cardwell's cohorts, and the boys are clicking on their plays. The overhead attack of the Episcopal Club is expected to play a vital part in the fray. In the Technical game the Episcopal forwards met with much success in these tactics.

Augusta has always given the locals a real battle. It again has a fast team and the game promises many thrills.

Ralph O'Neil, star center of the Celtics in 1929, and Hoddles Elliott, back field man with No. 5 tossers last season, today were signed by Manager Scrivener, of the Fraters. The addition of this pair will aid the club in its reserve strength.

On Sunday at Baggett's Stadium, the Fraters will clash with Washington Wolverines, who finished third in the Capital City League last season.

Virginia Juniors Defeat High Scrubs.

Fones' touchdown gave the Virginia Juniors a well-earned victory over the High School Scrubs today, 6 to 0. The Juniors received possession of the leather when the Scrubs fumbled on their 18-yard line and won on a drive down field.

The Iroquois and the Del Ray Elevens will clash in their inaugural game on Duncan's Field Sunday. This contest is attracting lots of attention.

Senior Playground Net Finals Today

The championship of the Senior Playground Tennis League will be decided this morning on the courts at Chevy Chase grounds when Montrose tackles the winner between Garfield and Burroughs.

Garfield and Burroughs battled to a 2-2 tie in the four singles matches played last Monday and have only a doubles match to play to decide which team will play Montrose. This doubles match will be played at 9 o'clock, and the final round will be started immediately after.

MACCABEE ATHLETES MEET.

The Washington Division of the Maccabee Association of America will hold a meeting for the District's Jewish athletes tomorrow afternoon at 8 o'clock at the Adas Israel Synagogue, with a view to sending representatives to the Jewish Olympics to be held next year in Palestine.

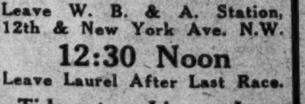

The chief speaker tomorrow afternoon will be Dr. Solomon Flink, Elizabeth, N. J., president of the Maccabee Association, and Louis Minsky, New York, national secretary.

Missed yesterday and I am not afraid to advertise it. My horses were in there trying and ran good races. Bad racing luck beat them. You know the old saying, after a craps comes a seven or after a loser comes a winner. Well you just watch my smoke today. From the same reliable source that sent me EAGER PLAY, CON AMORE, MERRY FOX, WAR PLANE and many other good priced winners comes the good word that he has the WINNER of the second race. It's a longshot that will trim Ladfield, Excavation, Barcelona Pete and all the other favorites. I know we will get a and man alive but this baby can run. Will be off in front and never headed. My other horse comes well recommended and looks to be a sure thing at juicy odds. My two horses parlayed will figure the limit. Both wires only $3.00, and you will be sorry if you miss them. Don't go to the track without them. CATHOLIC U. ELEVEN CRUSHES GALLAUDET BY 91-0 SCORE
$30.00 MUTUEL

Cards Cross Goal Line 14 Times

Oliver Carries First Kick-Off 70 Yards to Touchdown.

Cardinals Leading at Half, 40-0; Score Almost at Will.

By LEWIS F. ATCHISON.

SCORING almost at will over their lighter and less experienced opponents, Catholic University's Cardinals yesterday swamped Gallaudet with an avalanche of touchdowns to win by the weird score of 91 to 0 before some 500 fans in the Brookland Stadium.

The Cards inaugurated their scoring on the very first kick-off when Johnny Oliver snatched the ball and raced 70 yards through the entire Gallaudet Team for a touchdown. Carl De Mello added the extra point, and the panic was on.

Coach Bergman, of Catholic, elected to start his first string eleven, instead of the substitute team originally announced. The big Brooklanders mauled the Kendall Green aggregation for the entire length of the first period, leaving the fray in favor of the second team 28 points to the good.

The Reserves added another 12 points in the second quarter, to run the score to 40 to 0 at the halfway mark.

Fraatz Recovers For Score.

Gallaudet came into possession of the ball for the first time and one of the few times it held it in the first quarter after De Mello had punted over the Blue's goal. On the first play, Roop, full back, allowed Davis' bulletlike pass from center to slip through his hands and Fraatz recovered behind the goal line for the Cardinals' second 6-pointer.

Tom Whelan broke loose at the outset of the third quarter, when Bergmann reinserted his first stringers, for a 55-yard run that netted 6 points. Following the next kick-off Whelan broke through right tackle for 20 yards, and De Mello smashed the opposite side of the line for another 20. Sheary then tucked the oval under his arm and raced 15 yards around left end for the score. Whelan got off on another long run in the same period and scampered 47 yards to the final chalk mark, only to be called back when the home eleven was penalized for holding.

But while the Catholic U. backs were knifing their way through Gallaudet's line for gains ranging from 15 to 20 yards, Capt. Bilbo Monaghan, of the Silents, was enjoying himself immensely. Monaghan, handicapped no little by an injured knee, found time to muscle in every tackle. On several occasions he raced down the field, after kicking off, and halted the ball carrier. There were other times when the doughty Blue warrior seemed to come from nowhere to drag C. U. runners down. Monaghan was easily the outstanding Gallaudet player.

Roop, who did the punting for Teddy Hughes' men, executed a difficult, seldom seen kick in the second period. The pigskin got its directions mixed and started back for the Gallaudet goal.

When Bergmann cut loose with his substitute backs, they came in droves and they all raced through their opponents. Jenkowski, Callender, B. McVean, Donaher, in addition to Whelan, De Mello and Sheary, ripped the Mutes' forward wall to shreds. The winners' linesmen had a big share in the victory. Tom Nally, former Eastern High star, looked especially good. Nally time and time again crashed through to stop opposing runners, and opened wide gaps for his own mates to dash through.

The final score constitutes a new high mark for Catholic U. teams. The previous high score, 60 to 0, was made against American University last season.

G. U. Prep Golf Team Defeats Takoma-S. S.

Georgetown Prep's crack golf team added another victim yesterday when it took all matches from Takoma-Silver Spring's linksmen. In the first foursome Finn beat Keele, 5 and 4; Allan beat Brown, 4 and 2, and Georgetown took best ball honors at 6 and 4.

The second foursome produced even more runaway scores. Donohue beat Baggett, 8 and 6; Zubrod dealt Dean a 7 and 5 trimming, and it was Georgetown's best ball at 7 and 6.

STRANGE AS IT SEEMS —By John Hix

SIR WALTER RALEIGH visited South America, but the nearest he ever got to the mainland of North America was when he stopped at Newfoundland on returning from one of his South American voyages. According to Stimpson's "Popular Questions Answered," it was Queen Elizabeth's infatuation for her favorite that prevented Raleigh from sailing for Virginia with his first colonizing expedition. It was said that the queen agreed to pay all expenses for the expedition to keep Raleigh from going in person.

Raleigh's last visit to South America was made while the explorer was under a sentence of death. He obtained his release from London Tower by convincing King James I that he knew where to find a gold mine on the northern coast of South America. He sailed in 1617, but the expedition was unsuccessful and, on his return to England, was executed, on the sentence that had been passed fifteen years before.

The triple play without the aid of a batted ball was made by the Grand Haven Oils against the Kellers, of the Industrial League, at Grand Haven, Mich. With the bases loaded, Potter, the Oils' catcher, shot the ball to first and caught the runner napping. The first baseman threw to second and the runner was caught between second and third. The runner on third, attempting to score, was caught at the plate.

Middies Drill Before Game; Gates Open at 12

Today's football fantasy at Griffith Stadium begins one-half hour before the kick-off, when a squadron of Midshipmen march on the field promptly at 2 o'clock for a series of their drills and formations which promise to lend a touch to the Maryland-Navy game such as Washingtonians rarely witness on a home field.

The gates to the park open at 12 o'clock. Holders of pavilion seats in left-center will enter the park through the Fifth street gates.

Central and St. John's In Grid Games Today

Almost like an aftermath from yesterday's ambitious schedule of scholastic grid games, the local schoolboys proffer only two games today, both on foreign fields. Central's big, fast team drops down to Newport News for a crack at the high school outfit of that town. The other game is St. John's tussle with Loyola, at Baltimore.

Central has a job on it hands today with Newport. Always a good scholastic team, the Virginians have a raft of returning veterans. Devitt and Newport battled to 6-6 last year.

NORTHERNS PRACTICE.

The Northern A. C. will stage its final practice session before tomorrow's game with the Richmond Arrows at Richmond, tonight at 7:30 o'clock at Seventeenth street and Constitution avenue northwest. Coach Joe Sweeney requests all players to report promptly.

Hitting —The— Head Pin

MINTE PAINT rolled to the fore in the Building Contractors' League by virtue of its whitewash of the Southern Asbestos team at the Arcadia alleys last night. Smith, of the winning team, toppled 368 pins to garner high set honors for the evening. Fuller Stone Plant edged its way into a tie for second place with the Moyer team by winning two from A. W. Lee while Moyer was dropping a 2-1 decision to D. C. Butcher.

The Standard Art Marble quint was in rare form, scattering the chips for a game of 581 and set of 1,665. Both scores are new league records for the budding year. Mac Garilli's 364 was a big aid to the victors. In the other matches rolled last night Smoot Sand took the odd one from Evans Plumbing and Rosslyn Steel and Todd Construction shut out Heffron and Massaponax Sand, respectively.

Lucky Strike walloped Young and Simon (both of 'em) at the Lucky Strike alleys last night in a National Capital League match. McPhilomy's 368 for the three games outdid his nearest rival. The winners dropped the second tilt by a 16-pin margin after taking the first handily. Young and Simon, after rolling two games of 564 each, wobbled in the final and lost. The irony of the thing is that the Luckies won on a 364 score.

ALEXANDRIA BEATEN BY WESTERN

Lynham and Bloyer Heroes as District Team Wins, 13-6.

ALEXANDRIA, Va., Oct. 9.—Jackie Lynham and Joe Bloyer, diminutive and speedy Western High School backs, collaborated in the last 30 seconds of today's game against Alexandria High to pull an almost certain 6-to-6 tie out of the fire and give the Washington school a brilliant 13-to-6 victory.

The final thrust was a low-slung forward pass, which rifled from the hands of Lynham to Bloyer, who sped 30 yards to the touchdown. A moment later he rushed the ball across for the extra point.

Western was the first to draw blood. De Stephens, a 125-pound Western back, playing his first high school game, skirted end for 30 yards and 10 yards to set the ball behind the Alexandria goal. The touchdown had barely been scored when Luckett grabbed Western's kick-off on his own 28-yard line and raced 72 yards to the tying tally.

Bucky Buscher, playing in the Western back field for the first time, gave a good performance, while Lawrence Buscher, in left tackle, dominated the line play of his team. Yarder and Jennier were Alexandria's best bets throughout the game.

Both teams threatened throughout, Western advancing to the 10-yard line once in the first and once in the second quarter, only to be stopped. In the first quarter an Alexandria drive carried the ball to the 20-yard line before being smashed.

St. Alban's Gridmen Bow to Shenandoah

Winchester, Va., Oct. 9.—Shenandoah Valley Academy, playing a hard offensive game throughout the struggle, downed the gridiron team of St. Alban's School, of Washington, here this afternoon, 7 to 0, the lone touchdown being made in the second quarter.

After almost half the game had been played scoreless, Luck shot a long forward pass to Shannon who ran 20 yards for a touchdown. Luck made a drop kick for the extra point. Throughout the contest, the St. Alban's boys were kept on the defensive.

Chesley, McQue and Cornwell played an especially good game for the visitors.

MARTIN STOPPED; CARDS ARE NORMAL

With a big chance to break all world series records for hits, it is more than probable that Mr. Martin was pressing.

At any rate Traffic Officer Grove had the red light against him at all times. And when Mr. Martin is checked, the entire St. Louis team is rendered null and void.

The Cards had no more chances in today's battle than those Cuban revolutionists of last summer.

As far as St. Louis was concerned, it was just a review of its pitchers. Mr. Derringer began the game but it took the staff to finish it.

Derringer walked so many men for a time the game looked like an exhibition in pedestrianism by Dan O'Leary and Old Man Weston.

And the spots he picked to do the walking were the spots no pitcher should have even considered for a moment.

W.-L. IN 0-TO-0 TIE WITH EASTERN

Little Generals Almost Win in Rally as Game Ends.

EASTERN HIGH SCHOOL'S rock-ribbed line yesterday withstood the charges of Washington-Lee High's big backs, and held the favored Virginians to a 0-0 tie before more than 1,000 fans gathered in Eastern Stadium.

Sterile so far as scoring was concerned, the game was full of thrills and suspense. The final minutes of the fray saw the Little Generals carry the ball from midfield to Eastern's 5-yard line in a desperate attempt to duplicate last year's victory over the Lincoln Parkers, but the big Eastern line held just before the final whistle blew.

Eastern, through the medium of a fine pass from Metzler to Palmer, put the ball on W.-L.'s 4-yard line shortly after the start of the game, but was held for downs.

Landon-G. U. Preps Battle to 6-to-6 Tie

Generally outplayed, and on the defensive most of the way, Landon Prep held a strong but blundering Georgetown Prep grid team to a 6-6 tie yesterday afternoon at Garrett Park. Georgetown outscored the Landon team twelve first downs to three, and Landon's only scoring was the result of a blocked kick which Riley fell upon behind the Georgetown line.

Georgetown Prep, stopped three times within Landon's 10-yard line by fumbles, trailed the under-dog Landonites until the closing moments of the game when McNamara passed to Nee who galloped 26 yards to the touchdown. McNamara missed the try for the extra point.

The work of the alert Landon line stood out, while Scatuorcio and Keating played well for Georgetown.

FULL BACK BRADLEY LOST TO G. U. TEAM

"I can't think of anything much worse that could have happened to us," muttered Mills as they drove Bradley off to the hospital. "He was the man I was counting on to beat this New York Club, if it was in the books for us to win.

"No, I have not said that before," continued Mills, "and you fellows (the newspapermen) might think I am unduly pessimistic, but I am telling the truth when I say that Bradley was to have been our big threat tomorrow.

"We had worked out a number of forward pass plays which were formed to place Bradley on the receiving end. We had figured that New York would not expect Bradley, our best running back, to do much pass catching, and we, therefore, purposely nominated him for that very job. The kid was our ace in the hole."

Bradley Was Key To Attack.

Mills stated that Bradley was not slated to start the game, but that he would have been inserted at the instant that Georgetown found it must go to the aerial game to gain ground. Leroy Bordeau, who is the captain for the game, will start as per schedule, and probably finish, in view of Bradley's injury.

New York University, according to Metropolitan critics, should be a slight favorite to win. The Violet Team is heavier by more than 5 pounds to the man and is thought to be faster, particularly in the back field, where Coach Chick Meehan has named the following to start: Joe Lamark, quarter back; Bill Abee, 205-pound sophomore, left half back; Bill McNamara, right half back, and Jim Tanguay, full back.

Tanguay, the experts predict, will prove a thorn in Georgetown's side tomorrow. He is the triple threat of the Violet and excels in all departments on the attack. His kicking should give N. Y. U. a distinct advantage what with Georgetown having no one who can average better than 25 yards.

Dick King, the quarter back who acted as the spark plug in Georgetown's late drive against Western Maryland last week, has permanently won the starting assignment at the signal calling post, and the others behind the front line with him tomorrow will be Bordeau, full back; Joe Alenty, right half back, and Ben Gellis, left half back.

Georgetown Depends On Line.

GONZAGA SENIORS WIN.

The football team of Gonzaga High's senior class scored a 32-0 victory over third year B yesterday at Gonzaga Field. Allman and Gregg scored two touchdowns apiece, and Gowen scored the other.

ROBINS WANT GAME.

The Washington Robins are seeking a game for tomorrow with a team in the 135-pound class. Teams interested should call Lincoln 1329. The Robins are entered in The Post's Capital City League, but drew a bye for the inaugural.

Asher, Eynon, Stevinson, Bones Reach Semifinals

By HENRY LITCHFIELD WEST.

THE semifinal round in the Columbia Country Club golf championship will be played this morning between Clyde B. Asher, president of the club, paired against Everett Eynon, the defending champion, in the upper bracket, and M. B. Stevinson vs. Thomas P. Bones, jr., in the lower half. Curiously enough, there were no really close matches in the championship flight yesterday, nearly all the contests being decided by wide margins.

Asher reached the semifinal round by defeating E. B. English and E. L. Bono in the two rounds of match play yesterday morning and afternoon, while Eynon disposed of A. S. Gardiner and Commander C. B. Hatch. Stevinson eliminated J. B. Murphy and G. H. Chasmar, and Bones won from John P. Holzberg, the club's junior champion, and Karl F. Kellerman, jr., who came within two strokes of winning the medal in the qualification round.

Dunlap Beats Mohler On 23d.

Mahler, two went to the twentieth hole and no less than nine were carried to the nineteenth. In addition, 26 matches were decided on the eighteenth green.

As the tournament has been arranged so that defeated eights, defeated fours, and even defeated twos, play to the bitter end, all the contestants will continue in match play until the final rounds this afternoon. Training School Bows To C. U. Frosh, 19 to 0

Catholic's yearlings, despite the insertion of substitutes as play progressed, won handily. Not one first down was recorded by the opposition.

Barkley, the game's hero, launched the scoring for C. U., stepping 25 yards around end for a first-period six-counter and adding a point with a placement. Meyer rammed off a second-quarter touchdown, while Babe Gearty raced 40 yards for another in the third chapter.

Through special agreement, eight-minute heats were observed.

G. W. U. Eleven Leaves For Boston U. Game

Assured over long distance phone by Coach George V. Brown, of Boston U., that today's game between his school and George Washington University's Colonials was not to be interfered with by Boston U.'s proposed change in athletic policy, Coach Jim Pixlee last night bundled 29 of his huskies aboard a train which will deposit them in the New England metropolis this morning at 8 o'clock.

NORTHWESTERN PLAYS NOTRE DAME TODAY

70,000 spectators. Although weakened by Russell's loss, the Wildcats have an able substitute in Ollie Olson, and their star, Pug Rentner, was in excellent shape to toss his lobbing passes to the eager hands of some promising sophomore mates. Notre Dame had 45 players ready for action and reports from the secret practice field were that the regulars were hitting the line, blocking and tackling in their best form. The opposing forward walls looked evenly matched, leaving the outcome of the struggle to the breaks gained by the back field and the reserves.

Every team in the Big Ten except Indiana will swing into action tomorrow in important struggles involving conference championship hopes and intersectional invasions. Bob Zuppke sends his mysterious sophomore eleven against Purdue at Lafayette, Ind., in the most interesting all-conference game of the day, while Chicago's team, splintered by injuries and weakened by ineligibility, attempts the somewhat hopeless task of stopping Michigan at Ann Arbor.

Along the Atlantic seaboard Yale and Georgia will entertain some 50,000 in the bowl at New Haven in a renewal of a budding rivalry which has become more than a shrugging matter to the sons of Eli Yale. The wild charging team from Georgia is seeking its third straight victory, something no enemy ever has been able to accomplish in the glamorous history of Yale football.

Down in Dixie, Carnegie Tech will invade the territory of the once Golden Tornado of Georgia Tech in the main intersection engagement below the Mason-Dixon line, and Florida will play host to North Carolina and Louisiana State to South Carolina in the main conference tilts.

Other games of national interest are Washington State-Southern California at Los Angeles, Navy-Maryland at Washington, D. C., Princeton-Brown at Princeton, Iowa-Texas A. and M. at Dallas and Washington-Oregon at Seattle.

DIXIE PIGS TO DRILL.

Dixie Pigs will practice tonight at 8 o'clock on the Seat Pleasant field, in preparation for their game Sunday with Brookland.

TECH LOSES BY 20-8 TO SWAVELY

Hardell Team Makes Touchdown by Last Period Drive.

Special to The Washington Post.

MANASSAS, Va., Oct. 9.—The smoothly performing Tech High School team from Washington, which last year handed Swavely a 14-to-7 trimming, met its master here this afternoon in the 1931 edition of the local prep school's team, and was sent back to the District on the shorter end of a 20-to-8 score, one of the worst defeats suffered by Tech in the last half a decade.

With a big line charging through Tech's ranks, the highly touted spinner plays of the visitors went almost for naught until the dying moments of the game, when Sachs, Gormley and Foley battered their way 60 yards down the field to put across the only Tech scoring of the day. Sachs, on a hidden-ball rush, hit center for the last yard. Tech scored earlier in the day, in the second period, when McKinney downed Mowrey behind his goal line for a touchback.

Against Tech's second team, Half Backs Mowrey and Thomas piled up a 13-0 advantage in their team's favor before Coach Hardell sent in his A1 team. Mowrey could not be checked even by the best Tech frontal wall, and he rammed over another touchdown in the third quarter.

MARYLAND AND NAVY CLASH HERE TODAY

point as from that of the ordinary thrill-seeking fan.

That thrills in abundance will mark the day seems assured in an analysis of the teams' equipment for battle. Each side has its outstanding players and individuals who excel in one or more departments.

Chalmers, Poppelmen Expected To Star.

Maryland looks hopefully to George "Shorty" Chalmers and Ray Poppelman, a pair of backs, expecting that whatever helps the Old Line to victory will be the work of one or both of these two. Chalmers, a half back, is Maryland's chief kicker and passer, while Poppelman, a former Marine who plays at full back, is the team's best running back.

Louis "Bozey" Berger, half back, and Parker "Skippy" Faber, center, also are expected to play prominent roles for Maryland. The latter pair are Washingtonians, both formerly having played for local high schools.

The celebrated "Bullet Lou" Kirn, hero of the 1930 game, is the individual on whom Navy eyes will be fastened. But Kirn, according to reports, is not in the best physical condition and may be unable to play the entire 60 minutes. He suffered an ankle injury three weeks ago.

Navy has other stars, however, who are capable of vital contributions to the Annapolis cause, namely: Joe Tschirgi and "Soup" Campbell, backs, and Capt. Tuttle, center. Campbell is the Navy kicker, the successor to the great "Blimp" Bowstrom, now an ensign.

Efficient officiating is promised in the naming of Paul Magoffin, of Michigan, as referee; W. R. Crowley, of Bowdoin, as umpire; S. S. Scott, of Michigan, as field judge, and J. C. Hollenback, of Pennsylvania, as head linesman.

STRADLEY TO COACH.

Jack Stradley, former Dean Academy (Mass.) star, has been signed to coach the Northern Preps for the remainder of the season. Dean Academy harbored Frank Carideo, of Notre Dame, Al Lassman, of New York University and Ralph Hewitt, of Columbia, during their high school days. Stradley hopes to produce a winner this season.

CENTENNIALS DRILL.

Joe Khuen's Centennials, 150-pound champions of The Post's Capital City League, will drill tonight at 7 o'clock at North Capitol street and New York avenue in preparation for the league opening Sunday. All players are requested to report promptly.

LANE HIGH WINNER.

Charlottesville, Va., Oct. 9 (Special).—Lane High School, out to capture Class B title this year, defeated Culpeper High here today, 47 to 0.

A'S VICTORY LEAVES ST. LOUIS GROGGY

Rooters Head For Exits Early

Landis Wears Same Old Hat; Mack Not Excited.

Athletics' Manager Says He Can Sleep Well on Train.

By EDWARD W. LEWIS.

ST. LOUIS, Oct. 9 (U.P.).—Compared with St. Louis tonight, the late famous baseball town of Mudville was exuberant when Casey struck out.

Here was a day fitted for a lot of things. A bright sun was there at Sportsmans Park to beam down on "Pepper" Martin and make him glisten if he was to whack out some more great drives. There was the greatest crowd of the present series, 39,401, waiting to see Paul Derringer baffle the A's like he ought to, and what happens?

Somebody from Philadelphia gets a hit, somebody from Philadelphia walks, an umpire from the American League calls a pitch a ball that every-one in the stands knew was a strike—and when the debris of waste-paper and pop bottles were picked up tonight—there lay the remnants of a ball club—in the bag, instead of having the world's championship bagged.

Card Fans Head For Street.

But leave it to the Missouri baseball fan to find faith in the dog that Champ Clark said would not be kicked around. No sooner was that disastrous fifth inning, with its first four Athletics runs over than a great exodus occurred. Before any radio announcer could clear his throat, 600 fans were shoving each other in the street outside, satisfied that today's game was a fizzle, as it was, and fighting their way to the ticket windows for $5.50 coupons for tomorrow's seventh and final struggle.

By the time Chick Hafey had let an easy fly ball jump out of his hands like a piece of soap in the seventh, all but the die-hards were in line for tomorrow's seats too, hopeful that if Hafey had a cake of soap in his hands today, perhaps Simmons would have one tomorrow.

By all means, a crowd that packs all rush seat sections at the breakfast hour of 10 a. m., should have a chance to applaud something besides the band, home runs in batting practice, and the end of the "Star-Spangled Banner." After all they paid to see a baseball game, not Lefty Grove. But so it was—leaving a great city of 830,000 anxious for the side streets, a light supper, and a long slumber.

Mack Sleeps Well On Train.

As for slumber, Connie Mack, baseball's managerial Methuselah, had something appropriate to say.

After today's victory was a fitting time for him to remark that "I wouldn't have shed a tear if we had lost." Then he turned to the subject of slumber.

"Now I sleep as well on a Pullman as I do at home," said Mr. McGillicudy, "and if we had lost today, that's where I'd be sleeping tonight and soundly. Now, if any one can beat me for getting a good sleep on a Pullman, I'd like to see him."

As Mack's comment was apropos of the situation in this slumbering river town tonight, and what a great manager thinks about after a ball game, there is little more to say, except that Judge Kenesaw Mountain Landis wore his same old hat today, Dan Corcoran, of Portland, Oreg., was first again in the pavilion rush line, and Michael J. Flanagan, of Bridgeport, Conn., is still here to wind up his unbeatable record of seeing all world series games, by seeing tomorrow's.

STREET LAYS LOSS TO UMPIRE NALLIN

"I'll back Paul up on that," Street broke in. "When I saw Wilson, who never would have kicked if the ball was bad, start to holler, I rushed out of the dugout. Nallin tried to chase us away. He said, 'I had to call it. I'm the goat.' That's practically admitting the mistake, isn't it?"

Sylvester Johnson, who relieved Derringer in the disastrous fifth, consoled the lanky Kentuckian.

"Why, that Nallin even robbed that little kid, Williams. He ain't no star. He's just a kid, but that Nallin called a strike on him that was just 6 inches off the ground. I know. I threw it."

"Flowers, I'll admit, gave them a start with that bad throw on Foxx's grounder," Street added, "but that play didn't mean a thing. If Nallin had called that strike right, Derringer would have been out of a bad hole, and we'd had still plenty of chance to win."

"We got bad breaks today, but we are not licked," Street said. "We'll pitch Grimes tomorrow and we'll win."

And the "Old Sarge's" teeth snapped as he bit off the words.

Connie Mack came to Nallin's rescue, however, in the controversy that centered around the plate. The Cardinal pitchers, he said, were inclined to blame their lack of control on Umpire Nallan. He said he had no idea who his pitcher would be tomorrow, although any one in St Louis tonight would bet him it would be George Earnshaw.

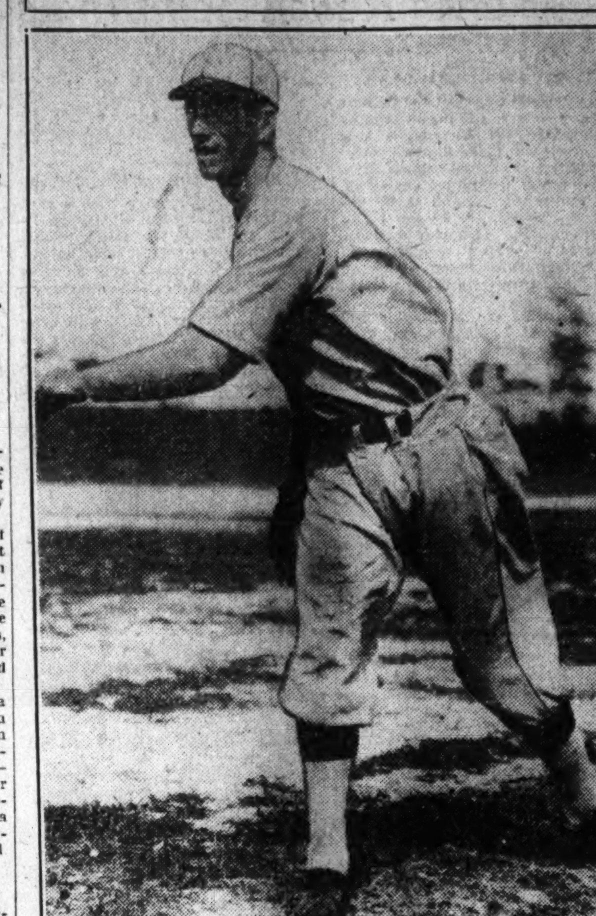

"I do not think, however, they had any license to kick on Nallin's decisions on balls and strikes. If anything, he helped them over their rough spots. Neither of those pitchers were up to their real mark and that is possibly why they tried to pass the buck on to the umpire."

The Athletics, he said, really clicked like a real machine for the first time since the series started.

"I am forced to admit that the Athletics' playing prior to today was not the kind of ball with which they won the American League championship. But they snapped out of it today.

"The Cardinals failed today because Grove was Grove. They played heads up baseball, but were unfortunate in making two errors that were costly. You have to expect errors. They are a part of the game. Grove succeeded in stopping "Pepper" Martin by his marvelous pitching. Martin is a great ball player and is going to continue great, but when Grove is Grove, he stops the best of them."

Donie Bush Resigns As Chisox Manager

Chicago, Oct. 9 (A.P.).—Donie Bush, manager of the Chicago White Sox for the last two years, today submitted his resignation and it was accepted.

Except for the announcement that his resignation had been accepted, neither Bush nor Charles A. Comiskey, owner of the Chicago American League Baseball Club, would comment.

Bush came to the White Sox on a two-year contract at the end of the 1929 season, which he had spent with the Pittsburgh Pirates.

Martin's Bat Earns Him Six Free Meals

Bradenton, Fla., Oct. 9 (A.P.).—The hitting ability of "Pepper" Martin, the St. Louis Cardinal big stick man, has won him at least six free meals.

A civic club of this city, where the Cardinals do their spring training, has telegraphed him an invitation to attend its weekly luncheons while he is here for six weeks next season.

Philly Baseball Mad As A's Even Up Series

Philadelphia, Oct. 9 (A.P.).—The victory of the world champion Athletics over the St. Louis Cardinals today caused more excitement in Philadelphia than any of the other five games in the present series.

The crowds around the score boards and other places where the ball by ball description was received were larger than heretofore and the enthusiasm was greater.

BRAVES BUY SHIRES FOR $10,000

Milwaukee Gets Bool Also in Deal for First Baseman.

MILWAUKEE, Wis., Oct. 9 (A.P.). The Wisconsin News in a special St. Louis dispatch today said that Arthur Shires, sensational Milwaukee American Association first baseman, has been sold to the Boston Braves for $10,000 and Catcher Albert Bool.

No official announcement of the purchase of Shires could be made at the present, the newspaper said, since such action would violate a baseball rule providing that trades or sales could not be made during the period of the draft, which carries through to early November.

Bool, the News said, would be used to replace Clyde Manion, Brewer catcher, who was drafted by the Cincinnati Reds.

Shires was second in American Association batting last season with an average of .385. He formerly played with the Chicago White Sox and Washington, of the American League.

Rochester Club Wins Little World Series

Rochester, N. Y., Oct. 9 (A.P.).—The Rochester Redwings, champions of the International League, won their second consecutive little world series today, defeating St. Paul, of the American Association, 9 to 3, in the eighth game.

MACKS BEAT CARDS AND EVEN SERIES

If there was any crucial spot in an otherwise drab and poorly played contest, it was in the fifth, when Derringer was still making a game effort to pull himself out of the hole, with one run already in, the bases full and Mule Haas at the bat.

The Athletics had manufactured their first tally as Foxx got to first safely on Flowers' error, advanced on Miller's sacrifice and romped home on Dib Williams' solid clout to center. Dykes had walked. Grove fanned for the second out, and then Max Bishop walked to fill the bases for the first time.

There were some mild complaints at Umpire Dick Nallin's decisions on pitched balls, but they were nothing compared to the squawk that came from the Cardinals when Haas, with the count two and three, was given his base on a fast ball, inside. Derringer, Wilson and the rest of the Cards thought it cut the corner. Even Gabby Street came out to join the argument at the plate, but Nallin stood firm.

The walk forced in Dykes. Derringer was now rapidly making an ascension. Cochrane nailed a curve toward right and it went for a single as Frisch failed to handle the drive. Williams came home and the bases still were full. Simmons received the fourth pass, forcing home Bishop, and Derringer was replaced by Sylvester Johnson, who retired Foxx, up for the second time, on a pop fly to Gelbert.

Johnson, after hurling one more inning, gave way to a pinch hitter, and to Lindsey on the mound, whereupon the A's went right down their complete batting order in the seventh. Bishop singled, advanced on Haas' sacrifice and scored on Simmons' poke to center, after Cochrane had lined out. Foxx singled, Miller was hit by a pitched ball to fill the bases, and Dykes walked, forcing in Simmons. Foxx and Miller then galloped home when Hafey dropped Williams' short fly after a hard run.

Grove obligingly bounced out to end the inning.

Cards' Pitchers Generous.

All told the Athletics collected only eight safe blows, with Foxx and Williams each contributing two, but they didn't need to do much blasting owing to the extraordinary generosity of the opposing moundsmen. Every Cardinal curver was tapped, however, for at least one hit, including the fourth and last, Flint Rhem, who made his first appearance of the series by pitching the ninth inning.

The Cardinals had men on base in five out of nine innings. Only one Red Bird, Flowers, got beyond second base, however.

MRS. HEDRICK GOLF WINNER.

Ladies golf day at the Army and Navy Country Club yesterday afternoon saw Mrs. L. H. Hedrick win the 18-hole putting contest, with Mrs. G. Berritt and Mrs. L. M. McNair capturing second and third places. In the 9-hole group, Mrs. M. Baroll was first, Mrs. Edward O'Hara, second, and Mrs. J. B. Anderson, third.

CHINESE INVASION OF H STREET IRKS PROPERTY OWNERS

Tong Merchants, Ousted by Government, Seeking New Locations.

BUSINESS MEN START PETITION AGAINST MOVE

On Leong Members Declared Already to Have All Property Needed.

Kipling's "Ballad of East and West" echoed from Chinatown to Seventh and H streets northwest, then back again to Chinatown yesterday, as Oriental merchants, their old stands condemned by the Government's building program, sought new locations in an Occidental setting.

Property holders in the block between Sixth and Seventh streets on H street northwest, contending that "East is East and West is West," strove to keep the twain from meeting by circulating a petition among business men and private citizens on both sides of the street.

Eleven Deals Closed.

Officials of the On Leon Tong were reticent last night, but counsel for the tong admitted arrangements were concluded yesterday for moving to a site "in that general location." From other sources it was learned that eleven individual properties will be acquired in that block, nine by lease and two by purchase. There are just eleven On Leon merchants in Chinatown.

Emphatic opposition to the move developed yesterday at a meeting of about twenty business men and private property owners over a store at Seventh and H streets northwest. Claiming to represent at least 60 per cent of the property on both sides of the street, this group denied published reports that the tong members had acquired all of the property on both sides of the street.

"It is not that we object to their coming because they are Chinese," one told a Post reporter. "It is just that we don't feel they will bring any business here."

Plans were projected to circulate a petition in the neighborhood, in the hope that 100 per cent of the property holders might sign. The courts have held such a "covenant" valid in excluding members of another race, but only when all of the owners have signed.

Leonard Block, counsel for the On Leon Tong, said the organization has acquired "all of the space it needs for its members."

"It is not Chinatown that is moving," he declared. "It is just a group of reputable business men, who have as much right to do business in one section of downtown Washington as in another."

Hip Sings Reticent.

Meanwhile members of the Hip Sing Tong, smaller of the two well-known Chinese fraternal orders, declined to make known what their course will be.

Charles Lou Toy, interpreter for the organization, indicated they will decide in a day or two. He said he thought the two tongs, being of one nation, should settle in the same community, but intimated they had not been invited.

The On Leon Tong boasts about 200 local members, and 11 business houses. Lee Soo is the local leader. Tom Lee is president of the Hip Sing Tong, which has only about 50 members and 2 business houses. The national head of the On Leon Tong came to Washington from New York yesterday to participate in the negotiations for a site.

The protesting property holders at the proposed Seventh and H street site plan another meeting this morning to shape their opposition course.

Mrs. Ida A. Shaw Run Down by Auto

Brigadier General's Wife Seriously Hurt; Ohio Driver Arrested.

Mrs. Ida A. Shaw, wife of Brig. Gen. George Clymer Shaw, U. S. A., retired, was seriously injured last night when struck by an auto as she and her husband were crossing the street in front of their home at 1801 K street northwest.

Police arrested a man identifying himself as Arthur G. Sunderman, 37, of West Toledo, Ohio, as the driver of the car which struck Mrs. Shaw. He was charged with reckless driving and operating without a District permit and with dead tags.

The couple were crossing K street and the car was turning right from Eighteenth when the accident occurred. Mrs. Shaw was given first-aid treatment by Dr. Virgil B. Jackson, resident physician in the apartment house where the retired officer and his wife live. She is said to have suffered concussion of the brain and shock.

40 Would Portray George Washington

Many Apply for Title Role in Bicentennial Pageant Next June.

The District of Columbia Bicentennial Commission faces the difficult task of selecting one man from more than 40 applicants from nineteen States and the District for the honor of portraying the leading role of George Washington next June. And applications are still coming in.

Arnold Kruckman, director of the commission, said yesterday that great care would be used in selecting the man to impersonate the "Father of His Country." In addition to physical characteristics, the commission will insist that the winning candidate possess some of the spiritual qualities of Washington, he said.

Several celebrated actors have volunteered for the role, together with less well-known citizens, but all will have an equal chance when the selection is made.

FIFTEENTH STREET REOPENING SOUGHT

Petition of Merchants and Manufacturers' Group to to Be Submitted.

A petition calling for the reopening of Fifteenth street northwest between Pennsylvania and Constitution avenues will be made to the Secretary of the Treasury by the board of governors of the Merchants and Manufacturers Association, it was decided yesterday.

The board will base its petition on the ground that closing Thirteenth street northwest between C street and Constitution avenue, which will be effective this week, will make the section badly in need of another north and south artery. Fifteenth street was closed about two years ago to provide accommodations for contractors working on the Department of Commerce Building. The association holds that the street is now being used only to house some of the contractors' offices.

Among other undertakings the board decided upon yesterday were continuation of efforts for passage of an automobile liability law for the District; cooperation with the Post-office in promoting a shop early and mail early campaign; a petition to the District Commissioners for regulation against the sale of gasoline on the streets, and to request the Public Building Commission to turn over the old Pension Office to the District National Guard for an armory.

The board also voted to protest against conditions now existing along E street northwest. The street has been excavated for heating conduits, it was said, but the work is now at a standstill, resulting in congested traffic and great inconvenience to merchants and shoppers between Ninth and Ninth streets northwest.

Swimming Pool Fined For Omitting Reports

The Airport Swimming Pool, Inc., of South Washington, Va., was fined $10 for failing to file a stock statement after being chartered in Virginia, and $25 for failing to file an organization report Thursday afternoon at Richmond, Va.

The charter was obtained May 4, 1931, by Kenneth Kiggins, 2100 Massachusetts avenue northwest, who was listed as the president of the concern. The other officers of the concern were listed as follows: Amelia Earhart, New York, vice president; E. L. Vidal, 3930 Connecticut avenue, vice president; Edna V. O'Brien, New York, treasurer, and Chester B. McLaughlin, New York, secretary.

Eighteenth Street Petition Winning

Widening Proposal Signed by 83 of 119 Eligible Owners, Is Report.

Widening of Eighteenth street northwest, from Florida avenue to Columbia road, may soon become an actuality, according to a report by I. S. Miller at a meeting of the Eighteenth street and Columbia Road Business Men's Association.

Mr. Miller, the chairman of a committee on widening the street, reported that of 119 property owners eligible to sign the petition which will later be put before District Commissioners, 83 have signed.

The association indorsed a resolution to place a Christmas tree on the triangle at Eighteenth street and Columbia road.

Kenilworth Pupils In Benning School

Congress Aid Is Needed to Replace Building Condemned as Menace.

With the closing of the Kenilworth School Thursday because of settling foundations, approximately 70 of the dispossessed students attended classes in the Benning School where they congested the situation badly.

Fifth, sixth, seventh, and eighth grade pupils of the Kenilworth School are being accommodated temporarily at Benning, and it does not appear that the congestion will be relieved for some time, as it will be necessary to construct portables.

Meanwhile Dr. Frank Ballou, superintendent of schools, is preparing to ask Congress for an emergency appropriation to build a new building. As the Kenilworth School now is a menace it probably will be razed. It was built in 1901.

WORLD WAR ORDER HITS ARMS HOLIDAY

Gen. Hines' Plea for Backing of Reductions Ignored by Officer Group.

Despite a plea earlier in the day by Brig. Gen. Frank T. Hines to stand behind the administration, the Military Order of the World War in its annual convention at the Willard Hotel yesterday adopted resolutions vigorously opposing President Hoover's "armament holiday" plans and siding with the high naval officials who are at odds with the President.

The organization declared in favor of a Navy built up to the full strength of the London Treaty and an Army increased to the limit of the national defense act, 165,000 men and 18,000 officers. It also went on record for increased air forces, minimum training yearly for 50 per cent of the reserve officers and increased increments of 5,000 men annually for the various State militias.

Brig. Gen. Hines, administrator of Veterans' Affairs, made his plea at a luncheon before the resolutions were adopted.

Leadership Is Urged.

The present depression calls for active and inactive officers who served in the World War to be leaders in their various home communities against criticism of the Government, Gen. Hines declared.

"There is no time in the history of this organization when greater care should be exercised in respect to the resolutions you pass here today. Your loyal support to your country is needed," he said.

Four Washington residents were named national officers of the order. They are: Capt. Edwin S. Bettelheim, treasurer general; Maj. William L. Symons, judge advocate general; Capt. A. A. McCallum, chaplain general, and Maj. Gist Blair, historian general. Brig. Gen. John Ross Delafield, of New York, ordnance reserve, was reelected commander in chief.

Butler Is Given Post.

Maj. Gen. Smedley D. Butler, recently retired as commandant of the Marine Corps, was elected a vice commander in chief.

Following officers were named by the Washington Chapter at a luncheon at the Mayflower:

Lieut. Col. George E. Ijams, commander; Col. Walter C. Clephane, senior vice commander; Col. Fred B. Ryons, Lieut. Col. Edgar J. Roberson, Maj. John D. Cutter, Capt. Watson E. Miller and Col. J. Miller Kenyon, junior vice commanders; Capt. John Lewis Smith, historian; Maj. Edwin S. Bettelheim, adjutant; Maj. Julius I. Peyser, judge advocate; Capt. Charles D. Collins, surgeon, and Capt. Arlington A. McCallum, chaplain.

TRADE BODY PROBES GRAND JURY SYSTEM

Special Group to Study Problem as Result of Recent Revelations.

A special group of five was appointed by the law committee of the Board of Trade yesterday to study the grand jury system as a whole, following attacks made Thursday by individual members.

The system was denounced at Thursday's executive sessions as "a useless relic of past ages," and criticism also was voiced against "unbusinesslike and careless methods" used in selection of grand jurors. Objections also were raised to presentation of special reports other than indictments.

The group, appointed by Joseph H. Burkart, chairman of the law committee, will include Daniel Thew Wright, former justice of the District Supreme Court; Henry I. Quinn, Matthew O'Brien, John McDill Fox, dean of the law school of Catholic University, and A. Coulter Wells. Mr. Burkart will serve as an ex officio member.

The matter must be approached with great caution because of time-honored dependence placed upon the grand jury system, Mr. Burkart said.

The discussion resulted from recent discovery that a Government pensioner was sitting as a member of the July grand jury. His discharge led to voiding of 179 indictments, including some "third degree" and brutality cases resulting from an investigation of the Police Department.

Santa Claus Lane Approved.

The Columbia Heights Business Men's Association was authorized yesterday by the District Commissioners to establish another Santa Claus lane this year on Fourteenth street, between Fairmount and Meridian place, and to stage a parade one night the latter part of November.

The offer of Wallace M. Hales to sell a tract of land adjacent to the Giddings School, Third and G streets southeast, for $4,000 was accepted yesterday by the District Commissioners. The land is to be the site of an addition to the school.

MAN HELD IN THIRD DEGREE CASE FINED ON LIQUOR CHARGES

Mason Must Pay $350 or Spend 60 Days in Jail for Possession.

O'CONNOR GIVEN STAY OF WEEK FOR HEARING

Pair Charged With Intimidating Witness in Probe of Police Brutality.

While one man accused of attempting to obstruct justice in the Department of Justice's investigation of alleged police brutality and third degree methods was given a continuance yesterday in a preliminary hearing before United States Commissioner Needham C. Turnage, the second defendant was sentenced to pay fines totaling $350 or to serve 60 days in jail on liquor and traffic charges.

The two men, Cecil Mason and Maurice O'Connor, were charged with attempt to intimidate George B. Baber, a witness in the case of the "United States vs. Robert Barrett et al." The two are said by Department of Justice agents to have approached Baber with a suggestion that he go light in his testimony against a headquarters detective before the last grand jury.

Mason faced Judge Ralph Given in Police Court yesterday on charges of illegal possession of liquor and driving without a permit. He had previously entered a guilty plea to these charges. Mason also entered a guilty plea when he was arraigned before Commissioner Turnage on the intimidation count, shortly after his arrest, when he was held for action of the grand jury under $3,500 bond.

O'Connor pleaded not guilty and was held for the preliminary hearing yesterday under $3,500 bond. Mr. Turnage postponed the hearing until October 16 at the request of Department of Justice agents. It is thought probable that indictments will be returned in the case before that date. The intimidation charges against both men will be brought to the grand jury when it takes up the "third degree" cases Monday.

United States marshals were busy serving subpenas on grand jury witnesses yesterday. They have been at the task for almost a week, but they had approximately 200 persons to serve, due to the fact that the July grand jury was declared illegal just as it was on the verge of returning indictments against about fifteen Additional policemen on charges of assault.

Work Will Begin Today On Mall Water Mains

The District Water Department today will begin work on the installation of water mains for use of Federal buildings in the Mall Triangle. The entire cost, however, will be borne by the Federal Government.

Because of the low position of the buildings, gravity will be sufficiently strong to carry the water as high as 90 feet, it was said. The water supply will be adequate for any developments of this area.

Broken Back Feared After Car Collision

Solomon Tucker, 66, 1666 Montelle avenue northeast, possibly suffered a fractured vertebra last night when the car in which he was riding collided with a Washington Gas Light Co. truck at Montello avenue and Oates street northeast. He was taken to Casualty Hospital.

Police reported Mr. Tucker was riding with Richard Crooks, 31, 631 North Carolina avenue southeast, when the car struck the truck operate by Harry Evans, 32, 633 Franklin street northeast.

500 Women to Stage Peace Parade Today

Caravan Will End Tour of Country With Call at White House

Washington will view its first peace parade since the World War today when more than 500 women arrive in the National Capital to present President Hoover with disarmament petitions for which signatures were gathered during a 10,000-mile motor tour across the country.

The parade will be sponsored by the Women's International League for Peace and Freedom, and automobiles filled with peace advocates from 22 States, preceded by a band, will move down Pennsylvania avenue from the Capitol to the White House.

The President will receive members of the caravan in the east room of the White House, where the Kellogg-Briand pact was signed. Jane Addams, Helen Taft Manning, daughter of late President Taft and dean of Bryn Mawr College; Mrs. Hannah Clothier Hull, of Swarthmore, Pa., national chairman of the league; Miss Katherine Devereux Blake, pioneer educator, of New York, and Miss Mabel Vernon, of Wilmington, leader of the caravan, will address Mr. Hoover.

The Woman's Branch of the Union Orthodox Jewish Congregations of America and the Camp Fire Girls of America each have indorsed the petitions, urging that United States delegates to the 1932 Geneva conference be instructed to work for total disarmament.

A dinner will be given tonight at the Willard Hotel for members of the caravan and tomorrow afternoon a peace rally will be held at the Belasco Theater. Jane Addams will preside and James Grafton Rogers, Assistant Secretary of State, will be chief speaker.

Among leaders who will take part in today's ceremonies will be Miss Rose Schneiderman, president of the Women's Trade Union League; Miss Lillian Wald, head of the Henry Street Settlement, of New York; Mrs. Victor Berger, of Milwaukee, and Mrs. Rolland Marvin, wife of the Mayor of Syracuse, N. Y.

WOMAN DISCOVERED IN STUPOR ON FLOOR

Hospital Physicians Are Not Able to State Cause; Quarrel Hinted.

Found unconscious last night, lying on the floor of her apartment at 500 Third street northwest, a woman, who police say is Mrs. Peggy Davis, about 24 years old, was removed to Casualty Hospital in a critical condition. At a late hour she had failed to regain consciousness. Physicians were unable to determine the cause of her suffering.

Mrs. Davis was found by Frank Wright and Bernard Smith, roomers in the apartment, when they returned from work shortly after 9 o'clock. Police were summoned and a call was sent for an ambulance. More than an hour elapsed before an ambulance arrived, according to police, despite repeated calls to local hospitals.

According to Wright and Smith, they knew Mrs. Davis only slightly, having recently moved into the apartment. They said they rented a room from the woman and her husband, Earl Davis. Police found a crumpled note on the floor of an adjoining room, written in pencil. The note indicated domestic troubles and was signed "Earl." It was addressed to "Peggy."

Police say that the woman may have taken poison after reading the note. However, although a number of bottles were found containing various medicines labeled "poison," there was no evidence Mrs. Davis had swallowed any of their contents.

Weather Tomorrow Likely to Be Warmer

The topcoats and blankets which were drawn from the mothballs yesterday will likely be temporarily replaced today or tomorrow for the weather man forecasts fair weather today and fair and warmer for tomorrow, with possible return of summer warmth which has been experienced this week.

There was a 34-degree drop in temperature early yesterday. At 8 o'clock in the morning the mercury was at 54, 34 degrees below the previous high of 88 recorded Thursday afternoon. The lowest temperature in two days was registered at 10 o'clock last night, when the thermometer read 53 degrees.

43 NEW INDUSTRIES GAINED IN TWO YEARS

364 Wage-Earners Have Been Added to Population, Says Report.

Washington has gained 43 industrial plants, which added 364 wage earners since the last biennial census period, 1927 to 1929, it was reported yesterday at a meeting of the committee on manufacture of the Washington Chamber of Commerce, of which John A. Eckert is chairman.

Thus far the Census Bureau has published only a general summary of manufacturing in the District. At the request of the chamber, however, certain detailed figures concerning more important industries are being compiled by the bureau.

Statistics received by the committee were of especial interest as indicating the advertising effect of the series of annual industrial expositions, which have been held in the Capital the last six years. The next show will be presented the week of October 26 at the auditorium.

It was the feeling of the committee that local industries should not be overlooked in connection with plans for the George Washington bicentennial celebration. It was suggested that the scope of the local industrial inspection trips be extended to permit participation therein by bicentennial visitors next year.

When W. D. Hassett, of the District Bicentennial Commission, stated yesterday at the meeting that the commission would welcome this added attraction, the manufactures committee voted its approval and authorized a special committee to make arrangements with industrial groups and cooperate in arranging the program.

Robert B. Swope was named chairman of the special committee. He will be assisted by Creed W. Fulton, Henry E. Stringer, J. J. Deviny, J. B. Luttes, J. W. Pollard and George A. Simonds.

Tau Kappa Pi Plans For Year's Activities

Plans and activities for the year were discussed at a meeting of the Tau Kappa Pi Fraternity last night at the Hay Adams House.

T. J. Shipman, president presided. Other officers of the fraternity are: J. H. Cookey, vice president; George Gingroff, secretary and Caroll V. Rhodes, treasurer.

DISTRICT JOBS BODY FAILS TO FIND WAY OF FINANCING WORK

Secretary Reports Treasury Will Be Empty October 21; Plans Proposed.

CRITICISM OF EFFORTS STARTS CONTROVERSY

Cutting and Selling of Wood From Arlington Cemetery to Be Continued.

The District committee on employment, at its first meeting of the season yesterday afternoon, failed to reach any definite decision as to how the threatened bankruptcy of the organization might be avoided. After discussing the problem in a general way, the group adjourned with the prospect of another meeting in about two weeks.

At the opening of the session George J. Adams, jr., executive secretary, in his report on the summer's activities, warned the committee that there was a balance of only $937.39, and that this would be exhausted by October 21.

He cited three proposals that had been considered for the raising of additional funds to provide employment this fall and winter. These are a benefit vaudeville show at the Fox Theater, a horse show on Hains Point and a benefit football game. None has been arranged yet, however.

Wood Work to Continue.

The executive secretary also stated that he intended to continue the work started last year of providing employment by bringing scrap wood from the Marine base at Quantico and of cutting and selling timber out of Arlington Cemetery, where a roadway is being cleared. This work can not be carried on without funds.

Dr. Luther H. Reichelderfer, chairman of the Board of Commissioners, announced at the outset of the meeting that the resignation of Frederic A. Delano as chairman had been accepted on account of illness, and that E. C. Graham was appointed yesterday to the post. Mr. Graham then presided.

Dr. Charles P. Neill stirred up a mild controversy when he said that unless the committee could provide more actual jobs this winter than it did last, it might as well resign. While explaining that he had no fault to find with Mr. Adams' work, he proposed that a general subcommittee be appointed to consider plans of providing jobs among private home owners.

Plan Opposition Overcome.

Harry King, president of the Washington Chamber of Commerce, and others at first denounced the plan, but later withdrew their opposition when Dr. Neill explained that he did not wish to supplant the present organization. Mr. Adams also stated that what Dr. Neill suggested his staff had actually been doing since last December.

The appointment of this committee and a ways and means group was left to the President.

Mrs. Harvey Wiley outlined the work of the food committee in preparing 3,500 jars of fruits and vegetables for the needy this winter.

The resignation of Joshua Evans, jr., as treasurer was tendered and will be accepted as soon as a successor can be named.

Injuries to Cyclist $50,000 Suit Basis

Compensation Act Ignored by Worker in Action Against Employer.

A $50,000 damage suit against the Rothstein Dental Laboratories was filed in the District Supreme Court yesterday by Herman W. Rowlette, 1332 I street northwest. The suit seeks to place the case before a jury, which would automatically take it out of the hands of the Workmen's Compensation Commission which would ordinarily have jurisdiction because the plaintiff was an employe of the dental laboratories.

Allegation is made in the suit that on June 11, 1930, Rowlette, then a legal minor, was operating a motorcycle for the defendants. The machine, it was claimed, was not in the best of condition with result that at Thirteenth and C streets northwest he was thrown from the cycle and sustained serious permanent injuries.

Through Attorney Herbert S. Ward, the plaintiff claims his constitutional right to a trial by jury, thus ignoring provisions of the compensation act which would take care of his injuries through compulsory insurance.

Woman Swindled Of $300 by 2 Men

Ancient Pocketbook Game Used by Crooks, Who Make Escape.

The practical workings of the pocketbook "game" were demonstrated to Hanna Jefferies, colored, 1754 Willard street northwest, yesterday and, as a result of her newly acquired acquaintance with the time-honored ruse, she is today $300 out.

At Sixteenth and V streets yesterday, Hannah told police, she met two men. They had found $700, they told her, but were at a loss as to how to divide the large denomination bills. The two men said that if she procured an amount, say $200 or $300 as change, they would split the find with her. So Hanna hastened to a nearby savings bank where she had an account, she told police, and withdrew $300.

Hurrying back, she said, one of the two men snatched the currency from her grip and, with his companion, sped away.

Autobts Rob Man of $63.

While he was standing on the sidewalk on Potomac avenue southeast near Eleventh street, yesterday Marvin Jones, of 701 Fourth street northwest, was robbed of $63 at pistol point by two colored men who drove up and escaped in a large automobile, he told police.

$250,000 Damages Sought For Loss of Poli Theater

In a suit filed in the United States Court of Claims by Sylvester Z. Poli and the Shubert brothers against the Government, damages of more than a quarter of a million dollars are asked for loss sustained by the demolition of Poli's Theater as a part of the Government Triangle building program.

The theater interests were unsuccessful in a previous equity suit filed in the Supreme Court of the District of Columbia for the loss which they claimed they sustained between November 29, 1930, when the Government took over the property, and the date of the expiration of their lease, June 30, 1939.

Assistant Attorney General Charles B. Rugg and Attorney W. W. Scott have filed a demurrer for the Government, asking the court to dismiss the case. This will come up for hearing Monday morning. Among other things the Government claims that the lease was only "a lease from month to month, and could be terminated by a 30-day notice to vacate, as was given."

THE ONCE OVER

By H. I. PHILLIPS

THE CLUBMEN AND THE KIDS.

(A political leader in a metropolitan city, whose club was raided by police as a gambling dive, says that, on the contrary, all the boys were doing when the cops came was packing toys, baseballs, bats, skipping ropes, Maypoles and a canopy for a children's festival.)

* * * *

IN the quiet little clubroom
Where the politicians call
And the cops they come thru skylights
When the shades of night time fall,
There's a sweetness of the spirit
And an innocence that clings
As the bosses and the members
Come to pack the baby things.

II.

When the sun sinks in the shadows
And the twilight's in the west,
Then the Great Big Kindly Leader
Does the thing he loves the best;
Dropping thoughts of politicians—
Putting worldly thoughts away—
He comes gently to the clubhouse
Just to make the kiddies gay.

III.

There he finds his henchmen gathered,
Kindness written on each face,
As they talk about the children
With a sweet paternal grace;
There they plan the kiddy parties
That so satisfy their hopes
And they while away the evening
Packing up the skipping-ropes.

IV.

IN the clubrooms, oh so lovely,
(Where the windows all are barred)
Sit the Workers of the district
Working faithfully and hard
Just to give the infants pleasure—
Just to cheer the darlings all—
And to see that not a kiddie
Lacks a nice red rubber ball.

V.

And when all is hushed and quiet,
Comes a knock upon the door;
It's the Sandman District Leader
Bringing little toys galore
For the darling little children,
As the door he bolts and locks—
Little gifts that pop like magic
From the Sandman's Big Tin Box.

VI.

Then the members gather 'round him
As they chant the nurs'ry rhymes,
And they clap their hands in gladness
And they have the "bestest" times
Singing little songs of childhood
With a joy that never stops—
Packing dolls and hoops and ball bats,
Maypoles, canopies and tops.

VII.

SUDDENLY the place gets creepy
And a thump-thump-thump is heard
As the cops come down the chimney
Without letting out a word!
And a mean inspector looks at
All the members, short and tall,
And he's such a great big "meanie"
That he isn't nice at all.

VIII.

He's a wicked, bad inspector
With a great big evil mind,
For he doubts that all the henchmen
Are just Santas, sweet and kind;
And he looks upon the Sandman
With a glance as cold as ice,
For he doesn't think the clubhouse
Is so innocent and nice.

IX.

So he calls a big black wagon
And he packs the members in
And he sends them to the lockup
With the meanest kind of grin;
Then the Sandman, tender-hearted,
Stays behind to weep because
There are big, bold, bad policeman
Who don't think he's Santa Claus.

X.

THEN he up and gets quite busy,
And the boys are soon set free.
They're needed at the clubhouse
To fill tiny hearts with glee;
And the naughty old inspector
Is transported to the sticks,
Where he can't hurt little kiddies
With his mean old skylight tricks.

XI.

Soon the Tiger Club's reopened,
And the boss a warning hurls
At the coppers who would stop them
Wrapping gifts for boys and girls;
All is well again and peaceful,
And the boss still knows the joys
Of a life devoted wholly
To the little girls and boys.

DEPRESSING.

Elmer Twitchell says he took all his money out of the bank and put it under a mattress in a folding bed and the bed closed.

* * * *

Elmer Twitchell says he knows a bank where the assets are so frozen that when a man goes in to draw out $10 they give him 50 pounds of ice instead.
